SENATE TAKES UP TARIFF REVISION

Democrats and Insurgents, 39 to 18, Instruct Finance Committee to Report Wool Bill.

FREE LIST BILL OUT, TOO

Regulars Decide to Report Both Measures To-day—Insurgents Seek General Revision.

ROOT ADMITS HE IS BEATEN

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—By a bold coup to-day the Senate Democrats forced the Republican insurgents to aid them in a manoeuvre which overthrew the do-little-or-nothing tariff programme of the regular Republican leaders and the great Finance Committee, and practically assured a definite decision on the wool schedule and the farmers' free list bill, if not action that will approach general revision of the Payne-Aldrich law.

Sixteen insurgents joined with the Democrats in adopting a motion offered by Mr. Gore, the blind Senator from Oklahoma, to refer to the Finance Committee the Underwood bill to lower the duties on wool and its products, with instructions to report it on or before July 10. The Finance Committee will promptly reply to this almost unprecedented interference with its prerogatives, by reporting to the Senate to-morrow, not only the Wool bill, but the Farmers' Free List bill passed by the House as an offset to the Canadian tariff agreement—of course with adverse recommendations.

The insurgents on their part freely threatened to-day not to permit a vote on the Canadian Reciprocity bill until action had been taken on other schedules to which they object, and Mr. Cummins and Mr. La Follette announced proposed amendments to it that would almost bring general revision before the Senate. Senator Williams, former Democratic leader in the House, who was the chief lieutenant of Senator Martin, the Democratic leader, openly dared the insurgents to enter on such a programme and pledged Democratic support.

Altogether the upset of to-day has created confusion the outcome of which cannot be predicted. It is certain that the control of the Senate by the regulars has been broken, and the prospects are for a long and bitter fight in which the two factions of the Republicans and the Democrats will play for position for the campaign of next year.

Insurgents Hammered into Line.

It was under the hammering of Mr. Martin, Mr. Williams, and other Democrats this afternoon that the Republican insurgents were forced one at a time to come over and take the position for lower woolen duties that they had held so conspicuously in the tariff struggle two years ago. Mr. Myers of Montana, where there is a great shepherd population, was the one Democrat who voted against the Gore motion, though his Republican colleague, Mr. Dixon, who had bitterly assailed reciprocity, voted for instructions.

The other fifteen Republicans who voted for the Gore motion are Messrs. Bourne of Oregon, Borah of Idaho, Bristow of Kansas, Brown of Nebraska, Clapp and Nelson of Minnesota, Crawford of South Dakota, Cummins and Kenyon of Iowa, Gronna of North Dakota, Jones and Poindexter of Washington, La Follette of Wisconsin, Townsend of Michigan, and Works of California. Of these Mr. Nelson is an insurgent only on the tariff, and Messrs. Townsend, Crawford, and Jones are insurgents only occasionally.

Penrose Condemns Combination.

Senator Penrose announced to-night that to-morrow morning the Finance Committee would meet, and when the Senate assembled at noon would report the two measures adversely. This action was agreed upon at a brief conference of the majority of the Finance Committee held late to-night. Senator Penrose, as Chairman, will make the report.

"The one purpose of the combined action of the insurgents and Democrats," declared Mr. Penrose, "was to kill reciprocity, and it will be necessary for the friends of the bill to bring all their resources at their command to bear on the Administration measure to save it. The insurgents have been willing to do almost anything to defeat reciprocity, and they have made this unholy alliance with the Democrats to complicate it with the question of wool tariff revision in the expectation of killing it. They are boasting now that they have succeeded in doing so.

The immediate result is to indefinitely postpone a vote on reciprocity. I do not anticipate that the Democrats and insurgents will be able to speedily agree among themselves on a wool schedule. The question is a large one. They will have the opportunity to attempt it, however, since the bills will be reported to the Senate.

"Without a report from the Tariff Board, which will not be made until December, and with hundreds of people who would insist on being consulted if the committee were to give hearings, as ought to be done, the Finance Committee will be unable to give the proper amount of consideration to the wool schedule in the limited time allotted to it. Therefore, responsibility will be thrown upon the Senate, or rather those Senators who have brought about this situation."

Mr. La Follette to-night briefly outlined the purpose of amendments which he is preparing to the reciprocity bill. The fact that he has confided his plans to some of the Democrats also came to the surface. One amendment will deal with the free list, another with the woolen schedule, another with cotton manufactures, and still another with steel. He will add to and subtract from the House free list bill, reduce the duty on woolens, increase that on raw wool over the Underwood figures, and materially cut the duty on cotton goods and steel manufactures.

Opposition in the House.

House Democrats, who really want to see Canadian reciprocity become a law, have started a counter-movement against a proposal which is said to have come from the protection Democrats in the Senate under Senator Bailey to join with the insurgents in hanging a free list bill and a wool bill on the reciprocity meas-

STEEL TRUST INDICTMENT.

True Bill Expected Next Week Following a Secret Inquiry Here.

The Federal Grand Jury for the Criminal Branch of the United States Circuit Court of this district has for several weeks been making a secret inquiry into the affairs of the United States Steel Corporation, but the proceedings were so well guarded by United States Attorney Wise and his assistants that it was not until yesterday that any inkling regarding the investigation got out.

It is understood that in the course of the inquiry the Grand Jury has examined a large number of witnesses, and that sufficient testimony has been obtained to warrant Assistant United States Attorney Crim in preparing the preliminary drafts of the indictment, which will probably be returned early next week.

In view of the fact that Congress is still engaged in an investigation of Steel Trust methods to see if the Sherman law has been violated, it is believed that the secret inquiry here concerns alleged breaches of the Hepburn anti-rebating statute. This belief is strengthened by the fact that the Grand Jury began its investigation early in May, about the time that Special Examiner A. R. Mackley of the Inter-State Commerce Commission was holding hearings in Room 315 at the new Customs House in regard to the complaint of the Alpha Portland Cement Company of Manheim, West Va., against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. The complaint, while directly charging the railroad with unfair discrimination, involved about 160 defendants and included most of the railroads of the country over which the Alpha company ships its cement.

Presenting the Alpha company's complaint to Special Examiner Mackley, Louis H. Porter, at the opening of the hearing, made such a serious charge against the United States Steel Corporation that Mr. Wise lost no time in presenting it to the Grand Jury. Mr. Porter, addressing Special Examiner Mackley in the presence of a score or more of prominent railroad lawyers on May 8, said:

"The United States Steel Corporation practically dominates the railways of the country, and its tremendous influence has enabled the Universal Portland Cement Company of Pittsburg, which is owned entirely by the Steel Corporation, to obtain more favorable freight rates than can be obtained by its chief competitor and rival, the Alpha Portland Cement Company. We charge unjust discrimination in freight rates, and back of it all is the attempt to drive the Alpha Company out of business, for that would be the logical outcome unless both companies be placed on a basis of equality in freight rates."

OTIS ASSAILS ROOSEVELT.

Los Angeles Editor Says He Has Become a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

Special to The New York Times.

LOS ANGELES, June 21.—Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, editor of The Los Angeles Times, to-day makes another onslaught on Col. Roosevelt in an editorial in which he says he has witnessed with unfeigned regret "the rapid descent of Col. Roosevelt from the popular pedestal on which he was at one time a National idol."

"Col. Roosevelt," says Gen. Otis, "has become a second Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. As Dr. Jekyll he declares for devotion to justice and order and a square deal. Then he draws inspiration and takes counsel from Gompers and becomes a malignant Mr. Hyde, an apologist for dynamiters, a shielder of assassins, and a shifty, shifting, howling dervish, politically insane, with an ambition to again grasp that sceptre of power which his own erraticism, insincerity, and inconsistency have caused to be forever wrested from his hands.

"Even his vaunted hostility to big business and anxiety to curb and overthrow the trusts turns out to be a fraud."

Gen Otis continues: "The recent testimony taken during the investigation of the Steel Trust shows that, while he was clamoring for the enforcement of the Sherman law, he was giving his oblique, if not direct, personal permission to the steel magnates to violate that law by purchasing the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company for the avowed purpose of saving from bankruptcy a firm of New York stock jobbers.

"After a short season of sobering up he has returned, with renewed zest, to wallow in the gutters of anarchy. He has shown himself incapable of moral and patriotic steadfastness."

ROCKEFELLER A MATCHMAKER

Gave $10,000 Clock to Bride Whose Marriage He Had Encouraged.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 21.—A clock of alabaster, Empire design, valued at $10,000, was the wedding gift of John D. Rockefeller to Miss Harriet Scofield, daughter of Levi T. Scofield of Cleveland, who was married on June 7 to Winthrop Bushnell of New Haven, Conn. Mr. Rockefeller was matchmaker in the romance of the Cleveland society woman and the New Haven man. It was while Miss Scofield was being entertained as the guest of Mrs. Rockefeller at the Hotel Bon Air, Augusta, Ga., together with the Scofield family a year ago this Spring that she was introduced to Mr. Bushnell.

Mr. Bushnell, a Yale man, was a good golfer. This made him popular with Mr. Rockefeller, who saw to it from the first that the Easterner and Miss Scofield, daughter of his old friend, Levi Scofield, were in each other's company frequently. By automobile riding, tea parties, and golf contests the man of millions encouraged the match.

The wedding took place at the home of the bride in Cleveland, and was attended by only relatives and intimate friends of the couple. The Rev. W. W. Bustard, Mr. Rockefeller's pastor, officiated at the ceremony.

SCALES OF JUSTICE FALL.

Clang on Roof of the City Hall Just as the Subway Decision Is Issued.

It was purely a coincidence, of course, but the very moment the McAneny Subway Committee sent to the Interborough and the Brooklyn Rapid Transit yesterday afternoon the official copy of the report of the Board of Estimate accepting the McAneny proposition, which notified both traction companies that the city would build its own subway if the city's terms were rejected, the scales which the figure of Justice surmounting the tower of the City Hall has held suspended from her left hand for generations fell with a crash to the roof below.

The scales are of bronze, about 4 feet in length and weigh about 50 pounds. John Ryan, janitor of the building, was aroused by the crash and hurried to the roof. In falling the scales slightly damaged the roof. A steeplejack will return the scales to Miss Justice within a day or two.

POWDER TRUST TO BE DISSOLVED

Circuit Court Rules That 28 du Pont Concerns Combined in Restraint of Trade.

SENATOR DU PONT EXEMPTED

Decision Says He Resigned Before Suits Began—Companies to be Reorganized to Conform to Law.

Special to The New York Times.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 21.—Judges Gray, Buffington, and Lanning filed an opinion in the United States Circuit Court here late this afternoon, declaring the du Pont Powder Company and twenty-eight other companies and individuals to be guilty of "maintaining a combination in restraint of inter-State commerce in powder and other explosives."

The bills against United States Senator Henry A. du Pont and fourteen other defendants were dismissed. The Senator's son, Henry F. du Pont, a Director who succeeded his father on the board, is held to be liable. The case is the suit of the Government against the Powder Trust for alleged violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust act.

The opinion, which is written by Judge Lanning and concurred in by the other Judges, enjoins the defendants from continuing "said combination," and orders that it be dissolved. The court will hear argument on Oct. 16 as "to the nature of the injunction, which shall be granted herein and as to any plan for dissolving said combination."

The Judge quotes freely from the Standard Oil case, and also cites the American Tobacco case. The interlocutory decree states in effect that the purpose of the court in ordering the hearing in October is to "ascertain and determine upon a plan or method for such dissolution which will not deprive the defendants of the opportunity to recreate out of the elements now composing said combination a new condition which shall be in harmony and not repugnant to the law."

William S. Hilles, resident counsel for the du Pont Company, announced to-night that the du Pont interests would not make any statement yet regarding the decision. He said they had not had time to fully analyze it.

When asked if he believed it probable that an appeal would be taken to the United States Supreme Court, he said:

"That depends upon conditions. I cannot say now what will be done."

Pierre S. du Pont, the Treasurer, spoke to the same effect.

The court declares the combination to be in violation of Section 1 of the Sherman anti-trust law, and that it attempted to monopolize and has monopolized a part of such commerce in violation of Section 2 of the same law.

The action against the Powder Trust was begun by the Government in 1907, and was directed against forty-three corporate and individual defendants. The suit as to fifteen of the defendants was dismissed because some of the concerns are out of existence, or it was not shown that they were parties to the combination.

The decision follows to some extent the decrees issued by the United States Supreme Court in the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases.

The twenty-eight defendants declared to be in the illegal combination are the Hazard Powder Company, Laflin & Rand Powder Company, Eastern Dynamite Company, Fairmont Powder Company, International Smokeless Powder and Chemical Company, Judson Dynamite and Powder Company, Delaware Securities Company, Delaware Investment Company, California Investment Company, E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. of Pennsylvania, du Pont International Powder Company, E. I. du Pont de Nemours Powder Company, E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Thomas Coleman du Pont, Pierre S. du Pont, Alexis I. du Pont, Alfred I. du Pont, Eugene du Pont, Eugene E. du Pont, Henry F. du Pont, Irene du Pont, Francis I. du Pont, Victor du Pont, Jr., Jonathan A. Haskell, Arthur J. Moxham, Hamilton M. Barksdale, Edmond G. Buckner, and Frank L. Connable.

The individuals named, except Mr. Buckner, are Directors of the du Pont Company, organized in 1902, and the du Pont Company, organized in 1903, or of one of them. Thomas Coleman du Pont is also President of both concerns. Mr. Buckner is an active Director of the International Smokeless Powder and Chemical Company.

The only member of the du Pont family mentioned in the suit who is not included among those found to be violating the law is Henry A. du Pont, one of the United States Senators from Delaware. In his case the court found that in June, 1906, a year before the suit was begun, "he resigned all his official positions in the defendant corporations, and that since that time he has had neither real nor nominal connection with the management of any of the defendant corporations."

The decision is a lengthy one, and goes into the history of inter-State commerce in gunpowder and other explosives as far back as 1872, when, the Government charged, the first trade agreement of manufacturers was entered into. The court reviewed the 7,000 pages of evidence taken by Special Examiner William G. Mehaffy at hearings held in Philadelphia, Wilmington, New York, Chicago, Cleveland, and Pittsburg, and found that when the suit was begun the du Pont Company, organized in 1902, controlled in the United States the trade in black blasting powder by 64 per cent., in saltpetre blasting powder, 72 per cent.; in dynamite, 72 per cent.; in black sporting powder, 73 per cent.; in smokeless sporting powder, 64 per cent., and in smokeless military and ordnance powder, exclusive of what the United States Government itself made, by 100 per cent.

The court says: "As enacted it (the Sherman anti-trust law) does not condemn every combination 'to prevent competition.' What it condemns is every combination in restraint of trade or commerce among the several States," &c. The recent decisions of the Supreme Court in Standard Oil Company vs. United States, and American Tobacco Company vs. United States, make it quite clear that the language of the Anti-Trust act is not to receive that literal construction which will impair rather than enhance freedom of inter-State commerce. As we read those decisions, restraint of inter-State trade and restraint of competition in inter-State trade are not interchangeable expressions. There may be, under the Anti-Trust act, restraint of competition that does not amount to restraint of inter-State trade, just as before the passage of the act there might have been restraint of competition that did not amount to a common law restraint of trade."

The court then comes to this conclusion:

"It matters not whether the combination be in the form of a trade association or a corporation. If it arbitrarily uses its power to force weaker competitors out of business or to coerce them into a sale to or union with the combination, it puts a restraint upon inter-State commerce and monopolizes or attempts to monopolize a part of that commerce in a sense that violates the Anti-Trust act."

The court finds that the case in hand is obnoxious to the anti-trust law, and then takes up the nature of the final decree it shall issue. "To stop the business of the combination immediately," the court says, "might be attended with very disastrous consequences. The defendants, or some of them, for example, furnish military and ordnance powders to the United States Government. We understand, also, that they furnish explosives used in the construction of the Panama Canal. Their ability to continue so to do should not be destroyed before the expiration of a reasonable time for adjusting their business to the changed conditions."

AIRMAN UP 500 FEET WITH MRS. WOODRUFF

Sopwith in 14-Minute Flight Carries Passenger to Point Directly Above Her Home.

'IT LOOKED SO TINY,' SHE SAYS

Special to The New York Times.

NASSAU BOULEVARD, L. I., June 21.—Mrs. Timothy L. Woodruff, wife of ex-Lieut. Gov. Woodruff, had her first aeroplane flight here this afternoon when Tom Sopwith, the English aviator, took her aloft and kept her in the air for fourteen minutes. The flight was made from the aviation field of the Aero Club of New York, but was witnessed by only a few persons, as a stiff wind earlier in the day had made it seem likely that flights would be abandoned.

Mrs. Woodruff wore a white tailored suit and had her hair wrapped tight to her head in a veil. She was seated just behind Sopwith in his Howard Wright biplane, a machine of English construction, equipped with a sixty horse power Gnome motor. The start was made quickly, and the aviator sent his craft up to 300 feet. Then he rose to 500 feet and, alternating between these heights, he sped out over Garden City.

Once he headed toward Mineola, but returned before reaching that town, and, after circling the field several times, settled easily on the aviation field, where he helped Mrs. Woodruff to alight. Her husband was awaiting her, and he seemed glad to welcome her back to earth, though he hopes himself to make a flight with Sopwith on Saturday. Mrs. Woodruff was enthusiastic about her flight, and declared:

"It was perfectly wonderful, the most wonderful experience I ever have had. I don't know how else to express the sensation of flying or to describe how it feels. There wasn't the slightest disagreeable sensation, and no cause for fear on the part of even the most timid person—not, at least, with Mr. Sopwith. He is most careful and prudent.

"I didn't come here with any intention of flying, and Mr. Sopwith himself didn't know that he could fly. He had to wait until the wind died down. Then he asked me and I accepted and hopped in before I had a chance to feel frightened. I think maybe you do get a little nervous before you start off. There was a seat behind the aviator, and it was most comfortable.

"There was not the slightest rolling motion, and the world looked mighty small, I assure you, from the 500-foot height. It was so smooth that I hardly realized when I was off the ground and did not feel any resistance at all when we landed. We went over Nassau Boulevard and right over our house. It looked so tiny, just like a dog kennel. We also flew toward Mineola.

"If he can, I think Mr. Sopwith will try to take Mr. Woodruff up on Saturday. Indeed, I think Mr. Woodruff is a little bit jealous of me for getting ahead of him."

There is to be an aviation meet here on Saturday, in which Tod Schriver, Capt. Baldwin, and Sopwith will take part. Earl Ovington may take part also.

BRIDE IS AN ARCTIC WIDOW.

Charles C. Perpall, a Government weigher, living at 109 Marlborough Road, Brooklyn, received a telegram yesterday from his daughter, who, eleven months ago, left home to marry Dr. Harry Dennison Chichester and go with him to Alaska. The telegram told of the death of her husband, and said she is now one of the few inhabitants of one of the Pribilof Islands in Bering Sea. She will return to Brooklyn as soon as the Government agents arrive on their Summer tour.

Miss Perpall was a student at Packer Institute in Brooklyn when she met Dr. Chichester, who then was a student in George Washington University. He received his degree last June, and was then appointed by the Government as Governor of one of the Pribilof Islands. Rather than be separated from him, Miss Perpall and he were married last July in St. Paul's Church, and the couple started on their 5,000-mile trip. With them was a scientist named Hahn. A few days ago a dispatch to Washington notified the Government that Hahn had been killed in a boat accident. Yesterday Mr. Perpall received the telegram from his daughter.

The island is cut off from communication with the world from October until June, so no definite news of the accident can be learned until the arrival of the first mail ship about the middle of July.

HER LIFE STORY IN VERSE.

Special to The New York Times.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 21.—Mrs. Harriet S. Kidder celebrated her ninety-fifth birthday to-day in her home, 87 Broadway. A feature of an entertainment she had planned for a hundred or more friends who spent the afternoon with her was the reading of a poem that she had written and copied on a typewriter. The poem dealt with events in her life and contained 130 stanzas. Mrs. Kidder learned to use the typewriter when she was 90. She sought the machine when failing eyesight prevented her from writing with a pen without running her lines together. She can scarcely see now, but in five years she has mastered the keyboard.

Mrs. Kidder is the widow of the Rev. Dr. Daniel P. Kidder and was born at Winsted, Conn. She has lived under every United States President except Washington, Jefferson, and Adams. She was in Paris when Napoleon III. was crowned and in England in the early part of Queen Victoria's reign.

CRAM WILL BUILD GOTHIC CATHEDRAL

Boston Architect Says He Will Depart from La Farge's Romanesque Design.

HE DEFENDS HIS COURSE

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, June 21.—Ralph Adams Cram, whose displacing of C. Grant La Farge as architect for the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York has caused much discussion here, since it was reported in THE NEW YORK TIMES this morning, said to-day to a TIMES reporter that he had accepted the appointment, subject to reconsideration after a conference with Mr. La Farge on the latter's return from Europe. He added that he did not believe anything could develop at their meeting that would cause him to refuse the appointment, since he had taken advice from the best element in his profession before giving his assent to the proposal of the Cathedral Trustees.

It developed that the reason for the breach between the cathedral authorities and Mr. La Farge was due to a difference in opinion as to the best architectural style to be adopted in building it. Mr. Cram indicated in his talk that the Trustees had become dissatisfied with the Romanesque treatment, and after twenty years decided that Gothic was more appropriate, engaging him with a view to having the work carried on in that style.

Mr. Cram, whose firm has built six cathedrals in the United States and elsewhere, is known through his buildings and his books as a leading exponent of the Gothic spirit. He talked freely about his appointment and his reasons for accepting, as well as the architectural ideas that will prevail in carrying out the work. The one subject on which he would not say very much, although he professed himself free to talk as far as the Trustees were concerned, was of the cathedral's planning and progress up to the present time. This, he explained, was because he did not wish to appear as criticising the work of Mr. Heins and Mr. La Farge.

He made it clear that he had been engaged by the Trustees to make a Gothic cathedral out of St. John the Divine. He also said that this task was not properly that of an individual, but that his hope was to get the best ecclesiastical architects the country had and make it their united work rather than his individually.

He Consulted Authorities.

Mr. Cram also described the steps he had taken to obtain advice as to whether he was justified in architectural ethics in superseding Mr. La Farge. He put the facts before the National Chapter of the American Institute of Architects in Washington and consulted friends in the profession. He said they all told him his position was unassailable, and he accepted the offer with the reservation noted above.

"We must recognize the fact," Mr. Cram said, "that no great public building can achieve the greatest success if it represents the personal ideas of one man. The least interesting churches of the past are the work of one man entirely, whereas those most interesting are found where the architectural influence has changed from century to century, almost from year to year.

"The original designs submitted by Mr. Heins and Mr. La Farge were of the Romanesque type, popular at that time through the influence of H. H. Richardson. Since then the work has been recast in detail, with the idea of overlaying the Romanesque frame with Gothic detail and ornament. This course in principle meets with my entire approval. I have stood for the English Gothic modified and adapted to contemporary conditions as the only fitting style for expressing the idea of the Episcopal Church.

"So far as I am concerned the development of the work will be a continuation and intensification of the same principle, and whatever changes or development may be desirable in the future will be in line with the Gothic tendency. Not only in matter of detail will this hold, but in mass, composition, and construction. The work done by other architects who are planning portions of the Cathedral, whose plans I have looked over, are precisely in this line, the object being to preserve historical, doctrinal, and liturgical continuity of visible expressions of the Church in the United States precisely as these qualities are maintained in the Church itself."

Asked as to changes the new plan would entail on the work already completed, Mr. Cram said:

"I should suppose that such money as became available would be used in continuation of work rather than in modification of any portion of the work now existing. As for essential changes in design, I look on the original plan as I think Mr. La Farge did, as more or less fluid, subject to change as the result of further study and experimentation in design. In my opinion, the portion of the cathedral now erected does not necessarily compel the carrying out of the whole plan on the lines laid down in the competition design. Whether radical changes would result in improvement must be contingent on further study or on that consensus of opinion of the best minds in the architectural profession that I hope will be brought to bear on the project.

Wants to Enlist Other Minds.

"I hope to get interested every architect who is devoted to church and Gothic architecture. This I will do partly by subjecting my ideas to criticism by members of the profession in whom I have confidence as ecclesiastical designers, and partly by recommending for specific portions of the work architects who have demonstrated their sympathy with the church, and recognize the Gothic style as representing in principle and form the best possible expression of Christianity by the Anglo-Saxon people."

The new consulting architect then spoke of his relations with Mr. La Farge and the counsel he had taken before deciding to accept the position.

"If Mr. La Farge will work with me in friendly spirit," he said, "it is my intention, deliberately expressed, to have him do as much of the work as is possible. But he must recognize that the Trustees brought me in to do a certain thing—to make a Gothic cathedral out of St. John the Divine, and that therefore it is to be supposed I know more about it than he does.

"This action is not unprecedented. At St. Peter's, in Rome, three or four architects, sometimes contemporary, were engaged at once. The whole point here is that the Trustees have acted like Trustees. They cannot consider personal interests. They primarily have two duties —to see that the cathedral becomes the best expression of Christianity according to the Anglican tradition, and give assurances to those who are trusting them

CLING TO BOAT FIVE HOURS.

Two Princeton Youths Exhausted When Rescued in Great South Bay.

Thomas Dixon, Jr., son of a Southern writer, and Joseph F. Knapp were rescued from Great South Bay yesterday morning after they had been clinging to the keel of a capsized catboat for five hours. When their cries were heard they were on the verge of exhaustion, and could have held on only a few minutes longer, they said.

Knapp has been entertaining Dixon, a classmate in Princeton, in his parents' Summer home. On Tuesday evening the two went out on Great South Bay in Knapp's motor boat, the Lady Dixon. The two had dinner at Smith's Point, but when they started home, about 8 o'clock in the evening, they found the engine would not run, so they hired a small catboat, in which they started home.

Two miles off Bellport a squall struck the small craft, and over it went. The shore was too far away for either youth to attempt to swim to it, so they clung to the boat. Frequently they tried to climb upon it, but their clothing caused them to slip back.

The water was cold, and the young men soon became numb with the cold. Their fingers became cramped, and they feared they would lose their hold upon the boat. The wind blew them slowly toward Bellport, and at intervals they shouted for help. Shortly after midnight Capt. Charles Rice, a life saver at the Wyandotte Hotel, Bellport, heard the shouts, and, putting out in his motor boat, rescued the boys. Both fainted from exhaustion after being pulled into his boat.

RESCUE AFTER LONG SWIM.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ROCHELLE, June 21.—William Carroll, a lifesaver at Hudson Park, Davenport Neck, saw a young man who was swimming in Echo Bay, off Potter's Beach, suddenly begin to flounder around in the water this afternoon. Then he heard him call for help. Carroll was a quarter of a mile away, but, with several other swimmers, he set out to the young man's assistance.

Carroll, a strong swimmer, easily outdistanced the others, but the quarter mile swim took a long time, so that when he reached Echo Bay the swimmer who had yelled for help had sunk. There is 20 feet of water in the bay and Carroll dived to the bottom and brought up the young man, unconscious and nearly dead.

Carroll carried the young man ashore, and after working over him for an hour resuscitated him. The rescued man said he was Alexander Breinin of 118 North Avenue. He said he had been swimming strongly when his muscles became cramped and he was unable to keep afloat.

DIBOLL'S SENTENCE CHANGED

Wireless Company's Treasurer Escapes Prison on Paying Fine of $2,000.

Judge Martin of the Vermont District, who in the criminal branch of the United States Court, in this city, on May 29 last sentenced William A. Diboll, Treasurer of the United Wireless Telegraph Company, to a year's imprisonment in the penitentiary on Blackwell's Island and to pay his share of the costs of the prosecution for misuse of the mails, has changed the judgment in that case. In lieu of a jail sentence a fine of $2,000 has been imposed.

Diboll, who has been in the Tombs since his conviction, with Christopher Columbus Wilson and other officers of the United Wireless Company, was brought to the Federal Building yesterday by Marshal Henkel, and, after paying the fine to United States Commissioner Shields, was discharged from custody.

The change of sentence relieves Diboll from the necessity of paying his share of the $50,000 which it cost the Government to prosecute the case against him and the others.

FED MATCHES TO ZOO MONKEY

Boy Who Did It "as a Joke" Fined $5—The Monkey May Die.

Frank Holtz of 286 Broadway saw a boy throw a box of safety matches into the cage of the $600 Mandril monkey in the Bronx Zoo yesterday afternoon. The monkey grabbed the matches and ate them, while Holtz ran and told Prof. Herman Markle, who is attached to the Zoo staff.

Prof. Markle and Holtz chased the boy a half mile and caught him. He said he was Michael Barnowsky of 131 East Third Street.

Barnowsky told Magistrate Butts in the Night Court that he had thrown the matches into the cage as a joke, but the Magistrate fined him $5, which he paid. Prof. Markle said the monkey had been made very ill and might not recover.

STRIKE RIOTS IN CLEVELAND.

Merchant Beaten by Garment Workers—Two Strikers Are Shot.

CLEVELAND, June 21.—Small riots incident to the garment workers' strike occurred in various parts of the city to-day and to-night and the police were kept busy making arrests and caring for injured strikers and guards. Jacob Weisberg, a merchant of Chicago, who was visiting D. V. Green, left Green's skirt factory this evening and was mistaken for a strikebreaker. He was badly beaten.

Two strikers were shot, but not seriously wounded, in a riot this morning by guards who were taking women workers home in cabs.

HEIRESS WEDS COACHMAN.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., June 21.—The culmination of what has been styled a romance occurred to-day when Mrs. Grace Velie Harper married Sidney Harris, her former coachman-chauffeur, at her Summer home, York Beach, Me. The marriage was performed by a clergyman there at the end of a gay party. Only a few of the most intimate friends of the bride and bridegroom were present.

Mrs. Harper, who is known as an heiress to $6,000,000, has been prominent in certain social sets in New York, Chicago, Boston, and Moline, Ill., which is the home of her father, the late S. H. Velie, a manufacturer. She is the niece of the late Charles Deere, a plow manufacturer.

Some time ago she was sued for $150,000 by Mrs. Harris, the first wife of Sidney Harris, for alienating the affections of Harris. The filing of the suit in Los Angeles, Cal., ended a long pursuit. For three years Mrs. Harris followed her husband and Mrs. Harper into every State of the Union, into Europe, and Japan. Mrs. Harris proved to be untiring in her quest, but she finally decided that she could not locate them, so she swore to the charges and the papers were served upon Mrs. Harper in Los Angeles. She denied vehemently that she had won the affections of her former coachman-chauffeur.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper have left on an extensive honeymoon and will not return to their Summer home till late in the Summer.

LONDON JAMMED FOR CORONATION

3,000,000 More Expected, but Route of To-day's Procession Is Already Crowded.

WEATHER PROSPECTS BAD

WAIT IN PARK FOR 30 HOURS

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Thursday, June 22.—The weather outlook for to-day's great ceremony is not good. At this hour, 2 A. M., slight rain is falling, and all the forecasts betray pessimism.

King George, it is stated authoritatively, is in the best possible health for the ordeal he is to undergo in Westminster Abbey. So, too, is Queen Mary. Their Majesties, however, decided not to attend the banquet given last night by the Duke of Connaught to the foreign guests at St. James's Palace, although it had been arranged that they should be present.

As it was, the King had a busy day. He breakfasted at 9 o'clock, was occupied with details of the coronation ceremony till 11:30, when he received the overseas Premiers, and in the afternoon drove with the Queen, the Prince of Wales, Prince Albert, and Princess Mary to the Olympia Horse Show. The reception the King got from great crowds both going and returning appeared to please him mightily.

Like New Year Crowd Here.

London is now in some respects suggestive of New York on New Year's Eve. Crowds are thronging the streets of the West End, singing, shouting, blowing tin horns, and otherwise making merry.

Most of the decorations along the route of to-day's procession are now complete, while the illuminations are being generally tested, so that the sightseers have enough to interest them.

Even yesterday at the least busy time in the morning it took nearly three hours to cover the route of the royal procession in a taxicab, and as the day wore on both the traffic and the crowds became such as to render London in parts practically impassable. It took a motor bus forty minutes to get from one end of Piccadilly to the other, while pedestrians moving with the crowd made remarkably quick time if they covered a hundred yards in a quarter of an hour.

Pall Mall, St. James's Street, and Piccadilly were all the afternoon and evening jammed with persons who were uttery foreign to those fashionable streets. Instead of tall hats and black coats, were men wearing caps and rough-cut tweeds, while women in stylish raiment were so few and far between as to become a spectacle to the others. I saw men and women by dozens stand and stare at a girl who had on a tight-fitting dress that would have attracted not the slightest attention at ordinary times.

"It's the mob," said Lord Monson to a friend, with the air with which a French Marquis of pre-Revolution days might have declared, "C'est la canaille."

A City of Dreadful Noises.

"London a City Beautiful," ran a headline in an afternoon paper. Some tens of thousands of its present occupants are now making it a city of dreadful noises. Fleet Street is now hideous with the braying of horns, snatches of songs, and indescribable discord. It is not "God save the King!" that is being sung, but popular music hall choruses.

"Mafficking" is a word that found its way into the English dictionary after Boer war. The populace are now "coronating," to use the latest neologism, and "coronating" and "mafficking" are not very dissimilar.

Until a late hour last night the street scenes showed none of this exuberance. In fact, throughout the day the chief characteristic of the crowds was their quiet, patient good humor under many difficulties. All the police in the world could not have regulated the traffic had it been otherwise. By common impulse the pedestrians along the royal route divided themselves into two streams, each taking the right-hand pavement. Persons passing down St. James's Street, for instance, kept to the westward pavement, while the ascending stream took the opposite side.

In Piccadilly, St. James's Street, and Whitehall the traffic was like slowly drifting streams of pack ice. A one-horse van loaded with cheering children from Southwark or Bermondsey was at no disadvantage of speed with the costliest fifty-horse power motor in Mayfair.

A shilling fare was charged by special motor omnibuses for a ride to view the decorations from Liverpool Street to Hyde Park Corner. From Liverpool Street to Charing Cross, ordinarily a penny fare, sixpence was charged. At these prices the omnibuses started with every outside seat taken and many of them full inside as well. At one time early in the afternoon there was a block of omnibuses extending from Temple Bar nearly to Wellington Street, Strand.

Hotels Full At Last.

At last the hotel men are happy. Now, for the first time this season, accommodation at the principal hotels is taxed to the uttermost, but one misses many familiar faces, especially those of the better-known Americans, who for years past have been the mainstay of certain hotels at this time of the year.

The reason is not far to seek, and dates back some weeks ago, when the attempt was made to dictate the terms on which guests should be accommodated, and which proved the undoing of the season from the hotel point of view. Since then the managers have realized that they fell into a pit which they had dug themselves, and have made strenuous efforts to rehabilitate themselves, with only partial success.

Although everything is now filled up, and high prices reign supreme for the time being, it is the opinion of every hotel man with whom I have talked on the subject that the bad effect created will have a still more serious result later.

To illustrate the panic caused by the emptiness of the hotels during the last six weeks, the manager of one of the best known here, who three months ago was signing a dozen letters daily refusing accommodation, a few weeks ago wrote to prominent American clients saying he would reserve their usual rooms for them at the ordinary prices. In one instance, a well-known American, who had been in the habit of taking a suite to the tune of £450 ($2,250) a month year after year, but who had refused to be bullied into paying twice the price this year, replied, saying that he did not care whether he saw the coronation or not, but if he decided to come at the last moment he would take his usual rooms for £200.

Many South Americans.

Still, high prices are being insisted on, and it is a noticeable fact that South Americans, who are here in large numbers, are ensconced in many of the best suites, usually occupied by their northern neighbors.

"Blood money" was the term used by one well-known hotel man in describing to me the high prices prevailing. It would seem to be borne out by a scene witnessed at one of the best known West End hotels, where a quite prominent American lady was reduced to tears when her bill was presented to her. She and her husband had been staying at the hotel for some weeks, occupying a room for which they paid about $5 a day. The husband was called to America, and left his wife here to see the coronation. Before sailing he received an assurance from the manager of the hotel that his wife would be well looked after, and that everything would be done for her. Yesterday, two days after her husband sailed, she was presented with her bill, $21 being the rent of the room for two days. She expostulated, saying that nothing had ben said about a rise in price. The management was adamant. The lady left the hotel in tears, protesting against her treatment, and is now quartered at a smaller hotel in Bloomsbury.

It is needless to recapitulate the names of those prominent Americans who are here. It is sufficient to say that there have been very few notable additions to those mentioned in last Sunday's New York Times. Although several vessels reached England's shores within the last day or two, all being crowded, it is difficult to find where the bulk of the visitors are located. They are certainly not at the principal hotels, where arrivals have been very scarce. The truth is that many are avoiding London until after the coronation, putting in the time meanwhile at seashore or country resorts or on the Continent. This is the opinion of Frederick Townsend Martin, who arrived from Paris yesterday. He told The New York Times correspondent he never remembered a time when so few "real American society people" were in London at this period of the year. Mr. Martin mentioned many personal friends whom he met on the Continent who are avoiding London this year.

Seats on Stands Not All Gone.

Even last evening there was little difficulty in obtaining seats upon stands from which to-day's procession can be seen. There were not so many vacancies, however, as to cause any great depreciation in prices, which ranged from $15 to $50 yesterday afternoon.

Accommodations for to-day are, of course, much more limited than for the longer route to be followed on Friday, and for the second day there has been a most decided slump, in many cases seats on uncovered stands being obtainable for a few shillings. Uncertainty as to the weather is probably the chief cause of this, but the fact that three-quarters of a million seats are available for Friday's procession has also contributed.

Practically every shopkeeper along the route has turned his store window into a stand, and a good many of them apparently have reason to regret it. One man told me that he had lost a week's business owing to the alterations necessary, and had not sold enough seats to pay the carpenters' bill.

It is in connection with the stands that the police apprehend the most serious possibility of danger to-day—that of fire. A series of warnings to the crowds has been issued from Scotland Yard in the shape of "don'ts." In these the place of first importance is given to the advice: "Don't smoke in crowds or throw down lighted matches or cigarette ends."

Other police "don'ts" are:

"Don't take young children into the crowds."

"Don't leave your house entirely unguarded."

Another "don't" might have been added, namely, "Beware of confidence men," for there are hundreds here from all parts of the world, including some of the slickest light-fingered gentry known to the police of both hemispheres. William Pinkerton, who says he is here unofficially, told me he had seen more American crooks here than real Americans. One profitable coup was brought off yesterday when four men got away with £1,000, part of the money taken for seats erected on a large stand outside the Borough Polytechnic in South London. By means so simple as to disarm suspicion they got the attention of the attendants on the stand on the plea that they wanted to buy seats, and while the young woman who was in charge of the cashbox answered the telephone they disappeared, and with them went the cashbox.

Waiting 30 Hours to See Procession.

At 10 A. M. yesterday there arrived in the Green Park a middle-aged woman wearing a coronation blue dress, who took up a position close to the railings at the top of Constitution Hill and carefully arranged round about her an outfit for a vigil of some thirty hours. She brought with her a big satchel filled with sandwiches, biscuits, and chocolates, also a box containing a small spirit-lamb with kettle, teapot, and cup, and likewise a rug on which, she said, she hoped to pass the night, if a kindly policeman would keep an eye to the safety of her belongings.

She was only the first of a multitude. As the day went by many others came to get places from which to see to-day's procession and before evening the stretch of park alongside Buckingham Palace Gardens was studded with groups prepared to make a night of it if the police would let them do so.

Loops of evergreens were yesterday strung from mast to mast in Piccadilly, where strings of white and amber electric lights glittered at night. St. James's Street is gay with flowers, great baskets of which crown white columns standing a few yards apart. The clubs there and along Pall Mall have vied with one another in efforts toward artistic decoration, and the results in many cases are admirable.

The most effective private decorations are seen in Piccadilly. The outer walls of Devonshire House are hung with white and yellow marguerites. Stratton House, where John Hays Hammond is quartered, is handsomely decorated with red roses. No. 96 Piccadilly, which has been taken by Otto H. Kahn for to-day only at a rental of $2,500, is artistically begirt with royal blue and white.

Dorchester House, the residence of Whitelaw Reid, though not on the route of the royal procession, is handsomely festooned with roses and gay with flags.

The business houses along the route have done their decorative duty nobly. The White Star Line, which has offices at the corner of Cockspur Street and Pall Mall, obtained probably the greatest measure of popular approval, a huge model of the Olympic being the chief feature in a most elaborate scheme. The hotels along the route are, of course, gayly appareled.

Stars and Stripes Everywhere.

The Stars and Stripes flutter in the breeze at every turn, nearly every British tradesman being desirous of showing his appreciation of American dollars by a display of America's flag. In fact, so great has been the demand for American flags that yesterday at one well-known store which deals in bunting the stock was entirely exhausted, and before this happened prices had been put up so that a flag a yard long cost $5.

Figures gathered by The London Times indicate that about 3,000,000 visitors are expected in London to-day and to-morrow. For the greater proportion of these there will be small chance of sleep at night. The railway companies alone estimate that they will bring a million passengers to London terminal between 3 and 9:30 this morning, and over 1,000 trains will run into London in those six and one-half hours.

At this hour the route of the procession is occupied by more persons than can possibly hope to retain their place there when the police and military take up their positions. What places the other 3,000,000 to be added to London's already overcrowded population can obtain passes imagination.

The police announce that they do not intend to close the barriers erected in the side streets debouching on the route of the procession except in cases of special emergency. The idea of these barriers is to enable the police to cut off easily and with expedition access to the route directly the area which each gate controls contains as many persons as safety and convenience permit. Each barrier represents in strength a large force of police, or several lines of cavalry. Should it be found necessary to close all the gates the whole route would become a vast inclosure in which people would be as much isolated as though on an island.

Pennsylvania R. R.

SUMMER VACATIONS

- Summer!
- Vacation time!
- Have you fixed yours yet?
- The Pennsylvania Railroad Summer Excursion Book, just issued, contains routes and rates to about eight hundred of the leading resorts of America.
- It may be obtained of any Ticket Agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad for Ten Cents, or will be mailed, post-paid, by Geo. W. Boyd, General Passenger Agent, Philadelphia, Pa., on receipt of Twenty-five Cents.
- Summer excursion tickets, with liberal return limits, by which you may make a trip of a day, a week, a month, or a sojourn for the whole summer, are now on sale by Ticket Agents, who will gladly assist you in selecting your route and resort.

Judging by the condition of the streets at present, the police will have the initial duty of clearing out some of the crowds before they can use the barriers to keep them out.

Whitehall and Pall Mall are packed so closely that it seems impossible that any more can be wedged in. Ticket holders whose seats are only approachable from main streets will have the greatest difficulty in forcing a way to them. Trafalgar Square is a solid mass of patient waiters.

Yet from the East End are coming new crowds. The Strand is congested with crowds which in the main seem made up of the dregs of the population. Here the popular rejoicing has taken on the aspect of a saturnalia.

The Stock Exchange held a coronation celebration yesterday afternoon. Business had been slack all the morning, and at about half past two it ceased altogether, and the members crowded around hustings which had been erected in the middle of the floor and sang "God Save the King," the time being beaten by the leader with a baton six feet long, so that all could see. Thanks to this arrangement the anthem was sung well in unison, and the volume of sound, reverberating in the domelike structure, did credit to the dealers' lungs.

Tribute to the Monarchy.

LONDON, Thursday, June 22.—The British nation shows not the slightest sign of diminishing favor toward monarchical government. A half century of quiet life under Queen Victoria has been succeeded by a stirring decade, which has seen a coronation and two state funerals. Yet the public appetite is unsated, but rather augmented, in its enthusiasm for royalty and kingly display.

Never before has this enthusiasm reached such a high pitch, and the ceremonies attendant upon to-day's great event, the coronation of King George, appear likely to be attended by a degree of excitement and public fervor unrivaled in any great state ceremonies in past times. Further, this tribute of affection and devotion is manifestly accorded more to the monarchy than to the monarch, for it cannot be said that King George V. or Queen Mary is either as beloved as was Queen Victoria or as popular and esteemed as were King Edward and Queen Alexandra.

To the casual observer the countless population of the city, with its myriads of foreign and provincial visitors, was not sleeping last night, and the scenes until midnight vividly recalled the scenes enacted when the news of the relief of Mafeking was received. After that for a few hours there was a slight subsidence of the turmoil, before the inrush from the suburbs of the great crowds to watch the coronation procession.

The King and Queen not for a moment relaxed their strong sense of public duty, which has characterized them since they mounted the throne. Although their Majesties have long and exhausting ceremonies confronting them, they spent yesterday as busily as any previous day of this exciting period, receiving coronation visitors, attending to matters of state, and dropping in on the Horse Show at Olympia. Wherever they appeared in public they were the objects of unbounded enthusiasm.

The eve of the coronation found London at the highest point of fever heat. The immense crowds of the preceding days became last night seething masses, all determined to obtain vantage ground from which to view the royal procession. The streets in the West End were almost impassable, but everybody was thoroughly good-humored and ready to cheer at the slightest provocation.

The passage of foreign Princes to and from the dinner given by the Duke and Duchess of Connaught gave many opportunities to vent enthusiastic spirits. Outside the residence of John Hays Hammond, the Special Ambassador of the President of the United States, thousands gathered to await his return from his audience with Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary, and the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Hammond for the banquet.

Other myriads proceeded around the route to watch the brilliant decorations, which were illuminated until long after midnight. Occasionally the sound of bugles announced the approach of troops just arrived in London marching to their camps to snatch a few hours' rest before the morning.

Regalia Arrives at Abbey.

Late at night a strong escort of Life Guards reached Westminster Abbey convoying a great sealed wagon, in which the royal regalia was carried, and handed over the historic crowns, sceptres, and swords to the Dean and Canons, who placed them for safe custody in the Jerusalem Chamber. The regalia will be surrounded by an armed guard of eight Tower warders until the arrival of the royal procession.

In preparation for to-day's ordeal and after a trying day, King George and Queen Mary passed the evening alone with the Prince of Wales in Buckingham Palace, before which great multitudes waited patiently, hoping to obtain a sight of their Majesties. From time to time the people sang the national anthem and other patriotic songs.

At the Houses of Parliament, where the Ministers and members are entertaining largely to-day, extensive preparations have been made. Large tents have been erected in the Palace Yard, where 3,550 meals will be served in the course of the day.

Long before dawn drums and trumpets gave evidence that 60,000 troops were preparing for their strenuous duties, and the people waited curiously to see them march out.

Even outside the limits to which the royal procession will be confined, the animation of the people was unprecedented. Everywhere illuminations blazed in many colored designs, and those who later on intended to proceed to the centre of the city pushed their way through the packed streets, singing, playing instruments, and cheering. Many of them carried bundles of provisions for to-day's needs.

The portraits of the King and Queen are displayed on every hand. They called forth cheers and cries of "God Save the King." When it was announced last night that the Prince of Wales had been gazetted a Midshipman thousands took up the song, "God Bless the Prince of Wales."

The authorities have taken the most careful measures to prevent accidents. Where the gatherings will be densest ambulance stations have been located, and are fully equipped for day and night service. In many of the principal streets last night many exhausted women were treated.

What Mr. Hammond Will Wear.

The arrangements for conveying the foreign Princes and the special envoys to Buckingham Palace were changed last evening, the hour for leaving their residences being fixed somewhat earlier than had been originally intended. Ambassador Hammond will be escorted to the palace at 7:30 A. M. by Lord Sandhurst, who drives with him in the procession. The American envoy will wear an ordinary dress suit with knee breeches, silk stockings, low shoes, and a crush hat.

Major Gen. Greeley, who represents the United States Army, and Rear Admiral Vreeland, the representative of the navy, will wear full uniform.

Thousands of Americans are in London for the coronation. Every State in the Union is well represented. Among the best known are Mr. and Mrs. August Belmont, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Dr. and Mrs. W. Seward Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont, J. Pierpont Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Morris, Charles M. Schwab, and John W. Gates.

New Yorkers are to be seen in great numbers, the visitors from that city including Moncure Robinson, Robert Sands, Arthur Sturgis, Richard Harding Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Archer M. Huntington, S. S. McClure, Mr. and Mrs. Jules S. Bache, Frederick Townsend Martin, and William Astor Drayton.

The visitors from Washington include Mr. and Mrs. Francis Crowninshield, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Moore, Mrs. George Branley, Mrs. William Draper and Miss Draper, and Mrs. Richard H. Townsend.

Duke of Connaught's Dinner.

The Duke and Duchess of Connaught gave a dinner last night at St. James's Palace to the representatives attending the coronation officially. Clarence House, the residence of the Duke and Duchess, was considered too small for the function, and the King permitted the use of the state rooms of the historic palace, together with the use of the Windsor gold plate. The scene almost equaled in brilliancy that of the royal dinner at Buckingham Palace on Tuesday night.

Special Ambassador and Mrs. Hammond were among those present. Mrs. Hammond wore a dress of pale pink satin and pink chiffon, embroidered with silver diamante. Her ornaments were emeralds and diamonds.

Mrs. Hammond's coronation robe for to-day is of Princess style, draped about the figure. It is composed of Moscow brocade in peacock blue and moiré antique, backed with gold. The color gradually changes in shade until it becomes the palest silver. The trimming is diamante embroidered on blue tulle. Mrs. Hammond will wear a diamond and emerald necklace, tiara, and stomacher, and carry a white ostrich fan, similar in all respects to the one sent as a bridal gift to Queen Mary from South Africa.

King George's first public act after the coronation will be in connection with the laying of the cornerstone for the Fishermen's and Seamen's Home of the Grenfell Mission at St. John's, Newfoundland. Immediately upon his return to Buckingham Palace from the Abbey, cable and land line communications will be established between the palace and St. John's and his Majesty will press a button inaugurating the cornerstone ceremony. The money for the home has been subscribed equally by the American and English missions.

STARVED THREE DAYS.

Crowd Digs Into Its Pockets and Gives Up $10 to Englishman in Hard Luck.

A well-dressed and apparently well-educated Englishman, who said he was James C. Robinson, the son of a well-to-do London druggist, was found exhausted and fainting at Lexington Avenue and Fifty-third Street last night. According to the story he subsequently told the policemen and those who saw him fall to the pavement, and who afterward provided him with food and money, he had come to this city from England on the Teutonic last week after a quarrel with his father, and had been without food since last Sunday.

Although the crowd which gathered around collected more than $10 for him, Robinson refused most of the money, taking only enough to keep him at the Mills Hotel at Seventh Avenue and West Thirty-seventh Street until he is able to communicate with his father, who, he said, had an apothecary shop at 157 to 161 Bromley Road.

William Y. Jack, a plumber at 618 Lexington Avenue, was the first person to notice the stranded Englishman. Jack was standing outside his shop just before suppertime when he saw Robinson walking northward along Lexington Avenue. The Englishman was well built and clean cut in appearance, and held himself with such military erectness that the plumber was astonished to see him stagger and fall to the sidewalk.

Mr. Jack ran to the stranger's assistance and found he had fainted completely away. The plumber then summoned Policeman Connell of the East Fifty-first Street Station. While Mr. Jack and the policeman were bending over him, Robinson revived, and Connell asked him what was the matter with him.

"I haven't had a toothful of food for three days, Bobby," Robinson replied faintly.

He was carried into Jack's shop and the plumber offered him a small glass of brandy. Robinson, however, pushed the liquor away.

"I couldn't drink it; I never touch strong drink of any kind," he expostulated.

Mr. Jack then sent out for a bottle of milk and some sandwiches, and his guest, about the genuineness of whose need there was no doubt in the minds of those around him, first sipped the milk until he felt stronger and then devoured the sandwiches ravenously.

"I reached this city last week," he said, after he was sufficiently revived to talk. "I had a quarrel with my father, for whom I had been working in London as chief clerk. I only brought a little money with me. This ran out completely last Sunday. I haven't had a bite to eat nor have I slept in a bed since. My quarrel with my father was due to a marriage which I made four years ago. I have three children who are now living with my sister in London. My wife died several months ago."

While Robinson was telling his story a well-dressed man pushed through the crowd at the door of the plumber's shop, and was so quickly convinced of the Englishman's sincerity that he gave him his card and promised to find him work. The sympathetic stranger also promised to appeal to the Rev. Dr. J. D. Wasson in the stranger's behalf. Meantime some one outside had passed around a hat, Policeman Connell heading the contribution with a dollar bill. More than $10 was at once collected.

Robinson refused to take any of the money at first, and some one took several of the bills in the hat and stuffed them into the Englishman's pocket. Policeman Connell then directed him to the Mills Hotel and put him on a Seventh Avenue car. Before he left, Robinson told the policeman that he intended to write to his father in London and ask him to take him back as chief clerk.

DE FORD-JEROME AMENITIES.

Gavel Busy, and Some Progress Made in Poultry Trust Trial.

Those who attended the trial of eighteen of the members of the so-called Poultry Trust, who are on trial before Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions charged with attempting to obtain a monopoly of the live poultry trade in this city, expecting to witnes a renewal of the hostilities between ex-District Attorney Jerome and Assistant District Attorney De Ford, were disappointed, as there were only two passages of a personal nature between the two lawyers.

The first warm words were exchanged when Samuel F. Fleck, Treasurer of the New York Live Poultry Commission Merchants' Association, was put on the stand. Mr. De Ford attempted to have the witness identify some papers containing an account of the by-laws of the association and Mr. Jerome objected. Mr. De Ford happened to get between Judge Rosalsky and Mr. Jerome, while the latter was talking, and Mr. Jerome said:

Mr. De Ford turned quickly and, looking at Mr. Jerome, replied:

"I wasn't aware that I was in front of a firing line, but if you request it I will get out of the wind."

Judge Rosalsky hastily rapped for order and both sides ceased hostilities. Later Mr. Jerome again raised an objection to the introduction as evidence of another paper of the organization containing an account of a meeting held on Nov. 9, 1909, by the members of the trust. Mr. De Ford began his argument against Mr. Jerome's objection and the latter said:

"What is this going to be, a prayer?"

"No," replied the Assistant District Attorney, "but your clients will need a prayer after it is admitted."

Judge Rosalsky admitted the paper in evidence.

Mr. Fleck is the second witness to be called, George E. Brown, the Secretary of the association, having been on the stand since the beginning of the trial nearly four weeks ago. All day yesterday the courtroom was crowded with spectators, who sat patiently through the trial awaiting another argument between the two lawyers.

TRAIN WRECKS AUTO; 3 HURT.

Two Women Buried Under Debris in Essex Smash—Mrs. Dickey May Die.

Special to The New York Times.

GUILFORD, Conn., June 21.—A touring car containing E. P. Dickey, his wife, and her sister, Miss Marion Dickerman of New Haven was struck by a freight train early this evening in Essex, and all three were seriously injured. Mrs. Dickey and Miss Dickerman are still unconscious. The chances are against the recovery of the former. Mr. Dickey, who was badly cut and bruised, is nearly 70 years of age.

The party were crossing the railroad tracks near the centre of the village, when the train struck them from behind. The auto was smashed and the two women, who occupied the rear seat, were buried in the débris.

Mr. Dickey is a former New York banker, and has an estate here.

AUTOIST KILLED RACING.

Cincinnati Contestant Strikes a Fence When a Tire Comes Off.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 21.—Walter Donnelly of Cincinnati, while driving an automobile at the rate of fifty miles an hour at a race in State Fair Park, was killed to-day when his car ran into a fence. Donnelly's skull was fractured. He died in a hospital.

Donnelly was making the turn at the three-quarter post of the fortieth mile, when a tire came off the rear right wheel, causing the machine to skid. A dozen machines made a great cloud of dust at that point, and officials believe that this prevented Donnelly from righting his machine so as to avoid the fence. Donnelly's wife was sitting in the grand stand, holding her baby and watching the race when the accident occurred.

NEWSPAPER'S EVIDENCE GONE

Chicago Tribune's Manager Charges Theft—Concerns a Senator.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—James Keeley, General Manager of The Chicago Tribune, to-night swore out a warrant for the arrest of George O. Glavis of Chicago, charging him with stealing books, documents, and papers, The Tribune's property, said to contain evidence of "moral turpitude of a United States Senator and other Government officers."

Wade H. Ellis, former Assistant to the Attorney General, has been engaged by The Tribune as its counsel. Mr. Keeley said to-night that Glavis came to him in Chicago some time ago and said that the books of a certain firm in Washington contained documentary evidence derogatory to a certain United States Senator and other officers of the Government.

"Mr. Glavis, as agent for The Tribune," said Mr. Keeley, "was authorized to purchase the business and all its books and papers, and was paid a certain amount of money to make the purchase. Mr. Glavis reported that he had made the purchase of the business and its records, but has declined to turn them over to The Tribune or to say what disposition has been made of them."

Glavis is said to be with an advertising agency in Chicago.

The Chicago Tribune was the original accuser of United States Senator William Lorimer, now the subject of a second inquiry by the United States Senate in relation to charges of bribery growing out of his election.

that they are commanding the best services of the profession as a whole.

"On May 24 I entered into the agreement with the Trustees. On June 6 I did my first official work. In considering whether I was justified in accepting the offer to supersede Mr. La Farge I looked on the professional aspects. I refused even to discuss the question until I had received formal assurance that, in the first place, the original contract with Mr. Heins and Mr. La Farge had been abrogated by the death of the senior partner in 1907; second, that the continued services of Mr. La Farge subsequent to the abrogation had been temporary, and for the purpose of completing contracts then in hand; third, that the Trustees declined to make a new contract with Mr. La Farge by which he would become architect for the Cathedral again; fourth, no proposal I made to the Trustees would hold if declared by the American Institute of Architects to be in contravention to the principles of professional practices as laid down by the institution.

His Legal and Ethical Status.

"I immediate received copies of all contracts with architects. It became clear that legally and professionally there was no reason to prevent my accepting the post. Beyond that there could only be the question of what might be called higher law—some aspects of a relation between members of the profession other than legal that would bind them together and control relations.

"As for that, I can say that no evidence has been offered by any one which led me to think I should sacrifice what I consider my duty to the church, to use such powers as I possess to give it the best possible expression at this time. I have distinct theories as to the proper architectural expression of the Church. They may be wrong, but in any case they are the result of twenty-five years' hard and consistent study of the history and architecture of churches.

"When I went to New York to see the Trustees I intended to go straight from the meeting to Mr. La Farge. In conversation with the Trustees at that meeting it developed that their decision not to retain Mr. La Farge as architect was irrevocable. I wanted him to be in. I therefore made a counter-proposal that they should have no man who could be called the architect of the cathedral, but should have Mr. La Farge, Mr. Vaughan of Boston, and myself as a commission of three. I put this in writing and sent it to all the members of the Board of Trustees to have action taken the following week. I considered it confidential, and that I had no right to talk of it to Mr. La Farge until they had acted, as I hoped, favorably. But my proposal was unanimously rejected, and at the same meeting I was unanimously elected consulting architect.

"The day after I received informal notice I wrote to Mr. La Farge, putting the whole matter before him and asking for a conference. In reply a letter came from Mr. Morris, his partner, saying that he had sailed three days before for Europe. This was the first intimation I had from any source that Mr. La Farge contemplated leaving the country. The situation was unfortunate, but this explains why I did not see him before he left.

"I have laid all these facts before the American Institute of Architects, as well as several prominent architects. They have all told me I was justified. A letter I received from an officer of the institute said: 'I think, from all I can learn, you are technically in the right, and I do not see but that your position is an ethical one as well.' A prominent New York architect wrote me, saying: 'I think your position is unassailable, and that you have done everything possible as an architect and a gentleman.' I have a complete set of documents from the Trustees and from the institute justifying my course. I believe my appointment will cause many 'kicks and knocks,' and I have foretold this to my friends. But I think this will cease when people know the facts."

While talking quickly and nervously, Mr. Cram appears to be thinking well in advance of his utterances. While another subject was being discussed, he suddenly leaned forward and said:

"I've got to think of this thing just as much as a churchman as an architect. I think more of the church than of architecture." Then he resumed the subject under discussion.

Some of the churches that the firm of Cram, Goodhue & Ferguson is now working on are St. Thomas's Church in New York, Calvary Church of Boston, and the Chapel at West Point. They have built the Halifax Cathedral and the Detroit Cathedral, and their plans for the Toronto Cathedral are being put into execution. They are also working on preliminary drawings for cathedrals in Baltimore, Los Angeles and Havana.

As consulting architect of Princeton University Mr. Cram designed the Graduate School and the Cleveland Tower. The firm is working on a building at Williams College and constructing the Rice Institute in Texas. Other academic buildings the firm has made designs for are at Richmond College, Va.; St. Mary's Convent at Peekskill, Phillips Exeter Academy, and the Wheaton Seminary. They have erected church buildings in almost every important city in the United States.

CAUSE OF THE BREAK.

Architects Attribute It to a Demand for the Gothic Style of Structure.

The cause of the break between the Trustees of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine and C. Grant La Farge, who, with the late George L. Heins, was the designer of the Cathedral, was generally discussed yesterday by architects in the city, and many of them did not think they had far to go to find it.

From what can be learned from them the Trustees insisted on forcing Mr. La Farge's design for a Romanesque edifice into a Gothic mold. To a large extent they have done so, it was said, against Mr. La Farge's will; and when they saw he was unwilling to modify further his winning plans to suit them—in fact, construct an almost totally different structure from that which he and Mr. Heins had planned—they failed to renew their contract with him for additional work, a thing which is generally construed to be nothing short of dismissal.

The very act of the Trustees in engaging Ralph Adams Cram as the successor to Mr. La Farge was itself regarded in architectural circles as confirmation of the report that the Trustees are insisting on a Gothic style of architecture for the Cathedral, and are willing to sacrifice one man to get it. As evidences of what has been going on in the matter of changing the original plans for the Cathedral, architects were quick to see significance in the statement of Dean William M. Grosvenor in The Times that not one window in the edifice so far erected had copied fully the Heins-La Farge design.

"If any one, whether an architect or not, will compare the two cuts in The Times," said an architect last night, "he will see that in the original drawing the great windows are rounded, Romanesque style. Mr. La Farge and Mr. Heins designed them that way on purpose, so that broad spaces would be left above them for paintings. This is said to have been something of a pet plan with Mr. La Farge, these spaces for handsome and appropriate paintings which are a feature of the interior decorations of all the great cathedrals of the world. But, so goes the report, the Trustees required him to so modify the original plans that the windows are now nearer Gothic than Romanesque, and so not quite either. That is, in the actual building so far constructed the windows are brought to a much sharper apex than Mr. La Farge designed them originally, and consequently little or no space has been left above them for paintings. But at that they are not sufficiently pointed to be true Gothic.

Another architect said that of all the penchants possessed by clergymen as a rule, that which ran to Gothic architecture in churches and cathedrals was the most pronounced.

"This is so very striking a characteristic of the cleric taste in architecture," he added, "that many architects haven't the courage when dealing with clergymen to admit that their designs are not pure Gothic, when as a matter of fact they are a modified Gothic. It would be almost absurd to erect a purely Gothic structure at present, and no architect, not even Mr. Cram himself, who is known to have an emphatic partiality for that style of architecture for church edifices, follows strictly the pure models. Practically all of Mr. Cram's churches are what might be called developed Gothic, but this point may not be pressed where clergymen are concerned."

Not an architect of those seen yesterday did not believe that the new Cathedral will in the end be far more of a Gothic structure than it would have been if Mr. La Farge had continued as the architect. It was generally agreed, in fact, that the work had not yet progressed sufficiently to prevent Mr. Cram from making whatever changes in the plans he may desire, or indeed proceeding on much modified or even wholly altered plans. Hardly more than the framework of the Cathedral has been built, and on this frame, architects are agreed, Mr. Cram's favorite developed Gothic cloak can be fitted.

Architects recalled the partiality of the Episcopal Church for Gothic styles. Reference was made to the fact that even when churchmen settled in the Virginia wilderness they essayed the preferred Gothic style as early as 1632 in old St. Luke's Church, near Smithfield, that State, a church which is yet used as a place of worship by Episcopalians.

A growing reluctance on the part of the clergymen among the Trustees to depart from this cherished Gothic is believed among architects to be fully sufficient to explain the failure of the Cathedral officials to continue Mr. La Farge on the work and their selection of Mr. Cram to advise them in the future.

Benjamin W. Morris, Mr. La Farge's partner, had nothing to add to his statement in The Times of yesterday, but he did reply to one direct question.

"Was there ever a row between Mr. La Farge and the Cathedral Trustees over changes in the plans?" he was asked.

Bertram G. Goodhue, the New York representative of the firm of Cram, Goodhue & Ferguson, said he was anxious to make one thing perfectly plain.

"From reading in this morning's Times the statement by Mr. Morris," he said, "it might be inferred that Mr. Cram did not let Mr. La Farge know what was going on as promptly as he might have done. In other words, that he waited until Mr. La Farge had sailed for Europe before writing that letter of June 6, to which Mr. Morris refers. To the best of my knowledge and belief Mr. Cram wrote to Mr. La Farge immediately after he had been approached by the Trustees. There was, perhaps, an interchange of letters between Mr. Cram and the Trustees, but as soon as there was anything tangible to write about Mr. Cram wrote to Mr. La Farge."

CONGRESS DIVIDES ON DIRECT ELECTIONS

ONLY TWO DESERT PARTY

Hope Among House Leaders That the Senate Will Recede—Speaker Clark Stifles a Boom for Him.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The House refused this afternoon, after four hours' debate, to concur in the Bristow amendment to the resolution for the election of Senators by the people, the vote being 112 for concurrence and 172 against. Under the Constitutional requirement it would have taken, of the total vote cast, 190 to have carried the amendment. Party lines were broken only by Mr. Sells, Republican, of Tennessee and Mr. Burke, Democrat, of Wisconsin. Mr. Berger, Socialist, voted with the minority.

The Bristow amendment leaves with Congress as now provided in the Constitution the power to regulate the time and manner of holding Senatorial elections, while the resolution passed by the House during the early days of the present session would change the Constitution so that "the times, places, and manner of holding elections for Senators shall be as prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof."

Interest now centres in the parliamentary situation of the resolution. Speaker Clark took counsel of several of the best parliamentarians of the House, among them Asher Hinds, the former parliamentary clerk to Speaker Cannon, and reached the conclusion that the best course to pursue was to "message" the resolution with the action of the House back to the Senate and leave it to that body to decide what action to take. Mr. Mann, the Republican leader, held stoutly that the Senate could not take the amendment off the resolution without a two-thirds vote. This would be interesting in view of the fact that it was put on through a tie of 44 to 44, with Vice President Sherman casting the deciding vote.

It is believed by the friends of the measure, however, that the future for the resolution is easy, as the Senate by a majority vote can reconsider the resolution and amendment, which could then be defeated by the change of a vote. The unbroken alignment of the Democrats in the House against Federal interference in elections in the States for Representatives and Senators may cause the change.

The motion that the House concur in the Senate amendment was made by Representative Olmsted, Republican, of Pennsylvania. Those who spoke for it were Messrs. Young of Michigan, Norris, Moon of Pennsylvania, Cannon, Prouty, Jackson, Madden, and Mann, Republicans, and those against it Messrs. Rucker of Missouri, Cullop, Hardy, Clark of Florida, Sherley, Witherspoon, Sisson, Hughes of New Jersey, Randell, Richardson, and Heflin, all Democrats.

The Democrats protested that the people of the States could safely be intrusted with the power of controlling the elections of their Congressmen, while the Republicans contended that such delegation of authority would take from Congress power which it should retain.

Representative Rucker of Missouri, in charge of the resolution on the Democratic side, declared that it was "the command of the American people that the election of United States Senators be taken out of the market."

"I have no fear of the people" he said, "but of the combination behind closed doors which trample on the most sacred rights of the people. Give the States just a little more power and we'll take the Lumber Trust, the Sugar, and all other trusts out of politics."

Representative Mann, on the other side, asserted that this was an attempt of the Democrats to accomplish indirectly what they had been unable to do directly.

"You are afraid," he added, "that your grandfather clauses will be declared unconstitutional."

"I have spoken on the stump for ten years in favor of the direct election of Senators," said Representative Prouty of Iowa, "but I would prefer to leave the Constitution as it now stands rather than yield any of the power of the Federal Government to the States."

The mention of Speaker Clark as a Presidential possibility brought forth prolonged applause and created an amusing situation during the debate. The Speaker rapped in vain for silence.

"Why did not the Speaker stop the noise by summoning the Sergeant at Arms and closing the doors?" asked Mr. Rucker facetiously. After the laugh which this "parliamentary inquiry" evoked had subsided, Mr. Rucker started to conclude his remarks on the direct election of Senators resolution.

"The gentleman's time has expired," announced Mr. Clark. This time the laugh was on Mr. Rucker. He insisted that the time which had been used in applauding the Speaker should not be counted, but the Speaker refused to interpret the rule in that way, and Mr. Rucker sat down.

PARDONS IN PEONAGE CASES.

Taft Thinks Harlan, Hilton, and Huggins Have Been Sufficiently Punished.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—President Taft to-day ordered the immediate release of W. S. Harlan, C. C. Hilton, and S. E. Huggins of the Jackson Lumber Company of Lockhart, Ala., who are now serving sentences in the Atlanta Penitentiary for peonage. Formal action commuting their sentences to expire immediately and remitting their fines, will be issued in a day or two.

The President extended Executive clemency to the men at the request of Senator Fletcher of Florida, who has been active in their behalf for some time. It is understood that before leaving for New Haven yesterday he told the Senator he believed the men had been punished enough. Two other men, Gallagher and Grace, convicted at the same time and for the same offense, are not included in the clemency, but it is understood that Senator Fletcher has asked President Taft to release them.

The cases of the five men have attracted wide attention. Harlan is a successful lumberman, of some wealth. President Taft first commuted his original sentence to six months and a fine of $5,000. He later applied for pardon and the President refused it. Hilton was sentenced to six months and fined $1,000, and Huggins received a like sentence and fine. Grace, however, was sentenced to thirteen months and fined $1,000, and Gallagher was sentenced to fifteen months and fined $1,000.

The general charge against the men was that they had imported foreign laborers from New York to a lumber camp in Alabama and forcibly detained them there.

ure. In this agitation against countenancing any kind of an amendment to the Reciprocity bill some of the ablest Democrats in the House are taking an active part.

Messrs. Burleson and Henry of Texas and Kitchin of North Carolina, who were among the first to be approached upon the subject, promptly threw cold water on the scheme, and are busy putting the House Democrats on guard against the movement, which is said to contemplate also tacking the proposed House Cotton bill on the Reciprocity bill, and thereby insuring the defeat, through a Presidential veto, of the entire tariff programme of the House Democrats.

In regard to this proposal, as it has been broached to leading Democrats of the House, Representative Henry of Texas to-night said:

"Yes, I have heard of the shrewd scheme to tack a modified free list bill and wool schedule to the Reciprocity bill in the Senate and return them to the House with the idea that the House would concur in these amendments. In fact, I have been drawn into conversation with a view of getting my position on the subject. I do not hesitate to give my views of this shrewd scheme, and really think the American people should be warned of the plan thus devised to destroy the Reciprocity bill already passed by the House. I am utterly opposed to any such plan.

"In my judgment, reciprocity as passed in the House is as valuable to the American people as either one of the two bills, for the simple reason that it pulls down the pillars from the temple of Republican protection, and as Democrats we cannot afford to lose this important victory by now turning around and combining with the relentless enemies of at least two of our pet measures of tariff reform."

Before the wool bill fight in the Senate to-day interest centred in a speech of Senator Root, in which he admitted that his amendment to the reciprocity bill would be defeated, and pleaded for wider reciprocity, even free trade, with Canada.

Gore Surprises the Senate.

The regulars opposed the Gore motion for nearly five hours, in which every argument from that of Senatorial courtesy toward the committee in charge of the bill to the technical difficulties involved in the woolen schedule, was invoked to prevent the passage of the motion. Mr. Gore's action came as a surprise even to most of his Democratic colleagues, and it was not until the earnest protests of the regular Republicans were heard that the Democrats awoke to their opportunity.

The fight began when the Underwood Wool bill came over from the House early in the afternoon. In the regular course of business it would have gone to the Finance Committee, where the leaders had planned to let it lie indefinitely. Mr. Gore, however, interposed his motion.

Mr. Gallinger was the first of the regulars to realize what had happened. He urged all the traditions of the Senate, the courtesy due to the Finance Committee, and the importance and complications of the bill under consideration as arguments against fixing an early date for the report.

Mr. Penrose, Chairman of Finance, took the same tone and with unusual energy chided the Democrats for their haste. In view of the vast interests involved in the woolen schedule, which had been the work of years, he declared it inconceivable that the motion, which he called a "piece of shallow demagogism," could have been seriously intended. "But," he added, "if the Senator merely wished to attract the attention of the country to his devotion to tariff revision, now that the purpose is accomplished, I hope the motion will not prevail."

For once the regulars were put in the position so often occupied by the insurgents of openly threatening a filibuster. Strangely enough, it was the dignified Mr. Lodge of Massachusetts who first suggested it, though Mr. Penrose at once eagerly seized upon it. They said that debate could be made on Mr. Gore's motion as well as on the bill itself, and they promised that the session would continue until the snows came before a vote could be reached. They also declared that to bring the woolen schedule before the Senate while reciprocity was pending would tend to delay and imperil the Canadian measure.

Threats of a Wide Tariff Revision.

The attitude of the insurgents was soon made apparent. They have been smarting under criticisms of their opposition to reciprocity, and here was the opportunity to show that they really stood by their former demand for lower tariff duties. Senators Cummins, Nelson, Crawford, La Follette, Jones, and other Northwestern members, who had said their opposition to the Reciprocity bill lay in its discrimination against the agricultural interests, declared emphatically that before a vote would be permitted on it they would insist that the other schedules of the tariff be taken up, and would try to tack many of them upon the reciprocity measure.

Senators Martin and Williams were alert to help along the Republican division. When one of the regulars had pointed to the danger to the Reciprocity bill he demanded:

"If the Senate wants to defeat the Reciprocity bill why should it not be permitted to do so, if in its judgment that is the best course to pursue."

Mr. Bailey declared he intended to offer the Free List bill as an amendment to the reciprocity measure.

"This reciprocity measure is the opening wedge which, if adopted, is certain to destroy the protective principle," exclaimed Mr. Dixon, Republican, of Montana. "It shows that the farmer has nothing to expect from protection, and that means the death knell of protection. And there are others who agree with me."

He declared that if the Reciprocity bill was to pass he would fight for a general tariff revision, so that the whole country might feel the effects of the pulling down of the protective tariff wall.

"If you are in earnest," said Mr. Williams, "just come up to the mark; we'll help you make your promise good."

The first test vote came shortly after 6 o'clock, when Mr. Gallinger, the Majority Leader, moved to adjourn. Senator Nelson of Minnesota, a regular, and 10 insurgents voted with the Democrats, and the motion was lost by a vote of 35 to 21. Not a Democrat bolted on the question. The Republicans, who voted with the Democrats, were Mr. Bristow of Kansas, Brown of Nebraska, Clapp and Nelson of Minnesota, Crawford of South Dakota, Cummins and Kenyon of Iowa, Gronna of North Dakota, La Follette of Wisconsin, Poindexter of Washington, and Works of California.

Mr. La Follette then declared that the Democrats had been baiting the Republican progressives on their principles of downward tariff revision, and his reply was that he favored a coupling of many tariff schedules with the reciprocity bill.

"I believe the Executive, who got his election on the promise of a downward revision of the tariff, will not dare withhold his approval from a bill that enacts into laws this Canadian pact, and at the same time enacts reductions in duty in these important tariff schedules," he said.

Mr. Cummins declared he was convinced the Senate Finance Committee did not intend to report any bill affecting the tariff other than the reciprocity bill.

"I am prepared to consider carefully a revision of the woolen tariff," said Mr. Penrose in reply. "It has been on the statute books many years and conditions may have changed. But we have a Tariff Board making a minute inquiry into every phase of it. We have hundreds of people who have asked for hearings and to be allowed to submit arguments to our comittee, and we have before us simply a bill that was drawn without hearings and without recourse to detailed information or recent statistics."

Cummins Threatens Long Fight.

Mr. Cummins declared his belief that Congress had just entered upon a revision of the tariff "from beginning to end."

"I speak for myself and for no other man," he said, "that my vote shall not be cast for the adjournment of this session, provided the Canadian reciprocity bill passes, until all tariff schedules containing injustices have been changed. At the same moment that this agreement passes we should take from the shoulders of the people the unjust taxation under which they labor. I intend to bring to this Senate proposals for the revision of many schedules before the agreement with Canada is voted on. We might as well be plain about it. The time for concealment has passed."

Senator Borah was equally emphatic in his denunciation of the agreement, and in the declaration of his intentions to assist in general tariff revision.

"The Canadian agreement was drawn elsewhere than in this Senate," he said, "and was sent here with the injunction that it must pass. I wish to say that before this agreement can pass I shall bring into this chamber for revision every section of the Payne-Aldrich bill. I do not want to criticise the Finance Committee, but I am convinced that the sooner we get to work on the general tariff measure the better it will be."

Senator Jones, while announcing his intention to vote for the agreement, declared that the revision of a large number of schedules would be advisable. Heretofore Mr. Jones has been counted with the regulars and his utterances occasioned surprise.

It was 8:15 o'clock when the motion was put to a vote. The regulars saw that they were beaten and did not seriously push a filibuster. After that the Senate adjourned.

Root Admits He Is Beaten.

The day began with Mr. Root's announced speech on reciprocity. It had been expected that he would address himself particularly to his amendment, which would prevent the paper and pulp schedule from going into effect until all Canadian restrictions had been removed. Except for a few fugitive references, however, he confined himself to a careful and strong championship of reciprocity. He admitted that his amendment would be defeated, and, though he argued that it tended to preserve the spirit of the original agreement, he did not press it. With the exception of the paper section, he said, the bill as passed by the House adhered to the terms of the agreement.

He defended the President vigorously against the charge of having improperly sent the agreement to Congress after having improperly negotiated it. Mr. Taft's course throughout, said Mr. Root, was in accordance with precedent and official propriety. He insisted, however, that it appeared before the Senate simply as any other bill recommended by the President, and that it had to be passed and could be amended by the legislative branch.

"The agreement submitted by the President," said Mr. Root, "meets my earnest approval and for many reasons. For long years of labor I negotiated for friendly relations with Canada, and I acquired then that habit of mind. But I haven't been permitted to retain that attitude in any placid or untroubled mood. It is impossible for me to steel myself against the protest of the farmers and paper manufacturers of Upper New York, who say this measure will ruin them. They are the people of whom I was born and among whom I grew up."

He declared, however, that reciprocity carried with it for the whole country benefits out of all proportion to the particular difficulties it imposed on particular communities.

He said no one could be blind to the change of sentiment in the country upon the tariff question. The Canadian agreement, negotiated in a Republican Administration and backed by a general popular support, was a great evidence of this change.

"There is not the least possibility, unless there is another revolution of sentiment," said Senator Root, "that the people will ever permit their cost of living to be increased by duties on their ordinary foodstuffs, when the consumption equals the limit of production in this country."

Freer Trade with Panama.

He believed the abolition of the tariff walls between the States in the Union had been the greatest factor toward the peace and development of this country.

"In my opinion," he went on, "the existence of a political line between Canada and the United States does not militate against the proposition that the taking down of the tariff wall between these two kindred countries will bring the same great benefits that followed the establishment of free trade between our States."

Senator Dixon of Montana said his opposition to the reciprocity agreement was that it made free trade in agricultural products, while it left a protective duty on manufactured products.

Senator Root replied that the agreement was a reciprocal arrangement; that both countries had gone as far as they could in the agreement.

"There is nothing to prevent this country going as far as it likes in cutting down other duties," declared Senator Root. "If it is found that the duties on New York's manufactured products are unjustly high, then those duties ought to be and probably would be cut down."

"Do you believe this bill will be a step toward still freer trade with Canada in the future?" asked Senator Williams of Mississippi.

"I do," said Senator Root. "I hope, as did the House when it passed the bill, that other steps will be taken to open still further the doors to mutual trade."

He scouted annexation ideas, saying: "Canada has become a nation. The political line will continue between the two countries. He urged a policy of far-sighted diplomacy with Canada, in order that the two countries might be brought into close relations. He characterized as "idiotic and stupid" the constant refusals of this country to entertain Canada's former proposals for reciprocity.

"Now is the time," he declared; "if we love our whole country and are willing to look far into the future, to shape our policy so that our strength shall help Canada and Canada's strength shall help us; so that an enduring friendship of each country for the other shall make this great English-speaking continent the strongest, most properous, and happiest part of the world."

Mann Opposes Root Amendment.

Mr. Root had hardly concluded his speech in the Senate before Mr. Mann, the House minority leader, who headed the Wood Pulp Commission two years ago, asked unanimous consent in that body to "proceed for fifteen minutes." When Speaker Clark asked what he wanted to "proceed" on, Mr. Mann explained he had a few observations to make on the Root amendment. The House turned to him unanimously and he "proceeded." Mr. Mann has studied the wood pulp question until every one in the House at least defers to his information and judgment.

The cause of the speech was the disposition of some Western newspapers and of different Senators to say that the Root amendment would make the Reciprocity bill conform to the reciprocity agreement as it was negotiated. This Mr. Mann denied.

"I prepared the original draft of the provision in the reciprocity agreement, which sets forth the condition precedent upon which paper might be brought from Canada into the United States free of duty," he said, "and I prepared the provision in the Reciprocity bill in reference to pulp and paper, and the provision in the bill absolutely follows the provision in the agreement.

"The Root amendment destroys the agreement as to pulp and paper. It completely prevents the importation of paper free from Canada, or of paper into Canada from here free. It would be plainer than the Root amendment, but no more effective, if we should add at the end of the pulp and paper provision in the bill the further provision 'this section shall never take effect,' because that is the practical effect of the Root amendment.

"If Ontario, for instance, has the power, by refusing to permit the exportation of its pulp wood, to keep the law from having any effect, it will exercise that power, and under the Root amendment that province would have such power.

"The pulp and paper section as we passed it will greatly benefit the American reader, the American school children, the American newspaper, the American manufacturer of news print paper, the Canadian manufacturer of news print paper, the Canadian owner of pulp wood, and the Canadian pulp wood forests. It tends to make available the raw material and to prevent undue increase in price of the finished product; but the Root amendment will render the whole provision ineffective and of no value. Its adoption would put up the price of print paper in the United States and would prevent our obtaining the raw material from Canada.

"Canada has the great pulp wood forests; we have the great consuming public. The pulp wood forests of Canada are of little value unless we furnish a market for the product into which they may be converted. We are great consumers of the paper into which the Canadian forests may be converted. Common sense dictates that we enter into an arrangement which is mutually profitable both to us and to Canada."

HOW THE TRUST GOT BEET SUGAR PLANTS

Bought Into Six in Michigan, Combined Them, and Increased the Capital to $12,500,000.

NO CONTRACT ABOUT PRICES

But Havemeyer Wrote When They Were Going Up or Down—Son Favors Federal Regulation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The Hardwick Sugar Trust Committee to-day entered on a new chapter of its inquiry—the absorption of beet sugar factories by H. O. Havemeyer and the American Sugar Refining Company. Charles H. Warren of Detroit, President and general counsel of the Michigan Sugar Refining Company, told how the six beet sugar factories in Michigan started and continued business for a period and then, after indifferent success and in some cases failure, had reorganized into one concern, the Michigan Sugar Company, and sold a controlling interest to Mr. Havemeyer for the American Sugar Refining Company. There are now in the concern six sugar factories, six by-product factories making cattle feeds from pulp, and one vinegar factory.

Besides manufacturing sugar and pulp for feed, the company sells about 5 per cent. of its entire product in the form of molasses, from which another company makes alcohol. The business of this concern is so large that it paid over $1,000,000 in internal revenue taxes last year.

Mr. Warren said the capital stock of the Michigan Sugar Company consisted of $5,000,000 preferred stock and $7,500,000 common. Of this there was issued $11,174,600. By means of a committee of twelve stockholders, two from each company, the original consolidation was perfected and the new stock was issued back to the original stockholders, certain drawbacks being made for outstanding bonds or debt. Of the stock of the new company there was transferred to the Havemeyer interests $9,287,000 on Sept. 19, 1906. The original capital of the company was only $62,500.

At present, said the witness, the American Sugar Refining Company owns 35 per cent. of the common stock and 35 per cent. of the preferred stock of the Michigan company. This admission, it was pointed out by members of the committee, is in contradiction to statements made by representatives of the Michigan concern before the Ways and Means Committee of the House two years ago. It was then maintained that the American Sugar Refining Company had no interest in the Michigan beet sugar corporation.

Mr. Hardwick pressed the witness with a long series of questions based on statements made by District Attorney Wise in the bill filed against the American Sugar Refining Company in the suit pending in the United States Circuit Court for the Southern District of New York. The aim was to determine whether or not Mr. Warren had not acted as trustee to hold the Havemeyer stock, and was in fact the agent of the American Sugar Refining Company.

This Mr. Warren denied strenuously, although Mr. Hardwick, reading from the bill, showed that there had stood in Mr. Warren's name from time to time very large amounts of stock, the highest at one time being 87,165 shares. Mr. Warren said he owned $455,000 worth of stock of the Michigan Sugar Company and no more, and had never been a trustee holding stock for any man or set of men. If it appeared so anywhere that was because an official of the company had placed stock in his name in blank.

Chairman Hardwick did not lose the chance to ask this witness whether or not there was a gentlemen's agreement as to prices. He asked if the Michigan Sugar Company and the American Sugar Refining Company had any contract as to prices.

"Pardon me," said Mr. Warren, "we have no contracts with them of any character or kind."

"In restraint of trade or otherwise?" asked Chairman Hardwick.

"In restraint of trade or otherwise; no agreements about the marketing of sugar or price or agency," replied Warren.

"Do you ever have suggestions from the American Sugar Refining Company as to policy?"

"Since Mr. Thomas has been President of the American Sugar Refining Company, and his successors, whoever they are now, no suggestions have been made."

"When Mr. Havemeyer used to run the American Sugar Refining Company, did he ever make suggestions?" pursued Hardwick.

"When Mr. Havemeyer used to run the American he occasionally used to write letters about what he thought about whether sugar was going up or down; but he did not give any instructions."

"Did you follow his lead pretty well?"

"Never."

"You took the opposite side?"

"No, because the Michigan Sugar Company has marketed all the sugar it could market all the time."

"Whether the price of sugar was going up or not?"

"Regardless of price."

The committee finished to-day with the hearing of Horace Havemeyer, son of the late H. O. Havemeyer, who began his testimony yesterday and registered his forcible denials of statements made by previous witnesses in regard to his father's operations in organizing the Sugar Trust. Young Mr. Havemeyer, in the course of his replies to questions, matched E. H. Gary's opinion that there should be Government regulation of prices. He said that this had worked with the railroads, and he would think a Government commission could regulate prices to the advantage of consumer and manufacturer. He would not have the commission fix prices, as was suggested by Chairman Hardwick, but simply regulate.

Mr. Havemeyer again expressed a belief that the consumers of sugar had benefited by the creation of combinations because producing cost had been reduced. In response to Representative Fordney the witness said the consumer certainly was paying no more for sugar than he did before the combinations.

England is the cheapest place in the world where sugar may be purchased, the witness said.

"Why is that; because of free trade?" inquired Representative Fordney.

"Well, I don't know—I haven't made a study of that," remarked the young millionaire.

Mr. Havemeyer went over the story of the investments of Mr. Senff, C. J. Welch, and himself in sugar lands in the Philippines. He said that they had bought individually from the Philippine Government 50,000 acres, and the Mindoro Company, which they organized under the laws of New Jersey, had bought 200 acres contiguous to the other tract. They had under construction a large factory which would be completed and in operation within a year. They were working now 500 acres, and had steam plows running day and night during the cultivating season.

One of the most amusing features of the investigation was a solemn investigation for an hour by Mr. Malby of New York, based on H. O. Havemeyer's testimony ten years ago before the Industrial Commission. Question after question was rolled out at young Havemeyer on events connected with the sugar business when he was a baby in long dresses. He smiled good naturedly as the ordeal progressed and answered as well as he could from hearsay, but several times protested that he was only one year old at the time Mr. Malby had in mind and could not answer.

LOAN "SHARKS" SHUT OUT.

Secretary Nagel Will Not Permit Assignment of Salaries to Them.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel has issued an order forbidding any assignment or making over of salary by an employ of the department as security for a loan, or under any circumstances to loan brokerage concerns.

Assignments may be made to members of employe's families and to banks for deposit to the credit of the employe's account. Loan "sharks" are thus crippled in their operations.

Business Troubles

arise from time to time in the general run of industrial establishments. The manager who can develop team work in his organization, so as to keep his business out of trouble, is the one who is successful.

When things do not seem to move just right it is the fault of the organization, but how to locate the weak spot is the difficulty. My experience enables me to effect the solution of just such problems.

A Paris shop-keeper wrote to one of his customers as follows:

"I am able to offer you cloth like the enclosed sample at nine francs a metre. In case I do not hear from you I will conclude that you wish to pay only eight francs. In order to lose no time I accept the offer."

There are two kinds of bargains. There is the kind of advertising which can be bought cheap, and there is the kind of advertising which delivers the goods. It is a bargain to be able to buy space in a medium like Farm and Fireside to reach so many thoughtful, prosperous and approachable farm homes, but it is a bargain that is open to every manufacturer at the same price. It is an universal bargain. No manufacturer is able to get this service for less than any other manufacturer. The bargain lies in what Farm and Fireside does; not in what you pay.

BIGGEST OF LINERS GETS NOISY WELCOME

TWELVE TUGS BERTH HER

Passengers Enjoyed Her Maiden Voyage and Found the Big Ship Just Like a Hotel.

Standing so high out of the water that the throng waiting on the pier could barely see the tops of her four smokestacks as she came alongside, the world's biggest liner, the Olympic, was safely moored with the assistance of twelve tugs at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in her berth, Pier 59 North River.

With the exception of a playful touch given to the stern of a tugboat, drawn under the counter of the Olympic by the suction of the tide, that carried away the flagstaff, the liner was made fast without accident to the newly extended pier. This was a delicate task for Pilot Julius Adler and Capt. E. J. Smith. The docking took the better part of an hour, as there was a delay in getting the ship far enough in to allow her gangways to be opened, and even then only one was available for the first-cabin passengers.

The Olympic left Quarantine at 7:45, and was saluted on her way up the harbor by all kinds of craft, from tiny motor boats to the ferryboats plying on the North River and lower bay. The Cunarder Lusitania swung out into the river at 9 o'clock, just after the Olympic had passed and gave the small army of photographers on the piers a chance for a good picture of the two big ships.

The Lusitania did not salute the latest addition to the Atlantic fleet as she passed either by whistle or dipping the ensign, which was generally done by other liners moored at their piers along the water front. It was thought that in the hurry of getting his ship under way and receiving congratulations on his coronation honor of Commander of the Bath, Capt. Charles, skipper of the Lusitania, overlooked the Olympic as she passed the Cunard pier.

Looked a Real Monster.

The view of the liner at Quarantine as she loomed up off Staten Island gave an impression of immense bulk to observers. She looked to be a genuine sea monster. Two daring passengers emerged through the cloud of galley smoke coming up from the depth and waved their hats as they walked around the rim inside the top of the fourth funnel, which is devoted to the carrying off of the foul air exhausted by the electric ventilators and smoke of the kitchens and auxiliaries. A ladder inside led to a small circular platform at the top.

The Olympic made the journey from Daunt's Rock to the Ambrose Channel Lightship in 5 days 16 hours and 42 minutes, at an average speed of 21.17 knots, without being forced, Chief Engineer John Bell said. With the exception of a strong northeast breeze with rough sea on June 17 the new liner experienced fine weather all the way across.

Capt. Smith said she had done all that was expected of her, and behaved splendidly. There was no really bad weather to try her seagoing qualities, but he felt confident that the Olympic would be steady under stormy conditions of weather.

"Will she ever dock on Tuesday?" he was asked.

"No," he replied emphatically, "and there will be no attempt to bring her in on Tuesday. She was built for a Wednesday ship, and her run this first voyage has demonstrated that she will fulfill the expectations of the builders."

The ship brought over 489 first class, 263 second class, and 564 steerage passengers, a total of 1,316, with 2,500 bags of mail and about 2,000 tons of cargo.

The impression of hugeness given by the external appearance of the Olympic is intensified on entering the interior of the ship where the amount of space on every deck cannot fail to impress the observer. The saloons, staterooms, bathrooms, swimming pool, smoking rooms, lounges, squash and racket courts, promenade decks, and dining saloon are so large that they resemble the rooms of a large Summer hotel more than those of a ship.

The alleyways are so wide that there is no danger of that peculiar jostling that passengers inflict as they pass each other in rough weather on smaller ships. It would not be very difficult for two elephants to walk abreast down the main alleyways on the Olympic. When passengers were asked for an expression of opinion about the accommodations on the liner they referred to her as "just a big hotel in which it was a hard task to imagine one's self afloat, she was so steady." One passenger said it was difficult to remember off-hand whether the barber's shop was on E deck and the squash court on B deck or vice versa.

Miles and Miles.

Purser McElroy averred that the daily tour of inspection, which he made at 10:30 A. M. with Capt. Smith, Dr. O'Loughlin, and Chief Steward Latimer, was fully nine miles. The Captain computed the distance at one-third of that, while the surgeon insisted that it seemed like nine miles.

The stewards all appeared to be good walkers and had ample opportunities for judging distances. The main dining saloon, with seating accommodation for 532 persons, has a width of ninety-two feet, being the widest part of the ship. To the onlooker standing in the reception room at the foot of the main companion, where hats and coats are checked, it looks like hanging one's hat up in Times Square and walking down to Thirty-fourth Street and Broadway to eat.

This is realized by the waiters, to whom an order for another slice of bread or a glass of water means a walk of 300 or 400 feet. Distance made no difference to the service, passengers said. The most agile among the stewards is the night watchman, who has to cover alleyways 550 feet long with staterooms on either side. While he is going to answer a bell at one end another rings at the other end of the alleyway, and the watchman has to glide swiftly to keep up with his calls so that they do not get ahead of him. It was noticeable yesterday that there were no fat, comfortable-looking stewards on the Olympic.

One of the difficult tasks for the second steward is to get his men together when there is some job to be done that requires a squad of stewards to handle it. When the Olympic left Quarantine for her pier, he started to find the delinquents who had not mustered on C deck to assist with the baggage, doing what is known aboard ship as "soldiering." After walking up and down the five decks the second steward found a man sitting calmly in a quiet alleyway leading to the squash and racquet court, away from the busy throng. In an impressive manner he asked:

"Why aren't you working on that baggage with the rest of the gang? I am not going to try to round you up again as it would be impossible for me to keep track of you, but remember this, I may not see you again to-day, Mivvins, but I shall see you some day, and if you don't get to work on the baggage the meeting will be very interesting for you."

James Bruce Ismay, President of the International Mercantile Marine, which owns the White Star Line, was a passenger. He said he was greatly pleased with the ship and the satisfaction she had given to the passengers on her maiden voyage. There were a few minor details that might be corrected in the next ship, the Titanic, he said, but nothing of any importance. Mr. Ismay appeared to be especially interested in the squash and racquet court, which was so popular on the trip that the passengers were limited to half-hour games.

A Great Achievement.

H. P. Davison, a partner of J. P. Morgan, also a passenger, said that in his opinion, the Olympic is the achievement of the age. Mr. Morgan went to Southampton to see him off, and will return on the next westward trip of the Olympic with Lord Pirrie, head of Harland & Woolff of Belfast, the builders of the ship.

The decorations on the Olympic are an elaboration of the White Star liners of the Adriatic type, with the addition of carved mahoghany panels in the spacious smoking room, bronze reliefs and [illegible] in the companion ways and [illegible] hangings in the lounges, but the most luxurious of them all in its appointments is the a la carte restaurant on the bridge deck, 60 by 45 feet, decorated in Louis XVI. style, paneled in French walnut, and hung with Arbusson tapestries. The deck is covered with a fine rug of Rose de Bari tint.

The big dining saloon with its double ports is decorated in the early Jacobian English, after Haddon Hall, in white instead of carved oak. Comfortable arm chairs, upholstered in green leather, are provided for the passengers, instead of the usual small seats, and they are not screwed down to the deck, as the Olympic is considered to be too steady a ship to cavort wildly in any sea.

The principal attraction of her five decks in the first-class, is the promenade deck, which is 530 feet long and 30 feet wide. There are also two other promenade decks for use of the passengers.

The second-class, which has seven decks, is equally well appointed, and has numerous persons to look after the wants of the passengers.

The majority of the first-class staterooms are fitted with brass bedsteads, and the upper berths are on hinges on the Pullman plan. The suites on B and C decks are decorated in the styles of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. The twelve most expensive ones consist of parlor, two bedrooms, two dressing rooms and bath. All the good rooms are fitted with wardrobes with full length mirrors.

The swimming bath, which is 30 by 14 and 9 feet in depth, was popular on the voyage. It is free from 6 to 9 A. M., it was said, and can also be used later as a plunge for the Turkish baths, which cost $1.

Passengers said that there was very little vibration from the two reciprocating and the centre turbine engines, which develop 46,000 horse power to drive the ship through the water. The thud of the wing propellers, however, could be plainly felt in the after end of the dining saloon and in the smoking room, it was said. The Olympic will be open for inspection to-morrow and Saturday to the public at a charge of 50 cents, to be given to charities.

Mayors Exchange Greetings.

One of the passengers bore a special message to Mayor Gaynor from the Mayor of Southampton, Col. E. Bance. It read:

> The Mayor's Parlor,
> Municipal Buildings, Southampton.
>
> The Mayor and his fellow-townsmen of Southampton send greetings and congratulations to the Mayor and his fellow-citizens of New York upon the advent of the Olympic, another link in the chain of friendship binding our two countries together in terms of peace and amity. BANCE, Mayor.

To this Mayor Gaynor replied by cable:

> Bance, Mayor of Southampton.
>
> The Olympic is arrived, and the Mayor of New York returns his congratulations and those of the people of New York to you and your people. Some day we will return the compliment by sending over to you a still bigger ship.
> W. J. GAYNOR, Mayor.

One of the first persons to board the Olympic after she had made fast to her pier was Police Commissioner Waldo, who, with his wife, was there to meet Mrs. John W. Norton, his sister-in-law. After finding a seat for Mrs. Waldo in the companion hall on the promenade deck the Commissioner started at a rapid gait to find their relative. The third time he came up the companion from the lower decks he murmured, "There's an awful lot of space here on this ship," then he wiped the perspiration from under his Panama and ascended to another deck in his quest for Mrs. Norton.

Impressive Olympic Figures.

In length the Olympic overtops by 182½ feet the tower of the Metropolitan Building, and by 132½ feet the height of the new Woolworth Building. She is four times as long as the Bunker Hill Monument is high, and 327 feet longer than the height of the Washington Monument. Here are some other big things about her:

Registered tonnage	45,000
Length, feet	882
From keel to boat deck, feet	97
Funnels above casing, feet	72
From keel to funnel tops, feet	157
Number of steel decks	11
Watertight compartments	15
Passenger capacity	2,500
Number of crew	860
Weight of electrically operated rudder, tons	100
Weight of anchors, each, tons	22
Each link in anchor chain, pounds	175

She has also 2,000 sidelights and windows. Three million rivets, weighing in all about 1,200 tons, are used in her. Altogether she represents an investment of $10,000,000.

Court's Express License Injunction.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Arnold Charles Weil said yesterday that the injunctions granted by Judge Lacombe on Tuesday to various express companies against the city in regard to the operation of the ordinance requiring licenses for wagons and drivers of such companies had been misunderstood. Judge Lacombe, said Mr. Weil, held that the ordinance required all express companies to pay a license fee of $5 on each wagon and 50 cents for each driver, and that such ordinance was legal, reasonable, and enforceable. The only provisions of the ordinance which were enjoined, said Mr. Weil, were those providing that the express business itself, among others, must be licensed.

Asks Help for Consumptive Hospitals.

At the request of the Tuberculosis Committee of the Charity Organization Society, Benjamin C. Marsh has written a letter to members of the Board of Estimate, asking an increase in certain appropriations for hospitals which treat consumptives. Mr. Marsh says the situation is critical, and much more can be done than either the city or public-spirited people are now doing.

TWO DIE OF CHOLERA OUTSIDE THE PORT

TWO SUSPECTED SHIPS FREE

Three transatlantic steamships were held in Quarantine yesterday because of an inspection for cholera. The Austro-American liner Laura, from Trieste, June 3, and Palermo, June 7, with eighty-nine first and 245 steerage passengers, was detained until late in the day because of two deaths and some sickness on board. The inspection showed that none of the cases was cholera. The North German Lloyd liner Barbarossa, from Bremen, June 10, with 254 cabin and 809 steerage passengers, was held because of the death of an infant on the voyage. Examination proved that the infant's death was not the result of cholera. The third liner was the Italian steamship Duca degli Abruzzi, which has been anchored in Quarantine since Tuesday afternoon.

Two deaths from cholera since the Abruzzi arrived here, and one death at sea, is the reason for the detention of this vessel with all of her cabin and steerage passengers. Dr. A. H. Doty, Health Officer, reports that there were six cholera patients on the Abruzzi during the voyage from Naples, which began on June 7. One death from cholera when the vessel was at sea was not reported on Tuesday.

The Abruzzi brought here sixty-five cabin and 635 steerage passengers, and they are held under the supervision of the health officials for, according to Dr. Doty, not a vessel has arrived at this port since the first appearance of the cholera abroad, with the infection so far spread, and unusual methods had to be employed for the protection of the port.

Four days after the Abruzzi left Naples Josef Colella, an infant, died on board the Abruzzi. He was buried at sea the same day. The ship's surgeon in reporting this death simply noted it as "injury to intestines." He preserved, however, a specimen of the intestinal tract, which showed under bacteriological examination made by Dr. Doty, that the child died of cholera. On the seventh day out another passenger, a man, died, but a bacteriological examination showed that he died from spinal meningitis.

Two days before the steamship got here three others were down with cholera. Paulo Lebuzzetti, three years old, was removed from the Abruzzi to the pest house on Swinburne Island, where he died yesterday.

Melchiorre Raffa, 29 years old, died on the transfer boat James W. Wadsworth as he was being taken from the Abruzzi to Swinburne Island.

All of the passengers from the Abruzzi are now under observation on Hoffman Island. Dr. Doty said yesterday that there were no other cases of sickness among the passengers or the crew. The vessel will be detained in Quarantine until Friday. Her few cabin passengers are also detained, as Dr. Doty said he was not willing to take the risk of their discharge.

Dr. Doty said that he was taking every precaution to keep cholera out of this port, and for that reason he would pass no ships until he was positively assured that he was taking no chances.

The steamship Barbarossa was released late yesterday. The bacteriological examinations of detained passengers showed negative results.

HORSE CAR CAUGHT SPEEDING

The horse car service in Chambers and Duane Streets was tied up for half an hour yesterday, when John Scott, 73 years old, of 20 Goerck Street, driver of a car, was taken to the Tombs Court by Big Simon Gillis, the hammer-throwing athlete of the police force, to answer a charge of speeding.

Magistrate Corrigan glanced at the papers containing a record of Scott's unlawful act, then at the bent and feeble old man, and finally at the giant policeman.

"What have you to say for yourself?" he asked Scott.

"Your Honor," said Scott, "I've been driving cars for forty-three years, and the last thirty of them were spent on this line. For the past eighteen years I have driven the same team, and this is the first time any policeman has made such a charge against me. Maybe I've been speeding before, but I've never been arrested before for it."

Magistrate Corrigan hesitated a moment before passing judgment. "Scott, your offense is a heinous one, but I will consider your years and fine you only $1."

Scott paid the fine. There was no further speeding on the Duane Street line yesterday.

FOURTEEN STORIES TO DEATH

Public Accountant Falls or Jumps—Had Been Ill Recently.

John C. Almour, a member of the Southern Society and for many years a public accountant, either jumped or fell from a fourteenth story window in the Home Life Building, 256 Broadway, yesterday. He was killed instantly.

Mr. Almour had been practicing accountancy in this city for about twenty years. He lived with his wife at 980 Bergen Street, Brooklyn. He was very successful in his profession but was so painstaking that when he met with any difficulty it worried him greatly. Recently, according to Elon S. Hobbs, an office associate, he began worrying over the accounts of a concern in which he had invested money; and this, Mr. Hobbs said, brought on a nervous attack.

Mr. Almour was unable to eat and complained of headaches and heart trouble. He spent all the night before last on the roof of his Brooklyn home and as soon as he arrived at his office in the Home Life Building yesterday morning, he was seen to lean out of a window opening on an inner air shaft. Then a crash was heard and his body was seen lying on the roof of a third floor extension inside the shaft.

Superintendent King of the building climbed out of a window and carried the body into the building, where it remained until his wife claimed it.

Mr. Almour was English on his father's side and his mother was a member of a prominent Alabama family. He was born in Mobile and was a member of the Canadian Guards as a young man. He was fifty years old and had no children.

Reacted Marriage at Silver Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Feinberg celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage at their home, 500 West 179th Street, this city, last evening, with a reception attended by more than 200 friends and relatives. The bride and bridegroom of twenty-five years, stood beneath a bower of silver and received the blessing of the Rev. Dr. Bass, after which they had a new bridal procession to the tune of Mendelssohn's Wedding March. The flower girls were the youngest of their eleven children. After dinner there was a concert by vocalists and a string orchestra.

BATTLESHIP THIEF CAUGHT.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 21.—Edward Valentine Lee, a paymaster's clerk, who stole $46,000 from the battleship Georgia on Feb. 11 at Havana, was arrested here this afternoon by Detective Thomas O'Grady of the local police.

Word has been sent to Washington from Toronto that he was there spending much money. Two Government agents took the trail and followed him over here. It was known that he was armed, so a plan was laid to take him unawares. This afternoon he went for an automobile spin through the parks with a girl, and on his return a traffic policeman checked Lee's car opportunely at a street corner, while O'Grady jumped in and slipped the handcuffs on the astonished youth.

At Police Headquarters $25,000 in bills was found in a small bag he carried, and $800 was found in his pockets. This was what was left of the stolen funds.

The prisoner is 26 years old, a native of Russellville, Ky. He says he lived beyond his pay of $140 a month and began stealing in a small way and doctoring the books. When he realized exposure was imminent he stole $46,000 and fled. He had traveled quite a bit safely, even taking a trip to Europe. He will be arraigned in the Federal court here to-morrow, and says he will plead guilty to embezzlement.

M'ANENY SUBWAY REPORT IS ADOPTED

Board of Estimate Acts Unanimously and Gives Interborough and B. R. T. a Week to Reply.

SOME AMENDMENTS ADDED

One Provides for Immediate Exchange of Interborough Leases Below 42d St.—Track Rights for B. R. T.

With the important Mitchel-Prendergast amendment on the swap of Interborough franchises added, the McAneny subway report was adopted unanimously by the Board of Estimate yesterday. It also attached several other amendments by Mr. McAneny himself, the most important of which gave to the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company trackage rights for its Brighton Beach line over the Fourth Avenue Subway in Brooklyn, in case the city should retake the Fourth Avenue Subway under the indeterminate clause of the operating contract. The only final dissent was that of the Borough President of the Bronx, who raised his voice against the plan to make an immediate swap of the Interborough's leases south of Forty-second Street, Manhattan, but voted for the report with this reservation.

Everything went off according to the understanding reached on Tuesday night with Messrs. Mitchel and Prendergast, who sought from Mr. McAneny a final assurance that he would stand by them on the franchise amendment.

Mayor Gaynor even hastened the final vote in favor of the report by remarking to the representative of a Flatbush organization who was making an argument:

"I would say to you and all concerned, that it isn't necessary for anybody to speak in favor of this report."

The report was adopted with a resolution providing that the special transit committee of the Board of Estimate be continued with authority to communicate the terms of the report to the Interborough, the Brooklyn Rapid Transit, and the Manhattan Elevated Railroad, but with instructions to communicate to the Board of Estimate the replies of the companies not later than next Wednesday, June 28. The McAneny committee is also continued in office to join the Public Service Commission in the negotiations over such contracts as may be entered into, and it will submit to the Board of Estimate as soon as possible a supplemental report on the rearrangement of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit's elevated lines in South Brooklyn.

Interborough Not So Inclined.

Mr. McAneny, after the meeting, went into immediate conference with the members of the Public Service Commission as to the procedure to be followed with the companies. Meantime the Directors of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company held a meeting at the company's offices, 165 Broadway, but as the result of the session of the Board of Estimate became known only as they adjourned, no statement was made as to their position. Privately, high officials of the Interborough declared that the company would never come in under the terms of the McAneny report. E. J. Berwind, a Director and a member of the Executive Committee of the Interborough, returned yesterday morning on the Olympic, and, as he left the pier, made this statement:

"It is outrageous to talk of admitting the Brooklyn Rapid Transit to Broadway. Of course the Interborough will not build subways on any such basis."

Col. T. S. Williams, President of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, attended the meeting of the Board of Estimate, but would not make any comment upon the course that his company would follow. It is expected that the Brooklyn Rapid Transit will present to the Conference Committee data supporting its objections to several provisions of the report, and that while the company is desirous of accepting the terms offered if it is possible to do so, the question of its ultimate acceptance will depend on the reply made by the city's representatives on these points.

What the City Officials Say.

After yesterday's meeting was over, Mayor Gaynor had this to say: "Every one now sees that the delay has not been in vain, but of immense value to the city. But much yet remains to be done."

Borough President Miller of the Bronx said: "I voted for the report, reserving my objection to the swapping of franchises. They'll have to drop that proposition before they get through."

After his conference with the Public Service Commission yesterday afternoon, Mr. McAneny said that he and Chairman Willcox, at the request of the city's conferrees, had prepared a letter to be sent to each of the companies, which recited the resolutions passed by the Board of Estimate, and transmitted a copy of the report, with the amendments, as expressing the city's position on their respective proposals. The letter requested that the companies reply by June 28. It was dispatched to both the Brooklyn Rapid Transit and the Interborough yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Mitchel offered in the Board of Estimate meeting the substitute for the McAneny provision relating to the exchange of leases. This is it as adopted:

> That the Interborough Rapid Transit Company be required to consent to the immediate modification of Contracts 1 and 2 so as to provide that the portion of the existing Subway running southward between Forty-second Street and Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn, shall be held under an indeterminate lease terminable at any time within ten years from the opening of the proposed Seventh Avenue extension, receiving in consideration for such modification a lease upon the said Seventh Avenue extension from Forty-second Street south to Borough Hall, Brooklyn, for forty-nine years from its completion and opening for operation. The modification of the existing leases shall be simultaneous with the making of the proposed contract.

Queens Amendment Goes Over.

Borough President Gresser of Queens then submitted his amendment proposing to give trackage rights to the Brooklyn Rapid Transit over the Astoria and Corona extension from Queens Borough Plaza, which, under the report, are lines given to the Interborough. Attached to this amendment also was a suggestion that the Brooklyn Rapid Transit be required to extend its elevated roads to Jamaica on the south side as well as on the north side of the Long Island Railroad. Borough President McAneny explained that the conferrees had already been discussing this matter, and he added:

"In the first place, in regard to Jamaica, the report contemplates the building of the two-track elevated line to Jamaica proposed by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company. The company and members of the conference have also had under consideration the building of a line on the south side of the railroad, the Long Island Railroad, to Liberty Avenue, to Lefferts Avenue, and there projecting by surface to Jamaica and to the south. This plan, I may state with a good deal of assurance, is approaching completion, or was at the time we suspended our work for its consideration here. In other words, there is no doubt whatever that these connections will be properly cared for, but the matter is not in such shape that the board could to-day vote on the definite lines, or the roads to be laid out."

New Lines to Jamaica.

Mr. McAneny suggested, therefore, that the Jamaica business be resubmitted to the committee and that the question of joint trackage rights be also submitted. This was ordered by the board without division. The same fate was met by an amendment offered by Borough President Miller of the Bronx to the effect that if the Interborough rejected the programme of subways laid out for it, the Bronx extension up Gun Hill Road and White Plains Avenue should in any event be given it as extensions of its elevated line. Borough President Gresser tried to get a vote on his proposal for joint traffic rights in northern Queens, but without success.

President Mitchel of the Aldermen offered a second amendment for himself and Controller Prendergast, which read:

> That the city be given the right to take over the lines of the present Subway at any time after thirty-five years from the date of the beginning of operation of the new lines, provided the new lines shall have been taken, under the ten-year clause, on payment to the company of the then present worth of the unexpired portions of the company's leases under Contracts Nos. 1 and 2, estimated on the basis of the average annual net profits for the five-year period immediately preceding, or, if the period of final amortization has been passed, then for the average of the five-year period immediately preceding the date of the completion of amortization.

Mr. Mitchel explained that this amendment prevented the company from compounding its rate of earnings in computing the sum to be due from the city in such a contingency, as would have been possible under the report as it stood. The amendment was passed unanimously.

The McAneny Amendments.

Mr. McAneny introduced these amendments, which he termed corrections of the report, and they were adopted:

> 1. That it be stipulated with the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company that if the city recapture the Fourth Avenue (Brooklyn) line at any time aften ten years, the Brooklyn Company be given traffic rights over lines entering Manhattan for the operation of its Brighton Beach trains.
>
> 2. That the requirement that the Brooklyn Company subject its present plant to the examination of a board of engineers to be named by the Public Service Commission, and to make provision from its "existing surplus or current earnings" to cover such deferred maintenance as the commission, upon the advice of the engineers, may require to be made before these lines pass into the proposed new system, be modified so as to provide that the provision in question may be made from either the surplus or current earnings, "at the option of the company."
>
> 3. That the Interborough Company and the Manhattan Elevated Railway Company be also required to subject their plant to the examination of a board of engineers to be named by the Public Service Commission, and to make provision either from existing surplus or current earnings, at the option of the companies, to cover such deferred maintenance as the commission, upon the advice of the engineers, may require to be met before any basis of even division with the city of the future increase in net profits of the Manhattan elevated lines is accepted.
>
> 4. That the Interborough Company shall not be required to proceed with the construction of the proposed new Whitehall tunnel under the East River until it has been determined by the Public Service Commission that such tunnel will be needed to carry the company's future Brooklyn traffic.

The Low Committee Approves.

Seth Low, Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce-Merchants' Association Committee, addressed the board, offering the report of his committee, recommending the adoption of the McAneny report. The clerk read the Low report, one section of which contained the declaration that neither the car mileage nor the cost per passenger method of determining the operating expenses on the Interborough's extensions was satisfactory, and that the city ought not to allow a financial detail to stand between it and an agreement with either company.

Ira J. Ettinger, representing the United Real Estate Owners' Association of New York, spoke in opposition to the report, declaring his organization opposed to admitting the B. R. T. to Broadway, and to allowing any other subway operator in the Borough of Manhattan. Mr. Ettinger said that he was informed that if the B. R. T. were allowed in Broadway the Interborough would withdraw.

When the Mayor interrupted the President of the Flatbush Taxpayers' Association to say that it wasn't necessary for any one to speak in favor of the report, there was an outburst of applause. Mr. McAneny then moved the adoption of the report as amended and there was not a dissenting voice except that Borough President Miller wanted his objection to the swap of leases noted.

"POSTUM."

COMES A TIME

When Coffee Shows What It Has Been Doing.

"Of late years coffee has disagreed with me," writes a matron from Rome, N. Y.

"Its lightest punishment being to make me 'logy' and dizzy, and it seemed to thicken up my blood.

"The heaviest was when it upset my stomach completely, destroying my appetite and making me nervous and irritable, and sent me to my bed. After one of these attacks, in which I nearly lost my life, I concluded to quit the coffee and try Postum.

"It went right to the spot! I found it not only a most palatable and refreshing beverage, but a food as well.

"All my ailments, the 'loginess' and dizziness, the unsatisfactory condition of my blood, my nervousness and irritability disappeared in short order and my sorely afflicted stomach began quickly to recover. I began to rebuild and have steadily continued until now. Have a good appetite and am rejoicing in sound health which I owe to the use of Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

DRAFT KITING HID CARNEGIE CO. LOANS

Documents Read in Reichmann Trial to Show How This Was Done.

A DAY OF TECHNICALITIES

Series of Drafts by the Company Used, It Is Contended, to Cover $34,000 Transferred to Galveston.

The jury which is trying Joseph B. Reichmann, ex-President of the Carnegie Trust Company, on the charge of having rendered false accounts to the State Banking Department, listened all day yesterday to documentary evidence. As a result of stipulations between the prosecution and the defense the entries relating to several draft-kiting transactions were admitted without formal proof.

At the morning session Assistant District Attorney Clark, with L. S. Rough, receiving teller of the Carnegie Trust Company, identified a large collection of documents. In the afternoon he read into the record details of several transactions, on which the people are basing their case.

Mr. Stanchfield, for the defense, entered an objection to the entire line of evidence, as being incompetent in this trial, especially entries of later date than Aug. 31, but otherwise he interposed no obstacles to the work of the District Attorney. Indeed, he sought to persuade him from putting in evidence such details as deposit slips and ledger entries, and was willing to concede the main outlines of each transaction. Mr. Clark, however, preferred to go into every detail, and was able to hold the attention of the jury, as was shown by questions asked by several of them when a step in the exposition escaped them.

The first transaction Clark took up was a draft on Robert Pringle of Chicago for $35,000 drawn by the Merchants and Manufacturers Securities Company. It was deposited to the credit of the company in the Carnegie Trust Company on Aug. 30, and by the initials "J. B. R." was made available for immediate withdrawals.

This draft remained unpaid until taken up by a check for $35,000 on Oct. 3, deposited by the Merchants and Manufacturers Securities Company. The company gained the funds to meet this check by depositing a draft on John Cudahy for $49,500, which likewise was made available for immediate withdrawals. This second draft was taken up by a check for $49,500 drawn on Oct. 8 on the Carnegie Trust Company by W. K. Weaver, an employe of the Alfalfa Feed Milling Company. At the opening of business on that day Mr. Weaver's account showed a balance of only $463.85.

To make up the amount needed to meet the check the prosecution contends that the Carnegie Trust Company loaned $37,500 to the Alfalfa Feed Milling Company, and that the check, after indorsation by Mr. Weaver, was deposited to his account. Moreover he deposited a check for $12,000 drawn by the Platt Iron Works on its account in the Carnegie Trust Company. The Platt Iron Works account on that date stood at only $950, and to enable it to draw the check for Weaver the Carnegie Trust Company lent it $37,500.

Mr. Reichmann was the President of the Platt Iron Works, and a certificate was put in evidence to show that the Merchants and Manufacturers Securities Company had acquired 15,000 of the 50,000 shares of the Alfalfa Feed Milling Company. Neither the Platt Iron Works nor the Alfalfa concern has ever repaid the money loaned to them, and the Carnegie Trust Company, it is contended, is still out the amount of its advances to them.

Documentary evidence was also placed in the record to show that the $35,000 credited to the Merchants and Manufacturers Securities Company on Aug. 30 was used to cover $34,000 transferred by telegraph to Galveston. The company had drawn on George M. Courts of that city on Aug. 19 for $14,000, and on the following day on his brother, J. C. Courts, for $20,000. The State Banking Department began its investigation of the Carnegie Trust Company on Aug. 22, and, the prosecution declares, it was to cover these transactions that the further series of drafts beginning with that on Robert Pringle was begun.

Mr. Clark will continue this morning to read into the record details of several other draft transactions of a similar nature.

SUICIDE IN THE ASTOR HOUSE.

Carl E. Millen Shot Himself Monday—Found Yesterday in a Room.

With a bullet in his head, Carl E. Millen, 35 years old, connected with the Millen Grape Juice Company, 1 Hudson Street, was found dead yesterday afternoon in a room in the Astor House. The man is believed to have committed suicide on Monday night, when he registered.

In the room four letters, sealed and stamped, were found. Two were addressed to his firm, one to Frank L. Millen in the office, and the fourth to his wife, with whom he lived at 252 Fenimore Street, Brooklyn.

Millen appeared at the hotel early on Monday night. He carried a small handbag, and he registered as "E. Miller, Elizabeth, N. J." He went at once to his room, and nothing was seen of him until he was found dead. A maid went to his room twice, and getting no response, she notified Manager Thurston and House Detective Sanderson. They went to a fire escape on the areaway and forced open a window.

Millen had shot himself through the right side of the jaw. A new hammerless revolver was lying on his neck, and on a table was a full box of cartridges. On a table were the four letters, written on stationery of the firm. Only 68 cents and a bunch of keys were found in his pockets.

Henry E. Millen, a cousin, identified the body, but was unable to explain the suicide. He said Millen had left the office on Monday night in the best of spirits and health.

DENIES KISSENA PARK TIP.

Samuel Parsons Says He Never Advised Bochelmann to Buy Property.

The testimony of Samuel Parsons, taken before the trial of an $18,000 suit against him by Charles A. Grant and Samuel Miers, was filed yesterday with the County Clerk. Parsons denied that he had ever seen before the sale John A. Bochelmann, who sold property near Kissena Park to the plaintiffs. He said Grant was introduced to him by a Mr. Van Valkenburgh, an employe of the Park Department.

Grant and he talked about land deals, Parsons said, and he referred Grant to his brother, William B. Parsons, who gave Grant $163 for his trouble after the sale was made, Parsons said. The claim of Grant and Miers is based on an alleged "tip" from Parsons that the land they bought was to be included in Kissena Park. The allege that, acting on this "tip," they bought the property and were disappointed when the city failed to acquire it. Parsons denies this story in its entirety.

FIRE DRILL EMPTIES SCHOOL.

No Excitement Among Pupils During Blaze at Washington Irving Annex.

A fire in the cooking class of the Washington Irving High School Annex, 140 West Twentieth Street, yesterday did little damage, but demonstrated the efficiency of the pupils in the fire drill. When the fire signal was given, the 260 pupils on the four floors of the building formed into line and marched to the street, without the least excitement.

Miss Anna Crane, the instructor in domestic science, had a class of forty girls before her when the woodwork behind a gas range caught fire. She formed her class into line and gave the fire signal for the other classes.

Grand Union in Saratoga to Open.

The Grand Union Hotel in Saratoga will open next Saturday under the direction of Frederick A. Reid, also proprietor of the Park Avenue Hotel. One hundred and fifty members of the Hotel Men's Association, of which Mr. Reid is President, will be present at the opening under Mr. Reid's management. The business men will have an automobile outing and a luncheon at Arrow Head Inn.

SLEUTH TRAILED HUSBAND.

Took a Trip to Europe at a Cost of $1,500 to the Wife.

Jennie G. Martin, who is suing her husband, John Sayre Martin, for a divorce, told Justice Bischoff yesterday in the Supreme Court that it had cost her $1,500 to get the evidence on which she sued. She sent a detective with Martin on a trip to Europe with the co-respondent in the case, Evelyn Warner or Waters. The detective occupied a first-class cabin on the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria, adjoining the two cabins occupied by Martin and his companion.

The detective testified that he saw the woman enter Martin's cabin. Mrs. Martin is the daughter of Richard W. Buckley. Martin, who is not defending his wife's suit, was in court, listening to the testimony, and greeted her pleasantly when she left the courtroom.

KAISER INSPECTS AMERICAN FLEET

OUR TARS CHEER EMPEROR

Dr. Hill and Admiral Are Presented to Him on the Imperial Yacht—Kaiser Discusses American Warships.

KIEL, June 21.—The second division of the American Atlantic fleet arrived here early this morning and the vessels are now moored in the inner harbor, surrounded by the array of battleships and yachts gathered for the Emperor's great annual naval festival.

Practically the entire German Navy, including a full division of the new dreadnoughts, is assembled, the only absentees being the cruiser Von der Tann, which is at Spithead for the coronation review, and the obsolete reserve division at Wilhelmshaven.

The American battleships, led by the Louisiana, the flagship of Rear Admiral Badger, slowly steamed through the narrowing fiord, passing long lines of German ships, and turned to their assigned places between the flagships Deutschland and Kaiser Wilhelm II. and the other vessels of the German fleet.

As soon as the visitors were moored the Louisiana saluted the flag of Admiral von Tirpitz, head of the German Navy, and the salute was promptly answered. From then on the guns were kept hot with an almost uninterrupted exchange of salutes for several hours, as the Admirals, commanders, diplomats, and Consular representatives came and went between the entertaining and visiting craft, exchanging official calls of courtesy.

Dr. David Jayne Hill, the retiring American Ambassador to Germany, arrived in the morning and boarded the Kansas, where he will be quartered during his stay here.

Emperor William arrived in the afternoon from Hamburg aboard the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, and was saluted with thirty-three guns by every warship in the harbor. The American crews, like the Germans, manned the sides of the vessels at the approach of the imperial yacht, and hoisted the German ensign. The Hohenzollern, with the Emperor on the bridge, the imperial standard flying from the mainmast and the Stars and Stripes from the mizzenmast, steamed past the German and American lines, while the crews of each vessel in turn cheered. At the end of the American line the Hohenzollern came about, and passed between the South Carolina and the Louisiana to permit his Majesty a closer inspection of these battleships.

Soon afterward Ambassador Hill and Admiral Badger and the other American commanders visited the imperial yacht, where they were presented to the Emperor. His Majesty was in the best of spirits, and at the end of a long conversation invited the Admiral and Ambassador Hill to dine with him to-night. The Americans were also presented to the Empress and to Princess Victoria Louise.

Emperor William congratulated Admiral Badger on the victories of the American boats in the sonder class races here on Monday and yesterday, but his Majesty was in particularly fine feather over his own victory at Hamburg yesterday, when the imperial yacht Meteor beat the English boat White Heather.

The Emperor spoke of the various features of the American warships, notably the masts, which Germany will probably copy in the construction of her newest warships.

Admiral Badger, in an interview, reciprocally admired the appearance and qualities of the German ships of the Nassau class. He was particularly struck by the color of the German boats, which, in some respects, is superior to that of the United States vessels.

The commander of the American division is planning to take a shorter passage on sailing homeward, going by way of the North of Scotland, a course hitherto unused by a modern American warship.

Capt. Thomas S. Rodgers, while returning from the Hohenzollern to his command on the New Hampshire, saved five Germans, whose sailboat had capsized in the harbor.

BERLIN, June 21.—Commenting on the visit of the American battleship division to Kiel, the Norddeutsche Zeitung to-day says:

"In the American guests we greet representatives of a great nation in close friendship with Germany, and bound to her by many ties of the past and of the present. We extend to them a hearty welcome to German waters."

15 FLIERS IN LIEGE RACE.

Vedrines First to Cover Trip to Spa and Back—Weymann Seventh.

LIEGE, June 21.—The official standing and timing of the contestants in the thirty-seven and one-quarter mile Liège-Spa-Liège stage of the European circuit aviation race were announced this evening as follows:

Vidart, 47 minutes 6 seconds.
Gibert, 1 hour 51 minutes 21 seconds.
Garros, 2 hours 11 minutes 37 seconds.
Duval, 3 hours 14 minutes 44 seconds.
Weymann, 3 hours 51 minutes 47 seconds.
Renaud, 4 hours 4 minutes 14 seconds.
Barra, 6 hours 40 minutes.
Amerigo, 7 hours 39 minutes.
Prévost, 9 hours 23 minutes.
Train, 9 hours 54 minutes.
Kimmerling, 10 hours 4 minutes.
Verrept, 10 hours 18 minutes.
Lelasseur, 12 hours 9 minutes.

The race was resumed this morning, the task set for to-day being a flight from Liège to Spa and back to Liège. Vedrines was the first to accomplish the trip. Vidart, who had been the first to get away, was the second home.

Beaumont's motor developed a defect and he returned, made repairs, and set forth again.

NEW PORTUGUESE PRESIDENT

Anselmo Braamcamp Is Elected by the Constituent Assembly.

LISBON, June 21.—Anselmo Braamcamp was elected President of the Republic of Portugal by the Constituent Assembly to-day.

Anselmo Braamcamp is the President of the Municipal Council of Lisbon. He was not a member of the provisional Government, which was established upon the fall of King Manuel.

His full family name is Ansemlo Braamcamp Freire, but in common practice the "Freire" is not used.

WINDFALL FOR SUFFRAGETTES

Mrs. Belmont's Farmerettes Send Them Fresh Garden Truck Free.

Every Suffragette who goes to the lunchroom of the Fourteenth Assembly District Club of Mrs. Belmont's Political Equality Association in Thirty-fourth Street to-day for luncheon, may have for nothing all the lettuce and radishes she can eat.

Yesterday great boxes of garden truck arrived from the Belmont Farmerette farm, in Long Island, and everyone at the headquarters put on an apron and went to work getting it ready for hungry vote seekers. The lettuce is crisp and tender, and the radishes are as big as beets.

12 YEARS IN JAIL FOR DUEZ.

Man Who Robbed France of $1,200,000 Sentenced to Hard Labor.

PARIS, June 21.—Ferdinand Edmond Duez, receiver for the dissolved religious congregations, was convicted by a jury to-day of embezzling $1,200,000.

Duez was sentenced to twelve years' imprisonment at hard labor.

Charles Breten, a lawyer, and Henri Lefebvre, a clerk, were convicted of aiding and abetting Duez in the embezzlement and were sentenced to two years' imprisonment, with the provision, however, that they do not have to serve their sentences while their conduct remains good.

Duez was Judicial Administrator of the Civil Tribunal of the Department of the Seine. He was in charge of the liquidation of the property of thirteen of the congregations dissolved by the Associations Law of 1901. In March, 1910, Duez confessed to the embezzlement of $2,000,000 and was held for trial before the Assize Court, charged with breach of trust and forgery.

The total value of the properties which Duez was liquidating had been appraised at $212,000,000 and the Government expected that they would yield $200,000,000, out of which the old age pensions voted by Parliament could be paid. When Duez was arrested about half the liquidations had been made and the total sum actually turned over to the treasury was only $1,461,331.

ZAPATA DECIDES TO QUIT.

Special to The New York Times.

MEXICO CITY, June 21.—Emiliano Zapata left here this morning to turn over his command to Alfredo Robles Dominguez preparatory to his (Zapata's) retirement.

Camerino Mendoza, leader of the Maderist troops in Puebla, retired from the State capital with his entire command this morning, making possible the return of the Provisional Governor.

POPE PRAISES AMERICANS.

Sends Letter About Their "Noble Initiative in Favor of Peace."

ROME, June 21.—The Osservatore Romano says that about ten days ago the Pope sent an autograph letter to Mgr. Falconio, the Apostolic Delegate at Washington, expressing gratification at "the noble initiative of some illustrious Americans in favor of peace."

The Pope says he joins with them heartily in wishing success to the great movement, being persuaded that, even if the desired aim is not attained completely and immediately, the initiative will not be deprived of its value. A noble effort, his Holiness says, is always deserving of praise.

NEW YORK SHIPPERS WIN.

Railroads Must Not Make Some of Their Track Storage Charges.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Railroads entering New York City will not be permitted by the Inter-State Commerce Commission to exact track storage charges for the period during which demurrage charges are waived on account of weather interference. In a decision to-day the commission held that such charges in the circumstances were unjust and unreasonable.

Advances in rates on transportation of anthracite coal from the Pennsylvania fields to destinations in other States, recently filed with the commission, were withdrawn to-day by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Important additions to the inter-State commerce law are contemplated in a bill introduced to-day by Senator Kenyon of Iowa. One of the changes proposed would give the commission absolute power to fix rates, minimum as well as maximum; another would make the law applicable to shipments through the United States from one foreign country to another, and still another would apply the law to the shipments of telegraph and telephone companies which are now exempt.

DR. SMITH'S ATTITUDE ON FOREST RESERVES

FISHER APPROVES HIS STAND

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Dr. George Otis Smith, Director of the Geological Survey, to-day explained the failure of his bureau to make favorable reports on enough land intended for the Applachian Reserve to enable the National Forest Reservation Commission to make purchases to the full amount of $2,000,000 provided annually by the act creating the reserve.

Dr. Smith has been severely criticised for thwarting the will of Congress by holding up the required approval from his bureau to the tracts selected by the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture, but he said to-day that he feels sure that he is acting only in the spirit of the act, which requires that before purchases are made "said lands shall be examined by the Geological Survey and a report made to the Secretary of Agriculture, showing that the control of such lands will promote or protect the navigation of streams on whose watersheds they lie."

This provision was inserted into the act by Congress to bring it within the Constitution limiting the powers of Congress, and Dr. Smith thinks that the investigation imposed upon his bureau must accordingly be bona fide, and not merely perfunctory to come within the statute.

"I am not willing for my bureau to become a rubber stamp in this matter," he said, and his attitude is approved by Mr. Fisher, Secretary of the Interior.

The act, under which the reserve is set aside, was approved March 1. That gave four months in the present fiscal year. But as this is the first year of the law's operation many points had to be decided. Dr. Smith said that not until May 10 was his right to spend money decided by the Controller, but by June 10 he had taken the field in person and worked to such effect that favorable reports on two tracts—one in Georgia and one in Tennessee—had been made, embracing in all 90,000 acres. As this will cost about $400,000, if purchased, it seems apparently that at this rate more tracts will be represented next year than there is money with which to purchase.

The two Southern tracts already reported still have to run the gantlet of the Attorney General's inspection, but that is altogether without the scope of the Geological Survey's investigation. Dr. Smith chose those tracts instead of the 40,000 acres suggested in the White Mountains for his first investigations because time was short and the conditions in the tracts were simpler than in the White Mountains. Work is still going on in the New England area, however, and Dr. Smith hopes to make a report before the end of the Summer.

Next year, beginning on July 1, Dr. Smith expects the work to go forward much more rapidly. He has no doubt of his ability to investigate and report on as much land as can be bought within the year, and he intends to do so. But he insists that he will make a bona fide examination such as the law directs, and that is his explanation of what delays have already appeared.

TUNES PLAYED IN COURT.

Head of Correspondence School, Suing for Libel, Has Piano Brought In.

Pupils of David F. Kemp, who is suing Collier's Weekly for $50,000 damages for libel, gave a concert yesterday in Part XVII. of the Supreme Court before Justice Brady and a jury. A grand piano had been brought into the court room for the purpose of demonstrating to the jury Kemp's contention that an editorial in the periodical calling his scheme of giving musical instruction by mail "a triple-plated swindle" had done him an injustice. The concert drew a large crowd to the court room. During the intermission, after court adjourned, one of the Judge's secretaries played popular airs on the piano.

Under cross-examination by James W. Osborne, Mr. Kemp said he had been a civil engineer for ten years before he went into the business of teaching music by correspondence under the name of the "United States School of Music." Mr. Osborne attempted to show that the free scholarships given by the school did not cover the cost of sheet music, which was sold at a profit.

The first of Kemp's pupils to give a demonstration was Melville Vreeland, a New Jersey farmer boy, who testified that he had learned to play the violin through correspondence lessons from the school. He played "Dixie" and other pieces. He admitted that he had learned to play the violin by ear, but not by note, before he had taken instruction by correspondence.

Richard Arnold, called for Collier's as an expert witness, declared that Vreeland was only a fiddler and not an artistic violinist.

A little girl, a pupil of the school, will be called upon to play to-day.

MANY CHANGES BY WALDO.

Four More Detective Divisions—Numerous Transfers to Patrol Duty.

Police Commissioner Waldo yesterday issued an order increasing the number of detective divisions in the city from ten to fourteen. A division of the Detective Bureau will be operated in each of the inspection districts with the single exception of the Fourteenth, which consists of the Traffic Squads, and to which no detectives are assigned. The following men have been placed in charge of the detective divisions:

First Division, Lieut. Foye; Second, Lieut. Gilday; Third, Lieut. Clark; Fourth, Lieut. Glouster; Fifth, Lieut. Funston; Sixth, Lieut. Delaney; Seventh, Lieut. Price; Eighth, Lieut. Duhne; Ninth, Lieut. McChristy; Tenth, Lieut. Tunney; Eleventh, Lieut. Thompson; Twelfth, Lieut. Graham; Thirteenth, Lieut. Smith; Fifteenth, Lieut. Deevey.

Lieuts. Deevey and Funston were transferred from Police Headquarters, and Lieut. Charles H. McKinney of the Delancey Street Station and Lieut. Michael Dempsey of the West 125th Street Station will replace them there.

Twelve detectives were transferred yesterday from the Detective Bureau to patrol duty in various precincts. They were replaced by seventeen men taken from Brooklyn police precincts, eight of whom were assigned to detective duty at Manhattan Police Headquarters. The remaining nine were assigned to detective duty at Brooklyn Police Headquarters. Sixteen detectives at Brooklyn Police Headquarters were transferred to precincts in Brooklyn and Manhattan, where they will do patrol duty. Several detectives formerly attached to the Italian Detective Bureau were transferred to precinct patrol work, and seven changes were made among detectives assigned to outlying precincts. In future several detectives will have two precincts each to look after, the precincts being those from which but few complaints are received.

Lieut. John J. Boyle, formerly in charge of the West Side Bureau, which had supervision of the pawnbrokers, and who has been doing precinct desk duty, was transferred yesterday to Police Headquarters. It is thought probable that the Commissioner will re-establish the West Side Bureau to keep watch over pawnbrokers, which was abolished during Cropsey's term of office.

Sickles's Brigade Celebrates.

The fiftieth anniversary of the mustering in to the United States Service of Gen. Sickles's Excelsior Brigade of New York Volunteers was celebrated at Camp Scott, South Beach, Staten Island, yesterday. Gen. Sickles and survivors of the brigade were received by a committee of 150 citizens of Richmond and several cadet corps.

GOV. WILSON DECRIES JERSEY CITY RULE

Next to New York, He Says, Its Government Is the Most "Distressingly Inadequate."

URGES REFORM IN HOBOKEN

Commission Government for All Cities Coming, He Predicts—Jersey Machine Plans to Attack Walsh Act.

Hoboken is to be the third city of New Jersey to say whether or not it will, under the Walsh act, adopt the commission form of government which Gov. Woodrow Wilson has been urging upon the people of his State. The vote is to be taken on June 27, and in behalf of commission rule the Governor went to Hoboken last evening and spoke before an audience of 1,800 persons that overflowed St. Mary's Hall. Of the other two cities that have passed on this question, Bayonne would have none of it, and Trenton voted for the change.

"With the probable exception of New York City," said the Governor, "Jersey City has the most distressingly inadequate form of government in the country."

After leaving this for the cogitation of Hoboken, Gov. Wilson made it even stronger by explaining further that the United States leads the world in bad municipal government. They do things far better, he said, on the other side of the Atlantic.

He predicted, however, that it is only a question of time when city after city will do away with their present forms and pattern their governments after the cities of Europe, which are better, he said, because they are governed as they would be under the Walsh act. It is bound to come, he said, and he reminded the audience that it was by no means a question that is confined to New Jersey.

"We shall witness a slow, majestic, inevitable change," he said, "and one of the results will be the emancipation of the citizens from privately concerted control in municipal affairs."

The trouble in Jersey City, according to Gov. Wilson's diagnosis, lies in the eternal conflict between the appointive and the elective boards which are supposed to run the city and none of which is supreme. Chief among these is the Finance Board, which is appointive, and the Street and Water Board, which is elective.

They are constantly at loggerheads, and the Governor described their habit of going to Trenton to urge upon the Legislature the passage of some law which would help the one board to defeat the other on whatever point they happened to be at odds.

Hoboken suffers, he said, from such division of power. It has a Mayor, ten Councilmen, and several boards, some of them elective and some appointive. Often they are seen pulling stoutly in opposite directions. Some day all that will be changed, the Governor predicted. He urged that Hoboken lose no time and vote for the change on June 27.

"It is simply a question," he argued, "of whether or not the people want to manage their own affairs."

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., June 21.—Following close upon yesterday's decisive victory for the commission form of city government in Trenton it is rumored that the constitutionality of the Walsh act is to be attacked in order to embarrass Gov. Wilson. It is said that this will be done in the interest of the political machine dominated by ex-United States Senator James Smith, Jr., of Newark.

Already a number of candidates are being advanced for election as Commissioners, and when the voters again go to the polls, within a few weeks, they will very likely have to make their selections from a long list of names. Gov. Wilson made this comment on the result of yesterday's election:

"It may be that this is only the beginning of this part of the fight for the people's right to control their own Government, but certainly the result in Trenton is most auspicious and encouraging. It represents what will happen everywhere just as soon as the people really understand the full significance of the issue they are voting upon.

"Whether the fight goes rapidly or slowly toward success, it is sure in the end to result in the firm establishment of popular control, and as yet no better instrument of popular control in city government has been found than the commission form."

Brooklyn to Have a Big Hotel.

Brooklyn's newest hotel, the Bossert, at Montague and Hicks Streets, on the Heights, is to be enlarged to double its present size. The building, which faces Montague Street, is to be extended through the block on Hicks Street to Remson Street, covering a plot 100 by 200. The addition is to be twelve stories in height. When completed the hotel will represent an expenditure of $1,500,000.

OUTLAWS TERRORIZE A TOWN

New Jersey Posse Organized to Hunt Them Down.

OXFORD, N. J., June 21.—Deputy Sheriff Peterson this morning completed the organization of a posse of citizens of this village to hunt down outlaws who since Sunday have been terrorizing the countryside. Last night armed men patrolled the streets and halted all who were abroad late, but did not happen upon the desperadoes, who evidently had taken alarm. It is thought they are living in the mountains and an effort will be made to find them.

Sunday night a house was entered and a lot of clothing and other valuables taken. Monday night there were three cases of housebreaking, in each of which the burglars made considerable hauls. William Almer was halted on the street late Monday night by three foreigners, who at the points of revolvers marched him into a grove of trees and there made him strip himself. They made off with his clothing, leaving him naked.

Henroosts have been raided, cows milked, and produce stolen for a week or more. The fact that some bedding was among the loot indicated that the desperadoes are living in the mountains.

SPAETE A SUICIDE.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Mich., June 21.—Oscar F. Spaete, who is wanted in New York and Chicago for swindling and was arrested here yesterday, committed suicide by taking poison in the Central Police Station this afternoon. He had the drug concealed on his person, though he had been searched several times.

While being taken up stairs to the photographers' room he asked permission to enter another room. It was there that he took the poison. The action of the drug was quick, for he fell unconscious shortly after reaching the Bertillion gallery, foaming at the mouth. He was rushed to a hospital, but too late to save him.

Spaete's specialty was promoting "general electric inspection" companies and getting away with the money he induced investors to intrust to him. He stated to-day that the four-act play, "The Man and the Deal," which was found in his possession, was his, but that his wife had written it under his direction. He and his wife are the principal characters.

Hackett, Carhart Clothes

A JUNE SALE OF STANDARD CLOTHING

Here are clothing prices at the height of the season for standard Hackett, Carhart clothing that will astonish you. In fact, they are the lowest prices we have known for suits of this quality. Our Reorganization and Extension Sale now in progress makes these extraordinary values possible.

841 BWAY

265 BWAY

Men's Suits, $19.50
Values $25 and $28

The average price of all Hackett, Carhart Clothes sold in the last fifty years hovers around $28. That fixes the character of this business. These $25 and $28 suits embody the spirit of Hackett, Carhart clothes. Among the 1,350 garments in our three stores you will surely find the pattern and model you desire, because only the best of the new styles are represented.

Men's Suits, $21.50
Values $28 and $30

With many of these suits you can obtain EXTRA TROUSERS to match. Is that a consideration? Even buying the extra trousers, you get the suit, including the two pairs of pants, for less than the suit WITHOUT the extra pants was made to sell for. Correct stripe, check and plaid effects in light worsteds and cassimeres, and plain blue serges are included.

Formerly $30 and $35 Suits, Now $24.50

During our Reorganization and Extension Sale this has been our most popular price. More suits sold at $24.50 than at any other one price surely proves the superiority of those in this range. Every shade of gray from light aluminum gray to dark salt and pepper is here, as well as the newer effects in tans, browns and blues..............................

TAFT COMMENDS TRUST DECISIONS

PRAISES THE SUPREME COURT

Balance Wheel of the Government, and He Is Proud of the Five Men He Appointed.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 21.—President Taft warmly indorsed the Supreme Court's recent decision in the Standard Oil and American Tobacco Company cases in his speech at the Yale alumni luncheon this afternoon, held in connection with the 210th commencement of the university.

It was his first expression of opinion on the trust decisions. He was the final speaker, following Justice Lamar of the Supreme Court, who had received an honorary degree from Yale and had gracefully voiced his pleasure at becoming an adopted son of the university. President Taft was introduced by President Hadley of Yale as "the man whom the world knows as the President of the United States, but whom we know as Bill Taft."

The President spoke in his most serious vein when he said that he regarded the appointing of Justices of the Supreme Court as his most sacred task, and that he believed that the recent decisions laid down by the court cleared the way so that all honest and intelligent business men can proceed without fear of the Sherman anti-trust law, under which the Government proceeded so successfully against the oil and tobacco corporations.

The President expressed the belief that much of the doubt that in the minds of many business men and lawyers hung about that law has been dispelled at last, and that business all over the country will be greatly benefited thereby.

In leading up to his remarks about the trust decisions the President took occasion once again to reiterate his conviction that the Supreme Court of the United States is the balance wheel of this Government.

The President said in part:

"The university has to-day honored a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. It is a deserved honor. The most sacred function that a President has to perform is the appointment of men to that body. It is the bulwark of our liberties. In its work of construction it recognizes the wonderfully comprehensive character of our Constitution in meeting the needs of sane progress; but it stands between us and extreme and unwise radicalism. It stands for the institutions that served our fathers, and will continue to serve us if the country is to live.

Proud of Supreme Court.

"It has fallen to my lot to have five members of that court bear my commission—a lot, I think, that has fallen to but few Presidents—and there is no duty that I have discharged that has given me more heartfelt concern, that has worn more upon my conscience, than the selection of the men—pure and upright of character, able and learned in the law, jurists and statesmen, with courage to decide, and assert the right. Whether that duty has been well performed or not the country must decide, but I am willing to stand upon the record of the court as now made, short as it is, since the five were appointed.

"The country has hung upon the decisions of that court in respect of a statute, the construction of which has given great concern to the business and other communities of this country. I believe these decisions have done, and will continue to do, great good to all the business of the country, and that have laid down a line of distinction which it is not difficult for honest and intelligent business men to follow.

"They have said that that statute applies to conspiracies and attempts to restrain trade which are undue or unreasonable, because their intent and effect is partly or wholly to monopolize, to exclude or suppress competition, and to control prices, and not to combinations or associations in the normal development of business where there may be some incidental restraint that was not the object of the combination or the association. Therefore, it becomes largely a question of fact and a question of conscience with the business community, that they can well follow and make the standard of their future action.

Praises President Hadley.

"I want to lay my tribute at the feet of President Hadley of the university," said the President in conclusion. "He is building Yale to greater and greater eminence and influence. He is the hardest worked man in the country. And yet when I have had problems of difficulty that needed his clear, analytical mind, and his power over economic problems, and called him to help me in the work of months—I had almost said years—he did not hesitate, although in his exhausting labors he was losing a pound a month to come and help me out.

"We look for a report from his commission before Congress meets next Fall, which shall elucidate one of the most difficult problems that Congress has to deal with. It is that sense of service to the country that, as the head of Yale, of course, he ought to have, but that is a different thing from saying that he does have it; but I know he does and you do, too."

Other speakers at the luncheon were Charles P. Howland, '91; ex-President Timothy Dwight of the university, and President Vincent of the University of Minnesota.

President Hadley presided, having at his right hand President Taft. In Mr. Hadley's congratulatory address the material progress of the university was touched upon. Large purchases of land have been made in the neighborhood of Yale Field for the purpose of expanding the playgrounds of the university. These new grounds can be used for the erection of permanent stands in future and by students who are not connected with major athletic teams. A gift was also announced of $20,000 for the use of the library, subject to an annuity.

In Honor of Ex-Capt. Hogan.

President Hadley also announced a gift of $5,000 by the Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity in honor of James J. Hogan, the famous football Captain of the class of 1905. The income of this fund, which it is expected will amount annually to $200, will be awarded at the end of his first year in the college to a worthy freshman who possesses the traits that characterized Hogan, namely, uprightness, high standing in the college world, and high character. High scholarship will not be necessary in winning the award, but a man must have a good class standing.

President Hadley further announced the election by the corporation of six graduataes of the university as directors of the alumni fund. They all live in New York and their terms will expire in 1914. They are Samuel H. Betts, '75; W. M Barnum, '77; Julian W. Curtiss, '79; H. S. Brooks, '85; the Rev. William A. Brown, '86, and J. McLean Walton, '99, S.

Awarding the Prizes.

The exercises included the announcement of prizes and honors, singing, and the conferring of degrees. Diplomas were awarded to 897 students. The John Addison Porter prize, being the income of $10,000 given by the Kingsley Trust Association, was awarded to Jack Randall Crawford, a graduate of Princeton and an instructor in English in the Sheffield Scientific School, for his drama, "Seneca." The degrees conferred in number were as follows:

Bachelors of Arts, 286; Bachelors of Philosophy, 260; Bachelors of Laws, 122; Bachelors of Divinity, 93; Masters of Arts, 83; Masters of Law, 13; Masters of Forestry, 44; Doctors of Medicine, 20; Doctors of Philosophy, 31, and other degrees, 15.

The honorary degrees conferred by President Hadley after introduction of the candidates by Prof. Perrin were as follows:

Walter McClintock, a graduate of Yale, 1891, and known for his lectures and writings on the Blackfoot Indians, into which tribe he has been adopted.

Miss Boardman Honored.

The degree of Doctor of Music was conferred upon Franz Kneisel, director of the Kneisel Quartet.

Doctor of Divinity—The Rev. George William Knox, a former missionary in Japan and now Professor of the History of Religion at Union Seminary.

CORNELL WOMEN ALUMNI LOSE.

Mrs. William Vaughn Moody Is Defeated for Trustee.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 21.—The younger element in the Cornell alumni ranks had five votes to spare in their campaign for the election of Herbert D. Mason, a New York lawyer, as alumni Trustee, defeating the woman graduates and older alumni who supported their candidate, Mrs. William Vaughn Moody. The result of the balloting, which has been going on for several months, was announced this morning. James H. Edwards, re-elected, received 3,017 and Mrs. Moody 2,158.

Annual commencement exercises will be held in the university armory to-morrow. Cornell will graduate the largest class in her history.

LARGEST PENNSYLVANIA CLASS.

856 Graduates Receive Diplomas—Gov. Marshall Orator of the Day.

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—Eight hundred and fifty-six students received diplomas at the one hundred and fifty-fifth commencement of the University of Pennsylvania, held to-day in the Academy of Music. It was the largest number of students ever sent out at one commencement by the old institution. Thomas R. Marshall, Governor of Indiana, delivered the oration, and Gov. Tener of Pennsylvania attended the exercises. Honorary degrees were conferred as follows:

DOCTOR OF LAWS—Gov. Marshall, Henry S. Drinker, President of Lehigh University; Prof. B. L. Gildersleeve of Johns Hopkins University; Prof. Edward P. Cheney, University of Pennsylvania.

DOCTOR OF SACRED THEOLOGY—The Right Rev. James De Wolf Perry, Bishop of Rhode Island.

WESLEYAN HONORS VETERANS.

Four Who Enlisted in Civil War Get Degrees They Then Missed.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., June 21.—Wesleyan University paid tribute at the annual commencement exercises to-day to four of her sons who, fifty years ago, enlisted in the Union Army before obtaining their diplomas, by awarding to them the regular Bachelor Degree which they would otherwise have received at that time. This action was ordered by a unanimous vote of the Trustees of the university.

The conferring of the degrees on the white-haired veterans was witnessed by many of their old comrades who have been attending the anniversary celebration of the Wesleyan Army and Navy Union. The men honored were Major Samuel P. Hatfield of New York, Brig. Gen. Samuel M. Mansfield of Boston, Dr. Benjamin H. Cheney of New Haven, and Henry B. Brown of East Hampton, Conn., all of whom enlisted in the Wesleyan Guards, a portion of the Fourth Connecticut Volunteers.

BROWN CONFERS DEGREES.

155 Students Get Them—Secretary Nagel Becomes a Doctor of Laws.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 21.—Brown University observed its one hundred and forty-third annual commencement to-day by conferring degrees upon 113 young men and 42 young women who have completed the prescribed collegiate course.

Ten honorary degrees were also conferred, including that of Doctor of Laws on Charles Nagel, Secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor, and on George Grafton Wilson, teacher of international law at Brown and Harvard Universities and at the Naval War College. The degree of Doctor of Literature was also conferred on Ellen Fitz Pendleton, President-elect of Wellesley College, and on William Warner Hoppin, A. M., M. D., '61, of New York.

RUTGERS'S LARGEST CLASS.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., June 21.—The one hundred and forty-fifth commencement exercises of Rutgers College were held to-night in the Ballantine Gymnasium. The Rev. Dr. W. H. S. Demarest presided and gifts to the college aggregating $43,000 were announced.

The honorary degree of LL. D. was conferred on Edgar Fahs Smith, Provost of the University of Pennsylvania, and F. L. Swayze, Justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey. The degree of Litt. D. was conferred on W. D. Johnston, the librarian of Columbia University, and E. T. Corwin of North Branch, N. J., historian of the Reformed Church. The Rev. T. H. McKenzie of Flushing, L. I., received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity and the honorary degree of Mining Engineer was conferred upon J. A. Van Marter of Plainfield, N. J.

TO CHECK LOFT FIRES.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, June 21.—Only the approval of Gov. Dix is now wanting to realize the plans of several civic organizations in New York City for the creation of a commission to investigate the conditions under which manufactures are carried on in cities of the first and second class in this State. The bill was introduced as a result of the disclosures following the disastrous fire on the premises of the Triangle Shirt Waist Company, at which nearly 150 workmen and girls lost their lives.

The Wagner bill providing for the creation of the commission was passed in the Assembly to-day without objection. It has already passed in the Senate, and as the bill was drafted in accordance with the views of Gov. Dix, it is to be presumed that he will sign it.

The purpose is to provide building standards for future construction which will insure the safety of workers from fire, and to promote their health and wellbeing.

GEN. ROE NOT EXEMPTED.

ALBANY, June 21.—An attempt to prevent the compulsory retirement of Major Gen. Charles F. Roe from the place of chief in command of the National Guard when he reaches the age of sixty-four was defeated in the Senate to-day.

When Assemblyman Brooks's bill making the retirement of National Guard officers compulsory at that age was called up Senator Pollock of New York offered an amendment exempting the commanding officer of the Guard. There was a vigorous objection from Senator Wainwright, who said there should be no discrimination. The amendment was finally withdrawn by Senator Pollock.

The object of the Brooks bill is to make the conditions surrounding the retirement of officers in the National Guard the same as they are in the regulary army. Under the present law the Governor at his discretion may retire an officer who has reached the age of sixty-four.

CALLS FOR INQUIRY INTO CLEARING HOUSE

FINANCIERS ARE AROUSED

Other Measures Introduced by Senator Considered Objectionable—Security for Trust Fund Deposits.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, June 21.—Senator Thomas F. Grady, whose activity in connection with certain banking legislation at the present session has caused much comment both at the Capitol and in financial circles in New York City, has introduced to-day a resolution calling on State Superintendent of Banks Van Tuyl to investigate "the circumstances and conditions" under which a number of State banks and trust companies recently have joined or placed themselves under the rules of the New York Clearing House.

Senator Grady did not attend the session, and his measure was presented by Senator Loring M. Black, Jr., of Kings, the youngest member of the upper house.

The resolution follows:

> Resolved, That the Superintendent of Banks be directed to investigate and report to the Senate not later than June 27 the circumstances and conditions under which State banks and trust companies in New York City have joined or placed themselves under the rules and regulations of the New York Clearing House, and also whether such rules and regulations affect, and in what particular, any of the laws of the State in their application to any of the institutions of the State under the supervision of the Superintendent of Banks.

The resolution was referred to the Senat Finance Committee. It is planned to have the committee report it favorably at to-morrow's session and to have it rushed to final passage forthwith. Some members of the Senate professed to be deeply mystified over the purpose of the resolution.

Senator Grady recently has introduced a series of bills which have passed and Gov. Dix sealed with his approval which prominent conservative bankers in New York City have denounced as threatening the stability of banking institutions.

Ostensibly, these bills have been introduced for the purpose of promoting the sale of State and New York City bonds. Under the provisions of these bills banks and trust companies would be compelled to furnish bonds of the State and of New York City as security for deposits of city funds in lieu of the surety bonds with which such deposits have been secured up to the present time.

Another Grady bill provided that banks and trust companies should not be required to maintain the cash reserve of 15 per cent., which is required both by the State banking law and the rules of the Clearing House against any deposits which they had invested in such securities. In this connection it has been pointed out that banks given to wild cat finance would have an opportunity to decrease their reserve to a point where they would be in no position to meet their obligations in times of financial stress or panic.

Not long ago an official of the New York Clearing House in commenting on the Grady bills declared that they would be very helpful to certain bond houses in Wall Street in that they would create an artificial value in State and city bonds, on which these particular houses had more than they cared to keep.

Senator Wainwright, who with Senator Ferris and other members of the Senate who have had experience in the banking business opposed the Grady bills which changed the reserve requirements, said to-day that the Clearing House requirement as to reserve was the same as under the old banking law, and that the effect of this requirement would be to exclude from Clearing House privileges those banks which availed themselves of reducing their cash reserve through the holdings of State or city bonds. The State Banking Department, he said, could not exercise control over the Clearing House, as many of the banks represented in it are National banks, over which the State authorities have no jurisdiction.

Senator Hinman opposed the resolution, declaring it was to be assumed that the Superintendent of banks would do his duty in case any of the provisions of the banking law were violated. The investigation, if any was ordered, he said, should be made by a legislative committee.

Senator Black said the resolution was no reflection upon the Superintendent of Banks. It was Senator Grady's idea, he said, that some legislative action should follow if steps were being taken to defeat the purpose of any legislation by the financial institutions of the State. Senator Black said that conditions had arisen within the last few days that have led trust companies to join the Clearing House. It was desired to learn the reason for such action, he said, and he believed the information could be obtained through the Grady resolution.

Senator Black added that, personally, he was in favor of placing the Clearing House within the jurisdiction of the Banking Department. Under the present conditions he said the Clearing House was in a position to discriminate against certain banks.

Without comment or dissent the Senate to-day passed two bills affecting the banks designated as depositories for the court and trust funds of which the State Controller becomes the custodian on orders of the courts. The bills amend the same section of the banking law. The first one was permissive in its nature, allowing the depositors to deposit State bonds as security in lieu of surety bonds required under the existing law. The second bill is mandatory, requiring such depositories to file an undertaking secured by State bonds.

SAYS HOLD-UP MEN GAVE HIM POISON

DOCTORS THINK IT SUICIDE

Believe William Ryerson of This City Lost in Horse Racing and Wall Street Money He Said Was Stolen.

William Ryerson, 32 years old, who lived with his wife and adopted child at 231 East Twenty-sixth Street, died in the home of his uncle, John E. Sisco, a contractor, in Ramsey, Bergen County, early last evening as a result of a dose of corrosive sublimate. Although physicians believe he committed suicide, he insisted, until his death, that two big men had held him up, forced the poison down his throat, and robbed him of $500. He said the attack took place near a cemetery, half a mile outside Ramsey, where he had gone to visit the graves of his parents.

Ryerson went to Ramsey Tuesday afternoon, and told his uncle and aunt that he had not mentioned to his wife that he was going to the cemetery. He sent her a postal card yesterday telling her where he was. About 3 o'clock Ryerson returned from a walk, and he went to the bedroom of his cousin, August. He complained of severe pains in the stomach. August Sisco sent for Dr. Keifer and Dr. Deyo, but not until they arrived did Ryerson tell about the hold-up.

"They tripped me as I passed them, and while one held me down the other gave me the corrosive sublimate," said Ryerson to H. R. Parvin, a druggist, who arrived just before the doctors.

"How did you know it was corrosive sublimate?" asked the druggist.

The dying man made the same statement to the doctors, and as one put his hand on Ryerson's hip pocket he remarked: "That's where they got my wad of $500."

Ryerson described his assailants, saying one had on a derby and the other a cap. The doctors did all they could, but he died at 6:30. Just before he died his aunt said:

"William, tell me, truthfully, did you take this poison yourself or did these robbers force you to take it?"

"I did not take it; I had no reason to end my life," the young man answered clearly.

County Physician G. H. McFadden, Deputy Sheriff George W. Conklin, County Detectives Cook and Courter, and Constable Gerry Dawson hurried to Ramsey in automobiles when word was received that Ryerson had been murdered.

An examination failed to reveal a single dirt mark on the dead man's clothes. His freshly polished shoes were without a mark, and it was the general impression that Ryerson took the poison and told the highway robbery story to throw off suspicion. It was said he had lost a large amount of money on the horses and in the stock market, and this was probably the $500 he mentioned before his death.

The fact that he must have walked half a mile with the poison occasioning intense pain after the attack, without giving the slightest alarm to those he met, seemed to disprove his story. Ryerson owned some property. For two years he was captain of the waiters in the Prince George Hotel, New York, but had been unemployed since Spring. His sudden trip to Ramsey seems to bear out the suicide theory.

At 231 East Twenty-sixth Street the theory that he had committed suicide was scouted last night. A man, who said he was a friend of Ryerson's, said that earlier in the evening a telephone message had come from Ryerson's relatives in Ramsey, saying that while he was in the cemetery near Ramsey he had been attacked by two men, who hit him on the head, fracturing his skull, and threw acid in his face. Blood poisoning set in almost immediately, according to the friend, resulting in death. Ryerson, according to his friend, left here in good spirits. He was not a gambling man, and had taken no interest in stocks or horse races, according to his friend.

FAVORS DEATH AVENUE BILLS

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, June 21.—The Senate Committee on Railroads this evening decided to report favorably the McClelland-Walker bill, which embodies the plan approved by Mayor Gaynor for the removal of the New York Central tracks from Eleventh Avenue through some agreement based on mutual concessions on the part of the city and the company.

The committee also decided to recommend the passage, over Mayor Gaynor's veto, of the McManus-Boylan bill, which provides that unless the New York Central and the city authorities arrive at some arrangement for the removal of the tracks within four months after the bill becomes a law the city shall have power summarily to oust the New York Central from the tracks.

Senator McManus said that the passage of both bills, far from creating confusion and conflict, would insure relief, in that his mandatory bill would supplement the permissive measure favored by the Mayor, and to that extent would strengthen the hands of the city in dealing with the New York Central.

Mrs. Luke Lea Growing Stronger.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Mrs. Luke Lea, wife of Senator Lea of Tennessee, whose life is believed to have been saved Sunday by transfusion of her husband's blood, is slowly gaining strength to-day. Her condition still is critical, but the physicians believe she will recover. Senator Lea, though weak from loss of blood, has practically recovered.

Women's Lingerie Dresses In an Unusual Sale

At $20—Two Styles of $35 Quality
At $13.50—One Style of $20 Quality
At $12.50—One Style of $18.50 Quality
At $5.75—One Style of $8.75 Quality

This is a peculiar sale And we have been preparing it for several weeks. It began with an opportunity that was extended to us to purchase all the hand-embroidered yokes, motifs and bands (all-white on batiste) of an exclusive blouse maker who is retiring from business. Immediately we conceived the idea that we could use this embroidery to advantage in Lingerie Dresses. So we set about to look for laces of equal beauty. And we were fortunate in securing these also at a concession. Then our clever costume designer planned these Dresses and had them made up by a woman who has first place among lingerie frock makers in New York. Indeed, one would think that these Dresses had been made in Paris, because every one has that exquisite French daintiness. Truly delightful confections.

We should like to add that these styles are the result of careful study of just the kind of dresses that women want. Of course, we combined this with ideas from French models. Word descriptions can not do justice to these Dresses; therefore we shall give you only an idea of the materials.

$13.50, regular $20 quality—Fine batiste with a wealth of hand-embroidery—yoke, and either inset motifs or bands. The hand-embroidery alone is worth about $10. Trimmed with Valenciennes lace.

$12.50, regular $18.50 quality—Fine black-and-white striped English voile—washable. Cleverly designed in panel effects and trimmed with touches of either Coronation purple, vivid green, old blue or cerise messaline. Very pretty inset collar of lace and embroidery.

$5.75, regular $8.75 quality—Striped lawn, violet, pink, blue or black on white hand-crocheted lace panel in front of bodice; and the cool square neck is finished with fine lace insertion; new corded waistline. Ideal morning dresses! Third floor

Undismayed by the violent squashing they received on Tuesday, the Boston Red Sox bobbed up serenely on the Hilltop yesterday and gave the Yankees one of the most inconsiderate slaps of the season, heaping up eleven runs and seventeen hits in the merry rebuttal. The Yankees stretched over three runs, and in the face of the pitching of Jack Killilay, late of Spokane, they were lucky to get those. Killilay had something strange on the ball which caused it to warp away from direct contact with the Yank batting furniture.

Killilay began to wabble in the eighth inning, when the crowd of 5,000 arose and implored the Yankees to rally and grab the game. The pitcher didn't have a chance to go to cloudland, because Joe Wood was rushed to the rescue and made Chase's men walk the chalk mark again. The only rallying the Yankees had a chance to do when Wood got busy was to rally around the water pail and get a cool drink.

The crimson hosiery ran wild on the bases and poked the ball to all the uninhabited spots on the prairie. Speaker, Lewis, and Yerkes applied a pile driver to the ball, and Elephant Engle did similar severe stick work. Birdie Cree was the only Yankee who could bruise the ball, and he spattered three hits into the outfield.

Another boxman was added to the Yankee's small army of pitchers yesterday, when Ray Fisher was pounded out of the box in the seventh inning. Andy Coakley, who has pitched for the Athletics, Cubs, and half a dozen semi-pro. teams about Manhattan, and was last heard of in Paterson, N. J., went to Fisher's rescue. Andy was introduced as a Yankee in a trying moment. The bases were filled and only one man was cut. He couldn't stop the Bostons, and they laced him as hard as they did Fisher. Tuesday's staggering struggle was too much of a strain on the team, and the reaction came yesterday. With the reaction also came Joe Wood, who seems to be able to exercise his witchery on the Yankees any time.

There was some promise to the Yankees' start. With one out, Fitzgerald, the youthful outfielder from California, singled to left and scored on Cree's double. The Yankees were completely under Killilay's spell thereafter until the eighth inning, and they couldn't get within hailing distance of another run.

Killilay walked Blair in the eighth and Coakley singled. Daniels was hit in the ribs and the bases were filled. Blair scored on Fitzgerald's sacrifice fly and the crowd got up on its toes and yelled for the Red Sox to be drawn and quartered without mercy. Hartzell walked, crowding the bases again. Here Killilay was taken out and Wood went to the mound. Cree lifted a Texas Leaguer in right, which Hooper made a brilliant romp for, but couldn't squeeze, and Coakley scored. Knight shot a high fly to Speaker and Chase forced Hartzell at third. Good night, rally.

The run which the Yankees got in the first inning was boldly grabbed back by the Red Sox in the second session. With one down, Wagner walked and Engle singled to right, Wagner going to third. Boston attempted a double steal, but Fisher wasted a ball and Blair whipped it over to third and Wagner was caught in a fine trap of his own making. Engle got to third in the melee and scored when Gardner booted Nunamaker's grounder.

Four hits in rapid succession by Larry Gardner, Speaker, Lewis, and Yerkes gave the Red Sox two more runs in the third inning. In the seventh inning the enemy proceeded to tear Fisher's pitching to shreds. Nunamaker whizzed a hopper past Hartzell's ear and Killilay fanned. Hooper bunted and Larry Gardner singled, scoring Nunamaker. Speaker walked, crowding the corners. Then Coakley took up the pitching. Lewis greeted him with a single, which drove in two runs. Yerkes gave him the same kind of a reception and drove in two more runs. It was a dizzy whirl of runs. A pass, a double, and Speaker's triple added three more runs in the eighth inning. After Speaker tripled he stole home with the whole Yankee team looking at him. Priest held the ball in his hands, reading the trade-mark.

OH! FOR THE DAY BEFORE.

The crowd came with a big appetite for another rally, and went home hungry.

Perhaps Andy Coakley imagined when he started in to pitch that he was still over in Paterson, N. J.

Exactly 1,927 people said this while coming out of the park yesterday: "Every time the Yanks make a great finish I come up the next day to see them repeat, and they get leathered. I'm a Jonah."

They say Manager Pat Donovan and Owner John I. Taylor are not on the best of terms. Neither are the Yankees and the Red Sox pitchers.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., June 21.—When the peerless Mathewson is working in his best form it takes a team possessed of greater talent than that which is confined within the ranks of the Kling-Tenney-Russell combination to beat the Giants. "Big Six" was in really good form this afternoon, despite the fact that seven hits, three of which went for two bases, were made off his delivery. These, however, did not happen to follow in sequence and in only one round were two made. Only one pass and a wild pitch figured in the knockout 4 to 0 result.

In the chilly atmosphere the crowd at and watched the movements of Hank Weaver, the pitcher who was thrown in with the recent deal by Chicago, and if the first inning had been cut out his work would have won almost any kind of a game except that in which such a marvel as Mathewson was on the firing line.

The Hopes were without Herzog, who injured his hand in practice, and Young played his position. While he cared for all that came his way in a fine manner, there was one blow that went for a single in the opening round that hurt. Arthur Devlin contributed some fine fielding stunts and Larry Doyle had a liking for the service of the Rustlers' latest acquisition to the pitching staff. The Giant leader connected with a double and a home run, the latter being a clout into the corner of the centre field bleachers near Columbus Avenue. By a beautiful throw Snodgrass nabbed Kling at the plate on a throw-in after Young had made a single in the seventh session. Young, Sweeney, and Jones fielded well for Boston, while Crandall at short made plays that would make many believe he was accustomed to playing this position.

In the opening inning the New Yorkers garnered three runs and a lead which was not to be overcome. Devore took first on four bad balls, following it with a steal of second base. Doyle flied to Ingerton and Murray was safe on an infield single which Steinfeldt failed to get to Tenney in time. The bases were choked. Merkle singled to centre, scoring Devore and Snodgrass, and when Jones booted the ball around the middle garden Red Murray also tallied. Crandall singled to left, Merkle going around to third base. Devlin walked, and again all the corners were occupied. Chief Meyers hit into a double play, Young throwing to Sweeney and forcing Devlin at second base, while Bill's throw to Tenney doubled the Indian.

With two out in the first inning Steinfeldt connected with a double, but the next man died easily. After the New Yorkers went out in order in the second inning and two local batsmen were out Jones landed on one of Matty's speedy pitched balls for a double to right centre. Young fanned and nothing came of the two-bagger. In the third session Sweeney connected with a two-bagger, with one out, but as the two succeeding batters were retired easily there was nothing doing in run getting.

Larry Doyle started with a double in New York's fifth inning, but did not get beyond third base, as the men who followed him could not make good. In Boston's half, with one out, Young rapped a single to centre field, but when Weaver flied out to Snodgrass Young kept on running to second base, and the throw-in to Merkle easily beat Young back.

Larry Doyle came to time after one was out in the seventh inning by cracking one of Weaver's best assorted benders into the corner of the right centre field bleachers for a home run. It was the last run for the Giants.

In Boston's half the first and only chance that was opened loomed up. There were two out when Johnny Kling singled to right field. He rounded the bag and started toward second base. Kling fell, and on seeing there was no chance to go on he returned to the bag. Merkle received the ball on a throw from Devore and put it on the Captain. Umpire Finneran refused to declare Kling out, despite the protest of Capt. Doyle. Kling moved to second base on a wild pitch, and when he attempted to score on Young's drive to centre field Snodgrass's throw to Meyers at the plate easily beat Kling. It was the last chance, although in the final inning, with two out, Ingerton got a single to left field and moved up to second base when Murray made a bad throw-in. Crandall and Merkle cared for Kling's try.

Cardinals Beat Reds Handily.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 21.—St. Louis won from Cincinnati to-day in easy style, 5 to 2. The home team made many errors at critical times, and St. Louis took advantage of them to make runs. Score:

CONTEST CONTROL OF CLUB.

Harry Troll Seeks to Oust New President of St. Louis Cardinals.

ST. LOUIS, June 21.—A contest for control of the St. Louis National League Baseball Club was begun here between Harry Troll, St. Louis public administrator, and Edward A. Steininger, President of the club, when Troll yesterday filed what he claims is an authenticated copy of Stanley Robison's will, which had been probated in Cleveland, Ohio, where the baseball magnate died March 24.

Troll, in filing his copy of the will, which he says is the original, asked for the removal of Steininger as administrator of the Missouri estate of Robison. The present leader of the club was appointed by Probate Judge Holtcamp on March 27, when he filed what purported to be a copy of the will with a petition signed by Miss Sarah C. Hathaway Robison and Mrs. Helena Robison Britton, who asked that he be named.

The Robison estate in Missouri consists for the most part of 996 shares of the St. Louis Athletic and Exhibition Company, the official name for the club.

According to Steininger, Robison made three copies of his will, each of which was signed by attesting witnesses. One of them he filed at the time he was appointed administrator. This document has been sent to Cleveland by Probate Judge Holtcamp to have the witnesses there verify their signatures. When it returns Judge Holtcamp will decide the contest.

In case Troll wins he will have direction of the baseball team and will receive a fee of 5 per cent. for all the money he handles for the estate.

EASTERN LEAGUE.

The Torontos, through a combination of errors, wildness by Pitcher Lee, and some healthy clouts, piled up 6 runs in the third inning of the game at Newark yesterday, and it looked as though it was all over with the Redmen. But they stuck to their guns, and by similar combinations kept piling up tallies until they had passed the Kelleyites. They kept the lead until the ninth inning, when errors by Agler and Louden and Fitzpatrick's (the latter having taken Mullen's place when "Jimmy" was banished) homer gave the visitors 3 runs and the lead. But the Redmen came back with a like number on a single, a base on balls, Meyer's triple, and Vaughn's muff of Agler's high fly. Score:

Semi-Professional Games.

The Pottstown (Penn.) team which played the Lincoln Giants a ten-inning game three weeks ago, will play the Lincoln Giants in the first game of a big double-header at Olympic Field, 136th Street and Fifth Avenue, on Sunday afternoon. Jack Doescher, who beat the New York Americans last Sunday, will be in the box for the Pottstown Club. In the second game the Lincolns will oppose the Philadelphia Professionals. Last season the Philadelphia Professionals won the pennant in the North Pennsylvania League. Joe Jeannette will umpire the second game.

The Western Bloomer Girls, a baseball team of Watervliet, Mich., managed by Maude Nelson, will pay a visit to New York next Saturday and play the Murray Hills at Bronx Oval, 163d Street and Southern Boulevard. Miss Nelson's aggregation is said to be expert at the great American game, and has given a good account of itself wherever it has played. The team is touring the East, and the game at Bronx Oval will be its only game in New York.

Two Games at Harlem Field.

The Harlem Athletics, who beat the Murry Hills last Sunday, will play the crack Rahway (N. J.) team at Harlem Field, 142d Street and Lenox Avenue, on Sunday. The Outlooks and Dales of the Bronx Amateur League will play in the preliminary game at 1:30 P. M. The main game will be called at 3:30 P. M.

Golf Tourney at Ardsley.

The annual invitation golf tournament of the Ardsley Club will begin this morning at 9 o'clock, with an eighteen-hole qualifying round. Four sixteens will qualify, beginning their first round of match play this afternoon. Friday will be devoted to the second and semi-final rounds of the tournament, with the finals at thirty-six holes on Saturday. A gold medal will be awarded the golfer with the lowest score in the qualifying rounds, with cups to the winners of four sixteens and beaten eights. The runner-up in the first sixteen will receive a cup. A thirty-six-hole handicap will be held on Saturday, July 1, with a cup for the winner and a medal for the lowest gross score.

BROOKLYN DOWNED IN FIFTEENTH INNING

Mike Doolan's drive to right centre field, which bounded off the tips of Al Burch's fingers, with two batsmen out in Philadelphia's half of the fifteenth inning, gave the Quakers their second successive extra-inning, one-run victory over the Superbas at Washington Park yesterday afternoon. That one smash chased Luderus home from third base, and, although the Superbas had a rosy chance to win in their half of the fifteenth session, they failed to put the necessary dent in the offerings of Alexander (the Great) after the golden opportunity came into view. The final count was 2 to 1.

Brooklyn died hard. With one out in the last half of the fifteenth inning Zimmerman got his only hit of the afternoon, a clean drive to right field for one base. Bill Bergen was thereupon crowded out of the struggle to make room for Pinch Hitter Tex Erwin, and the big fellow upset a few precedents by dropping the first ball pitched into a vacant spot in left field. By the time Magee had grabbed the pill Zimmerman had drawn up at third and Erwin was resting at second. Here was the best chance that Brooklyn had to win, and Manager Dahlen began to inspect the reserve force in search of another pinch hitter for Doc Scanlon. He finally chose George Browne, the ex-Giant-Beaneater-White Sox-Senator, and Newark Indian, who was on the bench enjoying his first day in a Superba uniform. George made a splash, but it was not quite big enough, and the ball found a resting place in Sherwood Magee's mitt. Erwin had violated the speed laws in his haste to get to third, and was easily retired on a double play, Magee to Knabe, ending the game.

The game was a brilliant pitching duel between Doc Scanlon for Brooklyn and Alexander, the 1911 phenom, for the Dooinites. Inning after inning these rival slabsters, showing not the slightest sign of weakening, twisted their opponents into such knots that it seemed that only darkness could put an end to the struggle. Nothing like an earned run was garnered off either pitcher during the fifteen innings, and with support as strong as the pitching there would have been nothing but a steady string of horse collars. Two bunched errors by the Phillies chased Brooklyn's only run across the plate in the opening chapter, and one of Brooklyn's misplays made the tieing run possible in the ninth. Then the two teams continued their battle until Brooklyn's other error put Luderus in position to score the winning run in the fifteenth.

After the Phillies had been let down in order in the first inning the Superbas gathered their only count of the afternoon. Burch was safe on an error by Knabe, and he dusted along to second while Knabe was throwing Daubert out at first base. On Wheat's out to Walsh Burch raced to third, and Walsh threw to Lobert. The ball took an easy bound into Lobert's hands, then bounded out and rolled toward the Brooklyn bench. Alexander, who was backing up Hans, made a quick play to the plate, but Burch slid past Moran safely.

Neither team threatened in the second inning, but it was only by a brilliant throw by Burch that the Phillies were kept out of the run column in the third inning. Moran opened with a double, and was held at second while the next two batsmen went out. Paskert hit a sharp single to centre field, on which Moran tried to score, but Burch made a perfect throw to Bergen and got Pat at the plate.

The Phillies did not see second base again until the ninth inning, when they got the run which tied the score. In this chapter Knabe singled, Paskert fanned, and Knabe stole second, advancing to third when Stark failed to take Bergen's throw. Lobert hit a long fly to Burch and Knabe scored. Coulson fanned for the third out in the fourth inning, with Wheat on third base, and Burch was run down between third base and home in the sixth inning. The teams finished the regulation nine innings with three hits apiece.

Philadelphia went down in order in the tenth and eleventh innings, and the best Brooklyn could do was to get a runner to second base with two down in the eleventh inning. Wheat had his chance but flied to Walsh. Two passes put the Phillies on second and first bases with two out in the twelfth inning, and Scanlon fanned Walsh. The Superbas had a similar lay-out in the thirteenth inning, and Daubert flied to Magee. Both teams died in order in the fourteenth inning, and then Mike Doolan put the game where he felt it belonged.

Fancy fielding stunts by Wheat and Knabe did much to enliven the proceedings. The score:

English Universities, However, Show Mediocre Performances in Athletics.

LONDON, June 21.—Combined teams from Oxford and Cambridge Universities won the majority of events against the London Athletic Club at an athletic meet at Stamford Bridge this afternoon.

The performances were very mediocre and were not flattering to the 'Varsities' chances in the forthcoming contest with teams from Yale and Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 16.—The programme of events for the coming international collegiate track and field competition in London between teams composed of Harvard and Yale athletes and representatives of Oxford and Cambridge became definitely known through the receipt to-day by Capt. R. C. Foster of the Harvard team of a cablegram from England. One of the nine events will be a two-mile run, asked for by the Americans instead of the three-mile event which was favored by the English. The Americans' request for a shot-put event is not allowed, and the hammer throw will be the only weight event.

The two men who will compete in the hammer throw will be determined upon Friday in a test on Soldiers' Field, in which Howard and Cable of Harvard, and Childs, next year's Yale Captain, will compete. The winners will sail for England with the other men chosen, on Saturday.

Stars in Apawamis Golf.

Upward of 130 entries have been received for the Apawamis invitation golf tournament, scheduled to begin at Rye this morning. The field contains both quality and quantity, but as conditions call for a thirty-six-hole testing round, every one will be a given a good chance to qualify. Low-score honors in final practice rounds yesterday were shared by Walter J. Travis of Garden City and C. G. Waldo, Jr., of Brooklawn. Both made the circuit in 75. Waldo went out in 35 and home in 40. Later entries included the names of Gardiner W. White and John M. Ward, and it was said at the club last night that Fred Herreshoff was also expected. These, with Oswald Kirkby of Englewood; Charles H. Seely of Wee Burn, and W. F. Morgan, Jr., of Baltusrol, go to make up a galaxy of talent seldom seen except in a championship tournament.

Federal Bill for Auto Taxation.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Taxation of automobiles going from one State to another, the money thus derived to be used for the improvement of the roads, is contemplated in a bill introduced by Senator Simmons of North Carolina. The bill is a general good roads bill and provides for Federal aid on account of postal routes.

Metropolitan Tennis Results.

William A. Larned made his appearance yesterday in the doubles event of the Metropolitan championship tournament on the turf courts of the West Side Club. The champion was paired with his younger brother, Edwin P. Larned, the two winning their first round match. They defeated C. Frederick Watson, Jr., and Alonzo Potter of the Orange Lawn Tennis Club, 6—2, 7—5.

The singles made excellent progress, which was not without surprises. Dean Mathey, the Princeton expert, continued his series of victories by defeating Dr. Alfred Stillman, 2d, by the score of 6—1, 6—2. Mathey arrived in the semi-final round because of this triumph over the National squash champion. The other player to reach the semi-final was W. M. Hall, who defeated Carlton R. Gardner after three fast sets by the score of 1—6, 6—4, 6—4. The summary:

Men's Singles.—Third Round—Abraham Bassford, Jr., defeated D. Roberts, 6—1, 3—6, 6—1; C. R. Gardner defeated W. H. Y. Hackett, 6—3, 6—2; G. C. Shafer defeated W. L. Pate, 6—2, 6—1.

Fourth Round—W. M. Hall defeated J. H. Magoun, 10—8, 6—4; C. R. Gardner defeated Abraham Bassford, Jr., by default; G. C. Shafer defeated C. R. Leonard, 6—2, 6—1; G. M. Church defeated Dr. Ewing Taylor, 5—7, 6—3, 6—1; F. C. Inman defeated L. E. Mahan, 3—6, 6—3, 6—4; E. F. Leonard defeated J. C. Tomlinson by default; Dr. A. Stillman defeated Hugh Tallant, 9—7, 6—4.

Fifth Round—W. M. Hall defeated C. R. Gardner, 1—6, 6—4, 6—4; Dean Mathey defeated Dr. A. Stillman, 6—1, 6—2; F. C. Inman defeated E. F. Leonard, 6—2, 6—1.

Men's Doubles.—First Round—W. A. Larned and E. P. Larned defeated C. F. Watson and Alonzo Potter, 6—2, 7—5; Harry Torrance, Jr., and Otto Hinck defeated W. D. Bourne and S. M. Merrihew, 6—0, 6—1; K. H. Behr and R. D. Little defeated A. Hahn and partner by default; S. H. Voshell and F. C. Baggs defeated Harry Mollenhauer and W. S. Campbell, 6—1, 6—1.

W. C. Grant Beaten at Tennis.

HARTFORD, June 21.—Many college players appeared in the games of the New England championship tennis tournament to-day, and one of them, C. L. Johnson, Jr., of Amherst, is looked for to take part in the finals. The surprise of the day was the defeat of W. C. Grant of New York by Johnson. Harris and Nelson of Dartmouth fought it out together, the former winning both sets. The summary:

Singles, Second Round.—R. Lyman, Hartford, defeated R. Bacon, Wesleyan, 6—5, 6—4; J. Terry, Hartford, defeated H. C. Fenn, Hartford, 6—1, 6—4; C. A. Lyon, Amherst, defeated F. H. Gates, Yale, by default; W. A. Merriam, Boston, defeated C. Carpenter, Trinity, 6—4, 6—2; C. L. Johnson, Jr., New York, defeated S. Wainwright, Yale, by default, and then disposed of W. C. BOXING BILL PASSES IN STATE ASSEMBLY

ALBANY, June 21.—The Assembly to-day passed Senator Frawley's bill establishing a State Athletic Commission to have sole supervision over boxing and sparring exhibitions. The bill must be returned to the Senate for concurrence in a technical amendment made in the lower house, but the action of the Assembly assures the final passage of the bill by the Legislature. It will now rest with Gov. Dix to approve or veto this proposition for legalized boxing.

The Frawley bill provides for the appointment by the Governor of a commission of three members thirty days after the act takes effect. The Commissioners under the Frawley bill must serve without salary, but will be allowed their necessary expenses and the salary of a Secretary, the total not to exceed $5,000 a year, which must be paid by the State out of a tax on the gross receipts of sparring exhibitions amounting to 5 per cent.

The bill provides that the commission, two of whose members shall constitute a quorum, shall issue licenses to boxing clubs, who must file a bond for $10,000 with the State Controller to guarantee the payment of the tax. The licenses can be revoked at pleasure by the commission, but the licensee in such instances is entitled to seek relief through certiorari proceedings in the courts.

No boxing or sparring match under the provisions of the bill must exceed in length ten rounds, and all such matches must be fought with eight-ounce gloves. Severe penalties, including the forfeiture of license, are set down for clubs who permit any contestants to take part in fake or sham boxing exhibitions.

The commission is given the most sweeping powers, including the power to subpoena witnesses, examine them under oath, and bring about their punishment for contempt should they fail to respond to a subpœna or decline to testify.

MICKEY MACK COMES BACK

The comeback qualities of Mickey Mack featured an otherwise dull entertainment last night at the Sharkey A. C. Mickey and Red O'Keefe got together in one of the preliminaries scheduled to go four rounds, but it only lasted three. Incidentally the pair established something of a record for knockouts in the same fight, three being scattered during the three rounds. Mickey had a bit the worse of the dream punches, getting two to O'Keefe's one, but Mickey had the advantage of getting his over last, and he proved that the last is best. O'Keefe was in no shape to continue, so the bout was called off after Mickey slipped over his dream wallop in the third round.

About thirty seconds after the first round began Mickey's jaw collided with a stiff right uppercut, and there was a tremendous fall in the house of Mack. It looked like curtains, and would have been if the timekeeper had not graciously rung the bell. Mickey begged to be allowed to continue, and as he was apparently none the worse for the hard wallop his request was granted. It required only a few seconds of the next round before Red slipped another uppercut against Mickey's lower jaw, and again there was a sudden drop. Mack pulled himself together the second time, took a minute's rest, as the bell had announced the end of the round, and then went back to the struggle. This time Mickey set all the pace, and in two minutes he had O'Keefe down and out.

Leo Johnson and Kid Smith were substituted for the main bout, as Lindsay and Farmer were not ready to go on. Johnson led all the way, although Smith showed to better advantage in the closing rounds. In the semi-final Battling Larry Ryan knocked out Jack Donahue in one round. The club issued checks good for Saturday night's show.

NATIONAL BOUTS TO-NIGHT.

Jimmy Clabby and Jeff Smith Carded for Ten Rounds in Local Club.

What promises to be one of the best fights of the Summer season is scheduled for to-night when Jimmy Clabby meets Jeff Smith at the National Sporting Club in a bout which is down to go ten rounds but which is likely to end sooner. Clabby has been knocking out his opponents at the rate of one or two a month all through his long career in the ring in many parts of the world. Smith, who is a young boxer of only a year's experience, has put away ten men in the twenty fights in which he has taken part—and most of his knockouts took place before local followers of the game, so that he has built up a big following. He is reputed to be an even money chance in the betting with Clabby in to-night's bout.

A big crowd will probably see the bout, for Clabby is looked upon as one of the most likely contenders for the middle weight championship. He has been seen here but once, that occasion being when he whipped "Dixie Kid" in a lightning fast ten-round bout over a year ago. Plenty of action is carded in the preliminary bouts to-night. In the semi-final Tom O'Rourke will bring together Earl Moore and Joe Borelli, and two other good bouts will also be on the card. Sam Langford will be at the ringside and will be introduced to the members.

Morris-Flynn Bout In East?

KANSAS CITY, June 21.—If satisfactory arrangements can be made between Philadelphia promoters and Frank B. Ufer, manager of Carl Morris, the Morris-Jim Flynn fight will go to that city, it was learned to-night. Ufer telephoned Jim Flynn to-day that he would start for Philadelphia probably to-morrow to meet promoters.

Good Bouts at Longacre A. A.

"Battling" Mantell had the better of "Andy" Cortez in their fistic argument last night at the Longacre Athletic Association, showing to advantage in six of the ten rounds fought. Cortez went away with a lead in the opening session, but in the majority of the succeeding rounds Mantell proved the master. Both boys were on their feet at the end of the battle. As the result of the preliminaries three knock-outs were seen. Walter Brooks attended to the case of Young Green in the second round of their affair; "Kid" Stein put Gus Ruhlin away with a right on the jaw in the third chukker of their engagement, and paved the way for the "prelim" of the night, which was a slashing go between Young Hoffman and "Kid" Casey. The former knocked out his opponent in the third round.

NOTES OF THE BOXERS.

Manager Bill Brown of the Brown Gymnasium A. A. has rematched Joe Stein, the Bronx welterweight, and Honey Mellody for the star bout of ten rounds at next Tuesday night's show. The pair came together about three weeks ago and Stein won the popular decision after ten of the most exciting rounds fought in New York in several months. Johnny Ost and Battling Larry Ryan will clash in the semi-final bout of six rounds.

Frank Moran, the heavyweight, who went to Paris some time ago and was taken sick shortly after his arrival there, returned to America yesterday. Te was one of the passengers on the Olympic.

Knockout Brown has been signed up for another bout. He will engage in a six-round bout with Tommy Ginty, the Sranton lightweight, at the Scranton baseball park on the afternoon of July 4.

Jack Goodman has another rival for the boxing honors of the west side. Charlie Hepburn is the lightweight that is disputing Goodman's right to the title, and he will appear Saturday night in a six-round bout at the Fairmont A. C. Walter McGirr will be his opponent. In addition to this bout there will be one more six-rounder and two tenl round affairs. In one of the latter Jack Goodney will tackle Willie Mango, and in the other Young Packey McFarland, the featherweight who knocked out his man in 40 seconds last week, will tackle Young Saylor. The other six-rounder is a return match between Kid Rose and Joe Farmer.

The card arranged by Matchmaker Billy Neuman for the Long Acre Club Saturday night promises to surpass any week-end stag that the club has held in months. Two star events will be held. Henry Meyers, the lightweight champion of the American navy, who defeated the champions of the various squadrons, will oppose the best man that can be procured for him. In another event Patty Meehan, the featherweight champion of Brooklyn, wil clash with Young Coople. Besides these there will be three-round events between amateurs. the winners of the previous Saturday's bouts will be matched with the following boys: Young Bletz, Battling Stewart, Frank Ward, Eddie Cain, Frank Markey, Willie Flinn, Young Jap, Battling Mack, Joe Allen, Billy Baker, Young Lapsey, Dick Gallagher, and Charlie Lyons.

Frankie Burns, the Jersey City bantamweight; his manager, Tommy Lee, and his sparring partner, Young Shugrue, are now at Waterbury, Conn., training Joe Kid Shea, the Connecticut bantamweight champion, for his coming bout with Sammy Kellar at New Haven. Shea recently lost to Burns in fifteen rounds, and later fought two twelve-round bouts with Tommy Houck.

Jimmy Johnson, manager of Joe Coster and Jim Smith, has wired from New Orleans to have Smith join him on the Coast, where he is taking Coster for several bouts. Johnson has been offered some matches for the Westchester heavyweight by California promoters.

Packy McFarland continues to keep busy in spite of the fact that most of the boys of the lightweight division are sidestepping him. He failed to get on a match with either Knockout Brown or Matt Wells, but he has signed up for a ten-round battle with Tommy Murphy at the Badger Athletic Club of Milwaukee on June 30. They will fight at 135 pounds, weighing in at 3 o'clock.

Paddy Sullivan, the Fighting Irishman, and Kid Burns, the west side lightweight, have been matched for the main bout of next Monday night's show at the Brighton Beach Athletic Club.

Tommy Houck and Young Dyson, two bantamweights, who have been seen in several bouts at various New York clubs, have been matched for the star bout at the Olympic Athletic Club next Monday night.

Young Sammy Smith of Philadelphia, who has been in active training for his match on Friday night at the Twentieth Century Athletic Club, seems confident that he will defeat the New England champion in decisive fashion. Anticipating a victory, Smith is desirous of boxing Matt Wells, the English champion, under any conditions suitable to the latter. Murphy has a chip on his shoulder for Wells, so that Friday night's battle seems destined to be a hummer from end to end.

HUDSON TOO ROUGH FOR COLLEGE CREWS

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 21.—The wind which retarded the crews in training here yesterday afternoon did not subside much to-day, with the result another discouraging day was put in by the men and coaches. In the morning the wind was so strong that not one of the crews went out in the shells, and in the evening, although all got out, it was only for paddles close to shore and stops at the Columbia barge on the way up and down to empty out the half filled boats.

The Pennsy crews started up stream to-night hugging the shore. Before they had gone far they began to strike the heavier waves and they found that they would have to stop at the Columbia float, two miles above, to empty the five odd inches of water they had taken aboard. They then proceeded up the river about two miles, but little real work could be accomplished, for they had to wait every few minutes to take some of the swells broadside.

Following the Pennsy crews the Syracuse fleet of three shells—two eights and a four—rowed over practically the same course that the Quakers did, but only the four took the time to empty its shell at the Columbia float, although when the Orange eights rowed back to their house they had six inches of water in their boats. The four was nearly swamped when it reached the Columbia float.

The Wisconsin boats were next to brave the water and both of their eights found it necessary to stop to pour out the water they had shipped. After that they went up the river, but they were in distress most of the time and Coach Vail said afterwards that they might just as well not have gone out at all.

Late in the evening Cornell and Columbia found it possible to get out for a little better row. Both Coach Courtney and Coach Rice were much disgusted by the end of the day. Rice is behind in the work that he had scheduled for this week and the time trials that all had in mind for to-day had to go for a more favorable day.

Coach Courtney, while waiting around his boat house at The Oaks this morning, commented on the improvement of both the Pennsylvania and the Syracuse eights.

When asked concerning his own varsity eight Coach Courtney was decidedly non-committal, and this means that he thinks they are about up to the standard of the other eights that have represented Cornell. But for the Freshmen, he said that they were not what they ought to be, by any means.

Harvard Oarsman Hurts a Knee.

RED TOP, Conn., June 21.—When the Harvard 'Varsity eight went out to-night it was without the services of G. H. Balch at bow, who sprained a cartilege of his right knee to-day while playing tennis. Whether or not he will be back in the boat cannot be told for several days, according to Dr. Ladd. Balch had water on the knee last year, which kept him out of the boat. Von L. Meyer, Jr., of the first 'Varsity four, took Balch's place in the eight. Trumbull of the second four took the former's place in the first four, and Converse, a substitute, took Trumbull's place. The crews did but little rowing, the eights going down stream for a mile and return, while the fours paddled around.

Yale Eights Race, 'Varsity Winning.

GALES FERRY, Conn., June 21.—For to-night's practice the Yale 'Varsity and freshmen raced over the first two miles of the course downstream, the former winning by three lengths in 10:08. Conditions were favorable, the tide going out and a strong downstream wind blowing. A stroke of from 32 to 33 was rowed for the whole distance. Elwell, who rows at bow, was out of the 'Varsity eight because of boils, and his place was taken by Ives of the second 'Varsity, Crayne, a substitute freshman, taking his place. The fours did a light row of two miles.

Many of the alumni, who have been attending commencement in New Haven, arrived at quarters to-day, among them several old oarsmen. Of the latter a delegation went down to the Harvard quarters this afternoon for the purpose of arranging a gentlemen's eight race for the day preceding the 'Varsity race. Nothing definite was decided, but there will probably be such a race.

N. Y. Y. C. Spring Cups Regatta.

Starting at noon to-day from Station 10, at Glen Cove, the New York Yacht Club Spring cups will be competed for, with two divisions, A and B, with seven and eight classes, respectively. In Division A the classes will be A, B, C, G, H, J, and K. In Division B the classes will be D, E, F, L, M, N, P, and New York Yacht Club "thirties." Ten minutes after the noon hour all of the classes in Division A will be started, while at intervals of five minutes, D, E, and F, L and M, N and P, and the New York Yacht Club "thirties" will be dispatched.

MEADOWBROOKS' CLOSE CALL

In a game distinctly the most thrilling and decisive since the international cup was saved to this country the Meadow Brook first organization yesterday once more added to their laurels by allowing the newly made up Magpies 13 goals and beating them by the narrow margin of 16¼ to 15. It was the opening contest for the Meadow Brook cups, and rich enough in excitement to have satisfied thousands had it been possible to have attracted the public in such numbers to a club field so far from town.

The "Big Four" was not intact, as neither Harry Payne Whitney nor Devereux Milburn materialized. Larry and Monte Waterbury were very much on hand, however, although the former played at No. 3, behind his brother. Rene La Montagne was "in front" and won golden opinions by the dexterity be displayed. Harold C. Phipps "backed" the organization and distinguished himself at that position. The Waterburys played as brilliantly as they did in the final for the international cup, despite the lightness of the competitors.

The score gives no idea of the nature of play, for, while the Magpies—Eugene S. Reynal, Raymond Belmont, Joseph P. Grace, and Cheever Cowdin—were only able to register on two occasions—Reynal in the opening period and Grace in the third—the young quartet made their elders fight their hardest for every goal earned, actually kept them on the defensive and out of touch with the goal all through the fifth round and in the sixth withstood their attack and blocked every approach shot save one solitary goal drive which Phipps delivered at the end of 3:25 minutes.

The Meadow Brook champion team is not listed for another appearance until Saturday, July 1, in the Westbury Challenge Cup game. They will gallop again for the Meadow Brook Cups on or about July 5.

The Country Club of Westchester Freebooters play the second New Havens at Meadow Brook to-day. The line-up:

R. La Montagne....	6	E. S. Reynal........	4
J. M. Waterbury, Jr.	9	R. Belmont........	4
L. Waterbury........	9	Joseph P. Grace....	4
H. C. Phipps........	5	Cheever Cowdin	4
Total..............	29	Total...........	16

Goals—Magpies: Reynal, (1,) J. P. Grace, (1;) allowed by handicap, 13. Total—15. Meadow Brook I.: La Montagne, (5,) J. M. Waterbury, (4,) L. Waterbury, (5,) H. C. Phipps, (3;) less ¾ for penalties. Total—16¼. Referee—Harry H. Holmes. Timekeeper—P. Fitzpatrick.

Boston Terrier Show at Bronxville.

Lovers of the only American dog, the Boston terrier, will have an opportunity of seeing the best of this breed on Saturday at Mrs. George H. Pell's estate, at Bronxville, where the New York Boston Terrier Club will hold its specialty show. Two hundred and forty-seven special prizes have been offered in the various classes, including Arthur Williams's President's Plate, George F. Parker's Champion Sister Carrie's, Vice President's Trophy, Mrs. S. J. Minturn's and Mrs. George H. Pell's challenge cups. The specials will include over $200 in money prizes.

The quality of dogs that will be exhibited will be far above the average, as one class will bring together sixteen champions, the best of the breed. The judging will start at 10:30 A. M.

Coaching on Magnet and Meteor.

Morris E. Howlett was the whip on the coach Magnet in its trip yesterday to Arrowhead Inn, the guests being J. W. Ryan of Atlantic City and his party. Walter Lee tooled the Meteor in the run to the Brighton Beach Casino, Coney Island, the coach being occupied by F. J. Quinn and party.

FARLEY SEEKS GRAFTING ATHLETES

The conflicting rumors relative to the hold-up tactics of certain athletes of the metropolitan district have culminated in an attempt by the Registration Committee to unearth the offenders against the amateur definition. To this end Terence Farley, Chairman of the committee, has written John Gill, the manager of the games held at Celtic Park, June 4, under the auspices of the Bricklayers and Masons' International Union No. 37, asking his co-operation toward ferreting out the rumors.

The gist of Mr. Farley's request is that he be made acquainted with the names of those who are said to have held out, at the sports in question, for appearance money, and that Mr. Gill further help the committee with any information along such lines that he may be in a position to divulge.

Mr. Farley's action is the result of a heart-to-heart talk he had with James E. Sullivan, the President of the association, in which the latter is said to have resented the inactivity of the Registration Committee in the matter. Mr. Sullivan further pointed out the rule which gives the committee power to act, as common report is considered sufficient basis for suspension and disqualification.

A close follower of local athletic matters, when he learned of the intention of the committee to query Mr. Gill, laughed and said:

"They will have a fine time getting any information of that kind from him. He was around town the day before yesterday endeavoring to learn who had told any such doings as were attributed to certain men after the bricklayers' games, and asserted that there wasn't a word of truth in them. He furthermore stated at the time that his association had made no money at the games.

"My idea of the whole thing is that a few of the boys have been talking too much; that the whole affair will blow over, and wind up as such things generally do in this district.

"The way for the Registration Committee to get at the foundation of the whole trouble is to refuse to give sanction to the outside organizations—that is, societies which have not athletic interests, but merely run games in an endeavor to make money—which are said to be the bidders for star athletes, and who, not knowing any better, and probably thinking it is within the rule, give way to the appearance money demands made upon them.

"Another way out of the difficulty would be to discountenance the overplus of special races in which the same men continually compete, here, there, and anywhere they are bid for. While, of course, it would be, as in the present case, hard to prove that any of these men get money for such races, I, for one, feel that they do not desert metropolitan competition and travel many miles for the fun of the thing."

CUP FOR FRENCH TEAM.

The King Edward VII. Cup for jumpers was won by a French team. Russia was second and England third. The trio representing America in this event was composed of Lieut. Gordon Johnston, Fort Riley, on Ottawa; Lieut. E. F. Graham, Tenth Cavalry, riding Quandary, and Capt. George Vidmer, Eleventh Cavalry, with Roustabout.

FOR NATIONAL HONORS.

Champions from All Over United States to Compete in Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Penn., June 21.—The National Amateur Athletic Union junior and senior championships to be held at Forbes Field June 30 and July 1 have assumed huge proportions. Even at this early date the entry list includes some of the names of the greatest athletes in the United States, while assurances have been received from the majority of the remainder that they will take part in the affair. The meet is absolutely free to the people.

The entry of the Seattle Athletic Club arly in the week demonstrated the fact that the coming meet is a National affair both in name and fact. W. M. Inglish, director of athletics at the Seattle Athletic Club, wired The Press that he would bring seven of the athletes that captured titles in the 1909 National junior and senior Amateur Athletic Union meet held at Seattle.

In addition to this Secretary George A. Schneider of the Cleveland Athletic Club, who inspected the field on Saturday, promised that Cleveland would be represented this year by even a stronger team than the one which took all honors at the meet held at Forbes Field last year. An idea may be gained of the strength of the team, if it is to be stronger than the one that captured all the Tri-State and Olympic events last June.

Besides the men that competed for the C. A. C. last year, a number of former college champs have been added to the squad, which promises to be one of the most formidable a—t the championships.

The importance of the affair has been shown by the acceptance of the Chairmanship of the Committee of One Hundred of Pittsburg's most prominent citizens by Mayor William A. Magee. This also demonstrated that the affair has received official recognition. The committee will be selected soon and will be composed of Pittsburg's most notable men.

Governor John K. Tener of Pennsylvania will be an honor guest, and will act with the committee which will welcome the famous athletes and the notable persons who will come here to witness 1911's blue ribbon athletic event.

AUTEUIL, France, June 21.—The Grande Course de Haies d'Auteuil, worth $14,400, distance three miles and one furlong, was won to-day by Olry Roederer's Carpe Diem. A large attendance of members of society, including many Americans, witnessed the race, the event being one of the smartest of the season. There were no American entries.

French Aero Team Selected.

BOUY, France, June 21.—Alfred Leblanc, who drives a Bleriot monoplane, and Nieuport and Chevalier with Nieuport machines will compose the team to represent France for the Gordon Bennett Aviation Trophy, which was won last year by Claude Grahame-White at Belmont Park, Long Island, and which this year will be contested for in England. Emile Aubrun is reserve man. The elimination trials were held here to-day.

Swimming at Sheepshead.

All of the best fancy and high diving competitors are going to be seen in competition at the big Sheepshead Bay Water Carnival, which opens July 1 with the Public School Amateur League swimming championships. A big tower is to be erected in the bay right off Manhattan Beach shore. Special diving competitions will be features of the intercollegiate events, which are scheduled for July 8, the Amateur Athletic Union competitions on July 9, and the United States Volunteer Life Saving stunts on July 2.

Among the stars who will take part in the Amateur Athletic Union fancy diving are Smyrk, the champion of England; Lee, the former American champion; Mullen, McAleenan, and Ruddy of the New York Athletic Club. The schoolboys are also to have their diving competitions at the contests of the Volunteer Life Saving Corps, and diving of all descriptions, with men and women participating, will constitute several of the biggest features. The entries for the intercollegiate events close with Mr. Paterson, Secretaory of the association. The Amateur Athletic Union entries with Otto Wahle, and the schoolboy events are in the hands of "Johnny" McHugh.

Louis Disbrow to be Free Lance.

Like Ralph De Palma and other star drivers, Louis A. Disbrow has decided to pursue a free lance career as a driver and not tie himself down to any one company. This, he says, is merely so that he can do more racing this season. There are few companies which enter all of the big motor speed events scheduled, and at present he is considering a couple of offers to pilot fast cars at Elgin. His work recently, when he broke so many world's records, made a wide reputation for him, and he will pilot the same car in several events in the future which the company desires to enter, but in the meantime he is open for engagements on cars of other makes which are of the worth while calibre.

Perhaps you do not know that the ton-mile operating cost of electric commercial vehicles is far less than that of gasoline vehicles—to say nothing of the fact that the maintenance and repair cost is only a fraction of that of the gasoline car.

Perhaps you do not know that the chances are about five to one that your hauling requires electrics rather than gasoline vehicles.

Perhaps you do not know that the operating and maintenance cost of Lansden Electric Wagons is the lowest yet reached by any commercial vehicle.

Perhaps you do not know that some of these Lansden Wagons have been in service more than seven years, and are operating today on their original Edison Storage Battery equipment.

We have specific information which you ought to have.
We will send it or bring it, if you'll phone or write.

RAPID TRANSIT PROGRESS.

Thus far nobody with an open mind has considered the report prepared by Mr. McAneny for the conferrees without frankly recognizing its great merits. There are exceptions to this rule of universal approval, but they hardly come within the qualification of openmindedness. This unanimity upon this most contentious topic is a marvel worth attention in itself, apart from the substance of the report. The conferrees had no power whatever, except that conferred by the reasonableness of their conclusions. They took hold when the subject was in the most tangled and prickly condition, and achieved their first triumph when they subordinated their individual prepossessions to an agreement. For this service all concerned are entitled to thanks, and especially Mr. Willcox on the part of the Public Service Commission. Lack of co-operation might have nullified Mr. McAneny's efforts at the start. Popular and press opinion instantly and generally recognized the honesty and ability of the report, which has steadily strengthened itself by its own qualities. There has been no accelerating nor wirepulling in its favor, although there has been against it. Even the Mayor has accepted it. Nothing like this has happened in recent city experience. It is an example of popular government at its best, and exemplifies the power of ideas to control events when there is a fair chance. Whatever the result of this latest and most promising effort to solve the city's most vexed problem, Mr. McAneny has won the admiration and the confidence of the city.

But there are lions in the path. The question of routes has been answered. The question of finance remains, and that does not admit of compromise. The only possible operators are embarrassed to decline the city's offer, but they may be more embarrassed to accept. The officers of the roads are responsible to their owners, and are subject to the tyranny of their balance sheets in a manner from which even the most prudent administrators of tax money are exempt. If the operators should decline their responsibilities under the proposal the force of events might compel the city to undertake the quarter-billion operation itself, regardless of the considerations which govern the answers of the rival bidders. The question substantially is, can hundreds of millions be borrowed on a couple of pages of statistics as collateral? The argument that the proceeds of the expenditure of the borrowed money is behind the securities begs the question. The rails and ties and the tunnel are worthless unless the figures of the growth of the city's travel are right. They represent all experience, but the construction of this unexampled public work represents prophecy.

No one doubts as matter of history that every addition to transit facilities has increased travel. The latest year reports the largest increase of fare-paying passengers. Huge as the expenditures are, an annual growth of 128,000,000 passengers would justify them. There is reason to expect an even larger growth, for we used to pay only 43 fares apiece each year, and now we pay 321. There would seem to be margin enough, and yet it must not be forgotten that the very object of this enormous undertaking is to redistribute our population and our industries. Public men agree that sanitary and economic considerations demand that factories should be located anew and that factory hands ought to be lodged where they may be spared the daily fares which lessen their scanty earnings. The shape of the city now is such as to compel the greatest amount of travel, and to extract the greatest number of nickels. The very object of this excellent plan is to end the double-fare extortion and to make the city a semi-circular area instead of a parallelogram. In proportion as the plan achieves its object it impairs the collateral upon which it is financed. It is impossible not to hope that the plan shall succeed completely, and it is equally impossible not to feel anxiety as to what answer the bankers may make to the application of the bidders for accommodation. Whatever answer the bidders may desire to make the answer which will control will be the answer of the bankers, and of that we can deduce nothing from the popular or even the official approval of the report.

Even more serious is the outlook if the bankers' answer shall be adverse. The situation will then be worse than when the failure to find an operator doomed the Triborough. Bad as the city's situation would be as the holder of the second mortgage upon an enterprise which private capital had refused to finance, it would be worse as the sole builder of a route which private operators had declined to consider. The cost of an independent city subway would be merely burdensome, the cost of municipal operation might be productive of conditions little different from bankruptcy. In short, the Interborough and Brooklyn Rapid Transit Companies are as necessary to the city as the city is to them. No independent city line can give the service which the extensions of their lines would give. Co-operation should be the word, not punishment, nor competition for the sake of harassment. The future is a problem apart from the past. Persistence in the candid and just spirit of the McAneny report is the best hope of realizing the prospect which the report opens.

INJURIOUS NOSTRUMS.

Because, as the Federal Supreme Court has ruled, the Food and Drugs act of 1906 fails to provide against the sale in inter-State trade of "worthless nostrums labeled with misstatements of fact as to their physiological action"—misstatements within the knowledge of those who make them—President Taft has chosen to regard the case as calling for immediate action, as in a public emergency. He asks Congress at its extraordinary session to amend the law so that it will no longer permit these "dangerous drug frauds." A compound of which the active ingredients are arsenic and strychnine should be deemed misbranded when labeled:

> A brain, blood, and nerve food; especially prepared for the treatment of dyspepsia, neuralgia, kidney and liver trouble, catarrh, consumption, locomotor ataxia, wasting diseases, nervous diseases, nervous debility, and all kindred diseases resulting from worn-out nervous system.

The Federal District Court's decision in the case of the United States vs. Two and One-Half Gross Packages of "Make-Man Tablets" denounced this label as grossly fraudulent, after its maker had confessed that his case admitted of no defense. President Taft speaks of "nearly one hundred criminal prosecutions," "concluded in the Federal courts by pleas of guilty and the imposition of fines," in every respect similar to the one we have instanced. The manufacturers of these injurious nostrums consciously injure, for gain, the ignorant and enfeebled and dying. They are worse than forgers and counterfeiters. Yet, under the law, and until it shall be amended, they may resume their detestable business and go scot free.

END OF THE PROTECTION ERA.

When a solid Republican delegation from the State of Kansas votes solidly for a Democratic measure reducing by one-half the duty on wools and woolens, it ought to be plain to everybody that the old Republican doctrine of protection has fallen upon evil days. When a Republican Senator from the great State of New York frankly admits, as Mr. Root admitted yesterday, that he does not think that the farmer has been greatly benefited by the protective system, perhaps not protected at all except in some instances along the Canadian border, it must further be evident that the bond that has so long united the Republican Party and the protected interests is broken.

This is a veritable revolution in respect to the tariff. For more than a generation high and higher protection has been the greatest single issue of the Republican Party, an issue which it has used with great skill and great success to continue its hold upon the political power of the Nation. But on Tuesday the House voted by more than two to one, the record standing 221 yeas to 100 nays, for the Underwood bill, making very substantial reductions in the duties of the woolen schedule. Twenty-six Republicans voted for the bill. Thus the Democrats have manfully kept their platform pledge of 1908. They have begun the work that the Republicans promised to begin, but which, breaking their promise with the country, they miserably failed to undertake. The country's answer to their act of betrayal was the election of a Democratic House. The Democrats came into power in the lower house with a full understanding of what was expected of them, with an intention in good faith to meet that expectation. They have proceeded wisely, deliberately. They have given their support to the reciprocity agreement. They put by the temptation to attempt in haste a revision of the whole tariff. They chose as their first task the worst schedule. That they have revised, reasonably and moderately, but in a way to afford real relief to the grossly overtaxed consumer.

There can be no doubt that the country will approve and give its support to the policy entered upon by the Democrats. The passage of the reciprocity agreement by the Senate is assured. By defeating the Underwood bill dealing with the woolen schedule the Republican Senate would not only set itself against the House of Representatives, but against the country. Do the Republicans of the "Old Guard" really need another lesson, a second chastisement, such as they received in the elections last Fall? If they are determined to invite a repetition of that disaster, the opportunity to gratify their desire is at hand. It will come next year.

THE NIGHT COURTS.

> I am one of those who have doubted that we needed any Night Court at all. About all that they exist for is to let people go who should not have been arrested at all.—Mayor Gaynor.

The discharges of men of the class that Mayor Gaynor describes number nearly one thousand a month. The Magistrates who sit in the Night Court find the work at night distasteful to them. Their convenience would be more indulgently consulted if the Night Court were abolished. To be sure, some ten or twelve thousand innocent persons a year might, as a consequence, have to endure the inconvenience, not to say shame and humiliation, of a night in a police cell. But the Magistrates get only a third of the year off duty. We might indulge the desire of some of them for lives of ease, and disregard the interests of the thousands of innocent inmates of the station houses. Still, those who are guilty are entitled to the benefits of a speedy trial.

But the Mayor forgets another purpose of the enactment that established the Night Courts. It was to put a stop to the evil of the station house bondsmen. They, too, would be overjoyed if the Night Courts were abolished.

MAYOR GAYNOR WILL VETO THE STILWELL BILL.

We congratulate Mayor Gaynor upon his firmly expressed determination to uphold the principle of home rule for this city. At the public hearing on Tuesday upon legislative bills awaiting his approval or veto, the Mayor said:

> Under no condition will I approve a mandatory bill telling us in this city that we've got to do things whether we want to or not.

That settles the fate of the Stilwell bill, commanding this city to erect a court house in City Hall Park. If the Legislature should pass it, Mayor Gaynor will read in its fifth section that, at the behest of a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court in the First Judicial District of the State, or of a committee appointed by a majority of Justices, the plans and contracts for the monstrous encroachment upon the park shall be filed with the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, and > it shall then be the mandatory duty of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund to immediately advertise for bids or proposals for the work specified.

Furthermore:

> The Board of Estimate and Apportionment of the City of New York must, from time to time, upon the requisition of said Commissioners, or of a majority of said Justices of the Supreme Court, hereinbefore referred to, or of the committee hereinafter referred to, appropriate such sums as may be necessary to defray all expenses and to meet all obligations incurred under the provisions of this act.

We venture to say that no bill introduced at this session of the Legislature, or at any session, has more impudently told "us in this city that we've got to do things whether we want to or not."

GOV. DIX AND THE GAMBLERS.

The gamblers who are interested in horse racing are besieging Gov. Dix's offices to learn whether, in the event of the passage of the Gittins Race Track bills, he will give them Executive approval. They have been told by those up-State legislators who sympathize with their aims that with the votes for the Gittins measures go the reputations of the men who cast them. An up-State legislator might consent to sacrifice his reputation for so worthy a cause; but, if the Governor vetoes the bills, the sacrifice would be in vain. They believe, of course, that horse racing depends upon gambling for its support, and that, without gambling, the organized business of horse racing fails. If a limit were put upon what the word "bookmaking" means, and if Directors were to become again legally irresponsible for gambling at the tracks, they are quite persuaded that the enactment of the bills effecting these objects would please the racing associations.

All eyes are upon Gov. Dix. The race track men, and their army of employés and touts for the bookmakers and poolrooms, as well as the legislative leaders and the religious and civic organizations, want to know how he feels about the Gittins bills.

THE SMALL COLLECTOR'S CHANCE.

Now is the time for the lover of art to buy pictures. Economy is not at the present moment conspicuously an American virtue, whatever may have been the case in the early days when our vast structure of wealth was having its foundations laid; and the readiness of American millionaires to "pay the price" for what they wish to possess has led to the development of a speculative element in the picture market and swollen values in special directions which easily may be turned to good account by the small collector of educated taste.

If he has a liking for the pleasant English landscape painted with sympathy and skill, he can still have a George Morland for a price within three figures and be aesthetically in very good case, although the Turners and Constables are beyond his reach.

If the dainty art of the eighteenth century in France allures him, he can watch his chance for a charming water color or a chalk drawing by Boucher or even by Fragonard himself for exchange of his few hundreds of dollars, while the "important" pictures of the latter in a less gracious medium are bringing their tens of thousands. If he is still more strictly limited, there are pictures by well-trained and clever, though often anonymous, Frenchmen of the same fastidious period whose work brings in the auction room little more than the legendary "song."

But, if he is sensible to the merits of our own art, his opportunity stares him in the face. In the exhibitions, in the studios, in the salesrooms, pictures of quality await the astute and initiated connoisseur, and at prices that are trifling in comparison with those paid for the work of the innocent dead.

The bloated auction records are discouraging enough to the buyer who longs to hang the walls of his thirty-thousand-dollar American basement house with portraits by Gainsborough and Romney, Corot landscapes or Millet peasants; but he who can clear his mind of the insidious tendency to covet what everybody is talking about will reap his reward, provided only that he "knows what he likes." If he does not, he has no place among collectors.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

No Sailor, but He Has Sense.

Evidently the so-called sailors' strike in both this country and England is going to result, if not in an out-and-out victory for the men, at least in a slight increase of their pathetically scanty wages, and in a considerable improvement of the wretched conditions as to food and living quarters in which they have been working. That the strikers have gained as much as this, and have done it so quickly, with few breaches of the peace and those not serious, is a surprising fact—one that more than hints the necessity for revising accepted opinions as to the intelligence and character of the men who form the crews of the modern steamer.

Of course, not one in a hundred of them is a sailor in the old sense of that word, or in any other sense except that of passing much of their time afloat. Part of them, except in immunity from seasickness, are exactly such men as are to be found in the various departments of a hotel or restaurant, while most of the others duplicate the boiler and engine room employés of steam-using plants ashore. They do not pretend to the all-around handiness of the old-fashioned sailor. It is not expected or needed of them. That sailor is a rapidly disappearing type, and though there is a good deal of sentimental and romantic mourning for his loss, there is no reason for assuming that the loss is any more irreparable than that of archers, hunters, or the followers of any other once important but now superseded trade.

The assumption that the best, the only good, training for steamship service must be acquired on sailing vessels is about as reasonable as would be the assumption that locomotive engineers and firemen should learn their business on stage coaches. This mistaken notion has probably had something to do with the small esteem into which the modern seaman has fallen and with the treatment to which he has been subjected. That he is not a paragon either of manner or conduct cannot be denied, for like the rest of us he has reacted to his environment, and the vicious circle of abuse and desert of abuse has been followed. Yet in this instance he has shown the ability to organize, to select a favorable moment for a contest with most powerful and formidable antagonists. His demands have been wonderfully moderate, considering the bitterness of his grievances and the extent of his power. In other words, he seems to be a good deal of a man, after all.

Even Bandits Have Their Uses.

In considering whether Gen. Madero has done wisely or not in giving an important military command to a man who by common consent was recently rather more of a bandit than of a revolutionist, one must not forget the peculiar circumstances which led up to this appointment.

There are, too, bandits and bandits, the difference depending less upon what they do than upon the conditions that caused the doing. What would be mere criminality in one time and place might be excusable or even justifiable when governmental or economic conditions are nearly or quite intolerable.

To be taken into account, also, is the fact that Zapata, turned into a regularly commissioned officer, may become an extremely useful man because of his vigor and courage, or even of his picturesqueness and his ability to enforce his will and views on a large number of followers. It wasn't so long ago that the British Government gave Morgan, the indubitable pirate, guilty of all the spacious crimes his lively imagination could invent, a much higher post than Madero has given to Zapata, and Jamaica fared well enough under his reawakened sense of responsibility.

The Mexican made a rather heroical figure when he went to the capital alone, "broke" and emptied his rifle, put aside his two big revolvers, and demanded judgment from his chief. A wild warrior in a wild war, he should not be judged too harshly.

The Letter to Gov. Wilson.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

On this, the longest day in the year, I want to send my heartiest congratulations to The Times. I have been amazed in looking through the Sunday edition to see the many different places from which your news items came by wire and "without wire." From the most remote places on earth, from Dan to Beersheba, from Greenland's icy mountains to Afric's coral strand your news columns testify to the greatness of your journal.

But this morning you outdo all other "scoops," and as a resident of New Jersey I sincerely hope our Governor will give serious consideration to the (is it a wireless) dispatch on your editorial page from "the pale shores of the Stygian Lakes, within the unbroken gloom of Tartarus."

Defiant Junk Dealers.

An ordinance was passed two years ago aimed at the old-clothes men and the junk dealers. It was in operation for a couple of months, and then sunk into innocuous desuetude. To-day the streets of New York swarm with the junk dealers and the awful clang of their bells, beginning at 7 o'clock in the morning and continuing in noisy procession all the day, drives quiet people to the very verge of distraction. Why, please tell me, should this rich, powerful, and beautiful city be placed in the possession of this horde of vandals? The millions who are not engaged in the junk industry surely have rights.

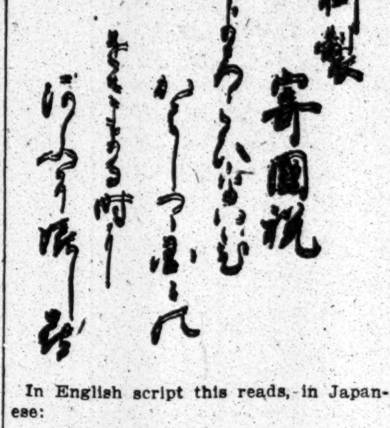
A POEM BY THE MIKADO.

Coronation Ode in His Own Tongue and in English.

The Emperor of Japan has written a poem on the coronation, and the poem has been reproduced in The Japan Financial and Economic Monthly of Tokio. The original looks like this:



In English script this reads, in Japanese:

Yorokobi wo, ii
Osamaru toki ni
  Auzo ureshiki.

And this, according to a note appended, as "respectfully copied and interpreted by Baron Seifu Takasaki, Chief of the Bureau of Poetry in the Department of the Imperial Household," would read in English:

Two Topics.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

To two of your "Topics of The Times" in this morning's issue I wish to subscribe an emphatic Amen! They are, "Open Warfare Against the Police," and "Senatorial Folly Culminates."

On the first I would remark that somehow, through some influence, the "gangs" of this great city have been led to regard the police as powerless to enforce commands in the manner fully warranted in dealing with "gangs"—with clubs and, if clubs do not suffice, with pistols.

The two instances cited, are, to my mind indicative of rebellion against recently adopted measures for the suppression of rowdyism in public conveyances.

The present Police Commissioner seems to appreciate the necessities, and as we have his word that no disarming orders have gone out from headquarters, I hope he can find himself in position to successfully combat the influence aforesaid.

On the second "Topic," referring to the bill requiring signed editorial articles, I would ask what a State Senator's conception of duty to his constituents really is? Does he realize such a dereliction in that duty as prompts him thus in futile effort of self-defense? Is his skin so thin that he cannot take what is coming to him as other men of responsibility must do? Does he suppose himself to be other than a public servant, and so above suspicion or public criticism? By what interpretation of "duty" do our State Senators so waste the people's time in folly of the sort noted?

The people want their newspapers as they are, without lessened force of editorial power. Their newspapers are oftentimes, as it seems, of more importance to the welfare of the people than are their legislators!

INTERESTED CITIZEN.

New York, June 21, 1911.

Hopes Mayor Gaynor Will Veto It.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The various discussions entered into by correspondents and the editorials of the "press" in regard to the taking of City Hall Park for the building of a new Court House lead me to make a few remarks in regard to this—the latest grab upon the park lands of the city.

Some two years ago I quite well recall the popular disapproval that a measure received which had for its purpose the building of an Academy of Art in Central Park, as well as another well-known park grab bill which had for its purpose the building of an armory in Crotona Park and the letting of park space to individual clubs and associations.

True to the policies of home rule, the Legislature killed the former measure, but the latter measure received its approval, and had it not been for the loyalty of former Mayor McClellan the park land of this city, which had been held by the Supreme Court to be the property of the people collectively, would have been entirely destroyed and its good uses eliminated.

I add one more voice of disapproval to the pending bill, and trust that should perchance a Legislature which is Democratic ignore its political policy of home rule, the Mayor of the City of New York, who has at various times shown himself to be disposed toward the keeping intact of the park lands of the city, will veto the bill.

I am sure that there are many other convenient as well as advantageous spots in Greater New York other than the City Hall Park where the new Court House could be placed, which would meet with the approval of all concerned in its erection.

LOUIS S. RAPPAPORT.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

There is a considerable leak in the aqueduct running through Van Cortlandt Park, wasting, unnoticed by the park authorities, thousands of gallons of water daily. On the driveway surrounding the easterly side of the golf links, about three-quarters of a mile from the 242d Street and Broadway entrance, is standing on the eastern edge of the road and on the west side of the aqueduct a wooden basin, an open pipe leaning against it, and throwing a full stream of water into the basin, which is kept from filling by an overflow to the Van Cortlandt Lake. Besides this, a little creek of water is running down the hill to the lake. This cannot be spring water, as the dam of the aqueduct would bar any accumulation of water from this side of the park, and, as the cold temperature of the water indicates, is coming directly from the aqueduct itself.

"Souls."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In The Times of last Sunday appeared a news item to the effect that the City of Paris contained so many "souls." Will you please state just what you meant by that expression? I do not think that any one has ever clearly shown what a soul really is. Certainly no one has ever been able to demonstrate the existence of such a thing. There are some who, while believing that a soul does exist, will not grant it to every human being, going so far as to deny its presence in women. Others again believe it to be the possession of every living organism.

A Briton Speaks.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

From the reports in your own and other journals it would seem that the caprice of a handful of noisy American tourists will determine the success or failure of the coronation of his Majesty King George V., if not the actual canceling of that ceremony. May I state that London is in no panic because a few people have been scared away by American newspapers, the King will not abdicate, and the only people who will suffer are the get-rich-quick English and American speculators who are building "American plan" hotels to bleed the traveling Yank.

Unsafe Brooklyn Bridge Entrance.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

While there is so much talk about the subway improvements, may I suggest that the railroad officials pay more attention to the handling of the crowd at the Brooklyn Bridge entrance at Park Row? As it is handled at present it is positively unsafe for any woman to alight from any of the surface cars coming from Brooklyn.

THE MURRAY HILL COVENANT.

Injunction Against Milk Cannery, It Is Said, Is Not Related to It.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In to-day's issue of The Times, in reporting a proceeding before ex-Judge Leventritt, wherein plaintiffs prayed for an injunction to restrain the White Cross Milk Company from maintaining a nuisance in the Murray Hill section, you say:

"* * * The matter at issue is really a broader one, involving the right of property owners in the restricted section in which J. Pierpont Morgan has his home to enforce an agreement, made in 1847, that was calculated to hold back the advancing business invasion.

"The referee's view is that the sixty-four-year-old agreement is perfectly good, and that even if it weren't there would still be ample grounds for suppressing the obvious nuisance of the milk cannery."

And further down, referring to the result of the findings, you continue:

"It will establish a precedent, it is thought, on which the business encroachments can be permanently forced back."

The above remarks may be perfectly true with respect to the particular section in which the stable under discussion is located, but so far as they refer to the restricted section further down, i. e., near Mr. Morgan's home, I submit that they are inaccurate.

The courts have already passed authoritatively upon this restrictive covenant in the case involving the Cameron Building, on Madison Avenue and Thirty-fourth Street.

In that case the court refused to enforce the covenant by injunction on the ground that the character of the neighborhood had so changed as to make the enforcement thereof inequitable.

As it seems to me you appear to miss the distinction between these two cases. In the Cameron case the neighborhood was undergoing a transformation because of the inrush of new business houses, whereas in the present case the whole neighborhood is of a residential character. Furthermore, as the learned referee intimates, the injunction would issue regardless of the covenant, and upon the ground that the character of the business complained of constitutes a nuisance.

In conclusion, I beg to say that nothing in the referee's decision, so far as reported, holds out any crumb of comfort to those residents of Murray Hill who desire to keep out the invaders. All the referee decided was that the milk business as carried on by the defendant in a purely residential section was a nuisance, covenant or no covenant. If the business complained of had been that of a high-class dressmaker, for instance, the result would probably have been different.

SAVE CITY HALL PARK.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

New York has few ancient monuments to inspire us, its chief ornament is its old City Hall, now again threatened with needless destruction. Once before a law was enacted by the Legislature which would have removed the City Hall and obliterated its park. Patriotic citizens deluged Albany with petitions, praying for its preservation, thousands of individuals, societies, fraternities, and organizations sent petitions to save New York's old City Hall and park. Many newspapers and thousands of persons throughout America appealed for its protection and the bill was repealed, and until now the City Hall has been safe.

It is menaced again by the mandatory Stilwell bill to force a monstrous building upon it. New York's children, scattered through our great country, have inalienable rights to protest against this desecration of a beloved memorial of honored predecessors.

Let us preserve and rededicate this historic treasure, let postal card, individuals, and association appeals inundate Albany to spare this sacred place at the new world's gateway.

Write now! Plead for your metropolitan hearthstone. Prove your association with the hopeful and highhearted of your time and so pay tribute to honored sires.

Save New York's old City Hall and park and in this revelation of our emotions find new fellowship and love for our country and each other.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

At reading this morning's account of the latest "battle" between toughs and the police the following question arises in my mind: Is it not time that some bright legislator bring a bill to re-establish the whipping post in this free, yet so unfree country? And this bill should be passed, too! For the rowdyism of these "gangs" there is nothing adequate in the way of punishment except a good thrashing.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Where are your American men? When a crowd looks on and sees Policeman Vecchis and Mr. Gust nearly murdered by a gang of toughs at 118th Street and Seventh Avenue, and allows a woman, Mrs. Irvine, the only person in a crowd of 1,000 to appeal for help unheeded—shame on you! If the public would only co-operate with the police and help them when they get into a tight corner, instead of looking on like a lot of cowards and idiots, it would help to rid the streets of these pests.

Whistling in Public Library.

Sightseers are still admiring the new library with unabated interest, but some students are anxiously inquiring whether there is a part of the great structure to which they can escape from the ceaseless whisting of employes in uniform.

By the screen in the reading room and at either end of the great hall a pandemonium of whistling and yells comes up from the "stacks." I have never been permitted to see that forbidden section, but it seems to be entirely given over to rowdies, who think they are on a field for athletic games.

PUSSY'S PLEA.

Now is the season of my discontent;
  When Summer comes, and all the world is gay
  With Nature's smile, my mistress hies away
To shore and woodland green, while I am pent
In back yards lone and empty. Weak and spent
  From lack of food, I prowl by night and day
  O'er fence and gate, and howl my doleful lay,
But there is none to heed a cat's lament!

Sad is my lot! Why was I born a cat!
  My lady's ugly poodle takes his nap
  On some hotel veranda, in her lap.
Without a care, he feasts and waxes fat
  The Summer long. Please, friends, now have the grace
  To plead the cause of my ill-treated [illegible]

TAFT ASKS FOR LAW TO STOP DRUG FRAUDS

DANGER TO PUBLIC HEALTH

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Though absent at the Yale commencement exercises, President Taft to-day sent to Congress a special message urging stringent amendments to the existing Pure Food and Drugs act. He was particularly bitter in his denunciations of false labels that raise hopes of prompt cures for dangerous diseases. Representative Sherley of Kentucky, a leading Democrat, has already introduced a bill of the sort outlined by the President, and it is expected that the House may soon take up the measure and pass it. The chances in the Senate, where tariff legislation is in full swing, are less hopeful, but legislation may be had at this session. The message reads:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

Your attention is respectfully called to the necessity of passing at this session an amendment to the Food and Drugs Act of June 30, 1906, which will supplement existing law and prevent the shipment in inter-State and foreign commerce and the manufacture and sale within the territories and the District of Columbia of worthless nostrums labeled with misstatements of fact as to their physiological action—misstatements false and misleading even in the knowledge of those who make them.

On June 30, 1906, after an agitation of twenty years, the Food and Drugs Act, passed by the Fifty-ninth Congress, received the approval of the President and became law. The purpose of the measure was two-fold—first, to prevent the adulteration of foods and drugs within the jurisdiction of the Federal Government, and, second, to prevent any false labeling of foods and drugs that will deceive the people into the belief that they are securing other than that for which they ask and which they have the right to get.

The law was received with general satisfaction and has been vigorously enforced. More than 2,000 cases have been prepared for criminal prosecution against the shippers of adulterated or misbranded foods and drugs, and seizures have been made of more than 700 shipments of such articles. More than two-thirds of these cases have been begun since March 4, 1909. Of the criminal cases more than 800 have terminated favorably to the Government, and of the shipments seized more than 450 have been condemned and either relabeled or destroyed. In every case in which the food seized was deleterious to health, it was destroyed. A large number of cases are now pending.

Court Holds with the Dealers.

The Supreme Court has held in a recent decision (United States versus O. A. Johnson, opinion May 29, 1911) that the Food and Drugs Act does not cover the knowingly false labeling of nostrums as to curative effect or physiological action, and that inquiry under this salutary statute does not by its terms extend in any case to the inefficiency of medicine to work the cures claimed for them on the labels. It follows that, without fear of punishment under the law, unscrupulous persons, knowing the medicines to have no curative or remedial value for the diseases for which they indicate them, may ship in inter-State commerce medicines composed of substances possessing any slight physiological action and labeled as cures for diseases which, in the present state of science, are recognized as incurable.

An evil which menaces the general health of the people strikes at the life of the Nation. In my opinion, the sale of dangerously adulterated drugs, or the sale of drugs under knowingly false claims as to their effect in disease, constitutes such an evil and warrants me in calling the matter to the attention of the Congress.

Fraudulent misrepresentations of the curative value of nostrums not only operate to defraud purchasers, but are a distinct menace to the public health. There are none so credulous as sufferers from disease. The need is urgent for legislation which will prevent the raising of false hopes of speedy cures of serious ailments by misstatements of fact as to worthless mixtures on which the sick will rely while their diseases progress unchecked.

At the time the Food and Drugs Act was passed there were current in commerce literally thousands of dangerous frauds labeled as cures for every case of epilepsy, consumption, and all lung diseases, cures for all kidney, liver, and malarial troubles, cures for diabetes, cures for tumor and cancer, cures for all forms of heart disease; in fact, cures for all the ills known at the present day.

The labels of many of these so-called cures indicated their use for diseases of children. They were not only utterly useless in the treatment of the disease, but in many cases were positively injurious. If a tithe of these statements had been true, no one with access to the remedies which bore them need have died from any cause other than accident or old age.

Says Deception Is Willful.

Unfortunately, the statements were not true. The shameful fact is that those who deal in such preparations know they are deceiving credulous and ignorant unfortunates who suffer from some of the greatest ills to which the flesh of this day is subject. No physician of standing in his profession, no matter to what school of medicine he may belong, entertains the slightest idea that any of these preparations will work the wonders promised on the labels.

Prior to the recent decision of the Supreme Court, the officers charged with the enforcement of the law regarded false and misleading statements concerning the curative value of nostrums as misbranding, and there was a general acquiescence in this view by the proprietors of the nostrums. Many pretended cures, in consequence, were withdrawn from the market, and the proprietors of many other alleged cures eliminated false and extravagant claims from their labels, either voluntarily or under the compulsion of criminal prosecution. Nearly one hundred criminal prosecutions on this charge were concluded in the Federal courts by pleas of guilty and the imposition of fines. More than 150 cases of the same nature, involving some of the rankest frauds by which the American people were ever deceived are pending now, and must be dismissed.

I fear if no remedial legislation be granted at this session that the good which has already been accomplished in regard to these nostrums will be undone, and the people of the country will be deprived of a powerful safeguard against dangerous fraud. Of course, as pointed out by the Supreme Court, any attempt to legislate against mere expressions of opinion would be abortive; nevertheless, if knowingly false misstatements of fact as to the effect of the preparations be provided against, the greater part of the evil will be subject to control.

The statute can be easily amended to include the evil I have described. I recommend that this be done at once as a matter of emergency.

EDWARDES STAYS MANAGER OF GAIETY

MRS. GOULD IS BLAMED

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 21.—George Edwardes was in the cheerfulest frame of mind when seen by THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent to-day on account of the renewal by the directors of his new five-year contract as manager of the Gaiety Theatre, London.

"There's nothing new to add to what has already been printed of Frank J. Gould's endeavors to oust me," said Mr. Edwardes, "and if you really want to know my opinion I will tell you that he had little to do in the whole affair. The trouble was caused by Mrs. Gould, who wanted her sister to have the star part and her brother appointed stage manager."

Asked whether Mrs. Gould's wishes would be realized, Mr. Edwardes declined to answer, but his attitude showed plainly that it was extremely unlikely that they would be.

That Frank J. Gould had become a large shareholder in the Gaiety Theatre stock, and would probably seek to gain control of the London playhouse, came in a cablegram from London several weeks ago. Mr. Gould, it developed later, was able to obtain 7,999 shares of the Gaiety stock, Mr. Edwardes and others close to him retaining 8,634. Mr. Gould was unsuccessful in his attempts to purchase any other shares from the English shareholders, although, it was reported, he offered considerably more than the quoted price. The shares have a par value of £1, and are rated at £2½ now. There are 60,000 shares in all.

With the report of Mr. Gould's desire to control the theatre came several statements as to his probable intentions. It was said that George Edwardes, whose directorship of the Gaiety had lasted many years, would be ousted and another director appointed. For this position Patrick Malone, whose wife and Mrs. Gould are friends, was mentioned, together with Alfred Butt, director of the Palace Theatre, and Charles Dillingham of New York. Malone has been a producer of musical plays for Edwardes for years.

Mr. Edwardes underwent an operation early this month, at the time when the Gould efforts were made known. When he was told of the story he was quoted as saying: "It may be possible that the Gaiety shareholders may wish Mr. Gould to look after their interests and manage their property. In that case I shall be very pleased to retire in his favor. Until this is so I shall not believe it."

CHEERS FOR BERNHARDT.

Audience Stands and Applauds Actress as She Bows Farewell.

Sarah Bernhardt said farewell to America last night through an audience that filled the Globe Theatre to its utmost capacity. The play was "Camille," and its performance lasted until well on toward midnight. At the conclusion of the drama, when the curtain had fallen, the audience began to show its enthusiasm that had been pent up during the five acts.

It was enthusiasm unusual for a New York audience. There was not simply an outburst of applause of the ordinary sort, but cheers and shouts of "brava," and the waving of handkerchiefs. Every one in the house stood up, even the people in the boxes, and shouted and clapped their hands. The curtain rose and fell at least twenty times, and still the cheering continued, increasing as Mme. Bernhardt appeared and bowed each time. Finally, when the crowd showed no intention of quitting, the house lights were turned on, and the asbestos curtain lowered, and even then the applause continued.

After the theatre was darkened and the doors closed a large crowd gathered at the stage entrance to wait to give the actress a final cheer. Her arms filled with flowers, Mme. Bernhardt got in her automobile, and went to her hotel, the Marie Antoinette.

And then came a farewell supper, given by her American manager, William F. Connor. The guests consisted of Mme. Bernhardt, her company, and those who had accompanied her on her tour of the United States. At 10 o'clock this morning Mme. Bernhardt will sail for France on the Lorraine.

W. A. BRADY OFF FOR LONDON.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Brady (Grace George) and their son were passengers on the Lusitania, sailing for London yesterday. Mr. Brady expects to stay only a short time, but while in England he will have a conference with Justin Huntley McCarthy regarding a new play for Robert Mantell, and will arrange for London productions of "Over Night" and "The Lottery Man."

Lee Shubert was another passenger on the Lusitania, and on the same ship were Mr. and Mrs. Lew Fields and their children, going on a five weeks' vacation.

Mlle. Dazie Again in Vaudeville.

Mlle. Dazie, the dancer, will return to vaudeville for a four weeks' engagement this Summer, beginning at Hammerstein's roof garden on July 3. She is under contract with the Shuberts to return to the Winter Garden regular production early in the Fall. For her vaudeville appearance she will revive her pantomime dance, "L'Amour de l'Artist."

Kosloff Will Dance in "Cleopatre."

Beginning to-morrow night the Bacchanale in the ballet of "Cleopatre" at the Winter Garden, will be danced by Lydia Lopoukowa and Alexis Kosloff and the corps de ballet. Up to this time at the Winter Garden Mlle. Lopoukowa has been alone at the head of the ballet, owing to the illness of M. Kosloff, whose physician would not permit him to dance. The music of the Bacchanale is by A. Glazounow, and the dance was originated by Mlle. Lopoukowa and M. Kosloff in Paris.

"The Rivals" at Sylvan Carnival.

"Sylvan Carnival Week" at Hastings-on-Hudson and Dobbs Ferry will begin to-morrow night with an open-air performance of "The Rivals," given by George Ober and his company. The carnival will be held on the grounds of the River View Manor estates, half way between the two villages. The proceeds will be devoted to the Playground Fund administered by the Village Improvement Society of Hastings, and to the securing of permanent headquarters for that organization.

Billie Burke Goes to Europe in July.

Billie Burke will end her season in "Suzanne" at Spokane, Wash., on July 10. She will return to New York at once and sail for Europe on July 15. On Aug. 8 she will sail from Liverpool in time to begin rehearsals in New York of her new play, "The Runaway."

Seeking Will of the Great Lafayette.

Permission to hunt for a will of "the Great Lafayette," who was burned to death in Edinburgh May 9, was granted to Lawyer William Grossman by Surrogate Cohalan yesterday. Grossman believes that there may be a will in Lafayette's safe deposit box in the New Amsterdam Safe Deposit Company.

SOCIAL NOTES.

Mrs. Robert Morris is leaving town today for her camp in Montana, where she will spend the Summer. She is taking a party of guests with her, and in August Mr. Morris will join her.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Winterfeldt, who returned sometime ago from Europe, are occupying their country estate, the Crossways, at Scarborough-on-Hudson.

Senator William A. Clark is closing his town house at Seventy-sixth Street and Fifth Avenue preparatory to going abroad. He and his family will not return until the Autumn. It is expected that the house will then be ready for formal entertaining.

Mrs. Edward Renshaw Jones left the Buckingham yesterday for Monmouth Beach to visit her daughter, Mrs. Henry Burr Barnes, Jr., who has taken a cottage there for the Summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian McCarthy Little have returned from Europe, and are staying at the Hotel Wolcott a few weeks before going to Narragansett Pier for the Summer.

Miss Ethel Herrick, daughter of Mrs. Frederick C. Herrick of Boston and Paris, and Thomas J. Prindiville of Chicago, will be married at noon to-day in the Lady Chapel of St. Patrick's Cathedral. The wedding breakfast will be held at Sherry's.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Jay Bruen have taken a cottage at Easthampton, L. I., for the Summer.

William Price, M. P., Raleigh Kerr, and Sir Francis Langelier, Lieutenant Governor of Canada, will arrive to-day to attend the coronation dinner at the Plaza to-night.

WARD-FREEMAN.

Westchester Boss's Son Weds and Tells Parents Afterward.

Miss Edna R. Freeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Freeman of this city and Port Chester, N. Y., and Evans Ward, eldest son of William L. Ward, Republican National Committeeman, were married in Rochester, N. Y., on June 12.

The wedding took place while Miss Freeman was visiting her sister, Mrs. Basil Whitney Matthews in Rochester, and the young couple's families here did not learn of the wedding until the bride had returned to her parents' country place at Port Chester, N. Y., several days ago.

The bridegroom is now at Rock Falls, Ill., where he is in charge of his father's factory, and where his bride expects to join him soon. The Ward and Freeman families have been friends and neighbors at Port Chester for years.

MISS JOSEFA CROSBY A BRIDE.

Married to Roger Brooke Hopkins in St. George's Church, Flushing.

Miss Josefa M. N. Crosby, daughter of Mrs. Allen Howard Crosby of Flushing, L. I., and Sherbrooke, Quebec, was married yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock to Roger Brooke Hopkins of Baltimore, Md., in St. George's Church, Flushing. The Rev. Dr. Henry B. Waller performed the ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's mother, 71 Jamaica Avenue.

The bride was gowned in white satin and old lace and wore a tulle and lace veil. She carried roses and gardenias. She was attended by her sisters, the Misses Ethel and Mary Crosby.

Francis E. Pegram of Baltimore was best man, and the ushers were George H. Powell and Thomas Hastings of Baltimore, B. F. H. Shreve of Philadelphia, Richmond Weed and C. Blyth Martin of Flushing, and Paul T. Jones of New York.

The couple will spend part of the Summer at Woodbrook, Md., where Mr. Hopkins, who is a business man in Baltimore and a member of a well-known family in that city, has his country home.

Miss Brown to Wed Lieut. Barnett.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Announcement was made to-day of the engagement of Miss Katherine Davis Brown, daughter of the late Commander R. M. G. Brown, U. S. N., and granddaughter of ex-Senator Henry G. Davis of West Virginia, to Second Lieut. Chester B. Barnett, Fifteenth Cavalry, U. S. A. No date has been settled for the marriage, which is expected to take place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee, Gracelands, at Elkins, West Va., uncle and aunt of Miss Brown.

Miss Brown made her début Winter before last at a large tea given by Mrs. Lee at her town house in Massachusetts Avenue. Lieut. Barnett is a son of Lieut. John T. Barnett, U. S. A., retired, and was graduated from West Point last June. He is stationed at Fort Meyer.

Miss Sloan to Wed Monson Morris.

Gen. Nelson Herrick Henry and Mrs. Henry announce the engagement of Mrs. Henry's daughter by her first husband, Miss Bess Bryan Sloan, to Monson Morris. Miss Sloan made her début several seasons since in Albany, where Gen. Henry and Mrs. Henry have spent much time in past years. She is descended from an old South Carolina family, and was educated in part at the Moravian School at Winston-Salem, N. C., and was of the fifth generation of her mother's family to be graduated from the school.

Mr. Morris is on the military staff of Gov. Dix, and a Captain in the Twelfth Regiment. He was graduated from Columbia in 1897, and is a member of the Knickerbocker, Union, Meadow Brook, and Turf and Field clubs.

No date has been set for the wedding, but it will take place next Autumn.

John Sperling, Former Jockey, Weds.

John Sperling, who was formerly a jockey for John A. Drake, and rode many famous horses to victory, including Ort Welles, was married to Miss Marie Louise French, daughter of Mrs. Mary French of 218 East Forty-fifth Street, in St. Agnes's Church, Forty-third Street and Lexington Avenue, yesterday. William Edwards was best man, and the bridesmaid was Miss Abigail Miles. Mr. and Mrs. Sperling left the city for an automobile trip of two weeks. They will live at 112 West 117th Street on their return.

Normal School Graduate Weds.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., June 21.—When the orchestra at the commencement exercises of the Montclair State Normal School yesterday played Moret's dainty "Cupid's Patrol," most of the other 137 girls in the graduating class turned and smiled significantly at Miss Edythe Mercier Pohle. Miss Pohle's wedding to Arthur B. Cole of this town took place this evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore T. Pohle, 58 Forest Street. The Rev. Edgar S. Wiers, pastor of Unity Church, officiated, and a large number of friends witnessed the ceremony.

Miss Hickey Weds Dr. Wm. H. Helbig.

Miss Catherine Elizabeth Hickey of 1 West Eighty-third Street and Dr. William Henry Helbig of this city were married yesterday afternoon in the Church of St. Thomas the Apostle. A reception was held afterward at the Hotel Buckingham.

Mrs. J. W. Pinchot Operated Upon.

Mrs. James W. Pinchot, who arrived from Europe several days ago with her daughter, Lady Alan Johnston, wife of the British Minister to The Hague, was operated upon yesterday at the residence of her son, Amos R. Pinchot, 1,021 Park Avenue, and is doing as well as can be expected. Gifford Pinchot, ex-Chief Forester, and Lady Alan Johnston, are also staying with Mr. and Mrs. Amos R. Pinchot.

Franklin Fyles Seriously Ill.

Franklin Fyles, the dramatic critic, who has been seriously ill at his home in West Ninety-fourth Street for the last week, was reported as being much better last night. His condition, it is understood, is still serious, however. Mr. Fyles was dramatic critic for The New York Sun for many years, and recently he has been acting as New York correspondent on theatrical matters for a number of out-of-town papers. He is the author of several plays.

MYSTERIOUS FRIEND IN GAMBIER CASE

He Is Said to Have Procured for the Complaining Wife the Services of Augustus Van Wyck.

SHE DENIES LOVE PASSAGES

Nine Days After She Visited This Friend's Apartment She Was Writing Ardent Letters to Her Husband.

Edward V. Gambier, who is opposing the suit of his wife, Edith Russell Gambier, for separation and is suing her for the annulment of their marriage, spent an uncomfortable half-hour in the Supreme Court before Justice Pendleton yesterday. Gambier was obliged to listen to the reading of letters, written before his marriage, in which he drew rosy pictures of his coming happiness with his bride-to-be. These letters, following previous courtroom disclosures to the effect that their honeymoon was loveless, provoked compassionate laughter from the audience. Even Mrs. Gambier had to hide her smiles behind her fan. There is a dispute as to who was to blame for the strange character of the honeymoon trip of the Gambiers.

Zest was given to yesterday's hearing by the appearance in court of a man who was defined as a friend of Mrs. Gambier. Extraordinary precautions were taken to keep his name secret. His name was shown to her on a piece of paper, and it was also shown to Justice Pendleton. Mrs. Gambier said he was the man who had helped her to obtain a lawyer. She is represented in the suit by Augustus Van Wyck. The friend, who is young and wore a sporty costume, kept his own counsel and dodged the photographers.

The cross-examination of Mrs. Gambier by her husband's attorney, Martin W. Littleton, revealed the fact that her meetings with this young man had been closely shadowed by detectives in her husband's hire. She admitted that she went automobile riding with him on Sept. 1 last. His address, it appears, is 1 West Sixty-eighth Street. On Oct. 11, she said, she visited the Madrid and other restaurants with him. She also ate in the Waldorf-Astoria, Knickerbocker, and other hotels with him. She denied, however, that she had ridden with him in his motor car through Central Park on various occasions late at night, and that he had kissed her, disarranging her hat and hair; also, that she had walked along Seventh Avenue, below Times Square, with him, and had allowed him to keep his arm about her waist. She admitted visiting the Blossom Heath Inn with him. She denied that she spent an hour and a half with him in his apartment on Oct. 31, but said she had visited the apartment with another woman for the first time on Nov. 1, and had learned that it had five rooms.

Mr Littleton paused at this point and asked Mrs. Gambier if, after accepting this man's attentions for some time, she had written to her husband, saying:

"You know I love you, else I would not have married you."

She replied that she had.

"And it was nine days after you had been a visitor in this man's apartment that you wrote this ardent letter to your husband?"

"Yes."

"And you say you were sincere?"

"I was sincere."

"That's all!" exclaimed Mr. Littleton with a flourish.

Mrs. Gambier explained that "A. C.," one of the expressions with which she was addressed in letters from Gambier before their marriage, was an abbreviation for "Angel Child." In one of these letters he said:

> Dear A. C.: So you have opened an account at Tiffany's. My! Aren't you getting reckless? Don't follow Mrs. Howard Gould's example and buy $57,000 worth without remembering the circumstances. If I am to be addressed as "Dear Mr. Gambier," I shall have to address you as "Dear Miss Russell."

Gambier wrote under date of Oct. 30, 1909:

> I went to see the "Love Cure," but sought no remedy. It had no curative powers. I am still enslaved. I saw Blanche Ring in Philadelphia in the "Yankee Girl," and she reminded me so much of you. She had your petite air and she walked right into my heart. I spent the night in the Home for Incurables. Funny, after the "Love Cure"; what?

On Jan. 20, 1910, Gambier wrote:

> My Precious Girl: I have been a most impatient chap, waiting for the word that was to make me the happiest of men. It says "Come," and that command, coming from the Queen of My Soul, is a royal greeting. Since the time I first saw you, seven years ago, my heart has reached out to you and even after an army of younger standard bearers are in the field, the conquest is mine.

It is understood that the unnamed friend of Mrs. Gambier will be called to the stand early next week.

MIGHT HAVE SAVED LIFE.

Policeman Suspended for Failure to Arrest Cassidy, Who Fell to His Death.

Deputy Police Commissioner Walsh suspended Policeman Charles Hand of the Prospect Park Station, Brooklyn, yesterday, for failing to report a robbery and to make an arrest in the case.

The charges against the policeman followed the death of John Cassidy, a Park Department employe, from injuries he received by dropping from the third-story window of a Flatbush hotel to the street. Hand, who was off duty, had been drinking in a room of the hotel with Cassidy on the night of June 9. He accused Cassidy of stealing his gold watch and chain, valued at $65.

The Coroner's jury exonerated Hand of any connection with Cassidy's death, returning a verdict that it was accidental. It is supposed that Cassidy had a quarrel with Hand and tried to escape from him by climbing down a fire escape. If Hand had arrested him when he made the accusation Cassidy's fatal fall would probably not have occurred.

SOCIETY OF THE CINCINNATI.

Gen. Winslow Warren Opens Triennial Meeting in Old State House.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 21.—A busy day was passed by the officials and delegates attending the triennial meeting of the General Society of the Cincinnati, which began its first day's session in the old State House, with President Gen. Winslow Warren of the Massachusetts Society of the Cincinnati presiding.

The Rhode Island Society of the Cincinnati received unusual honor by President Warren, who suspended the rules and gave the members, as they marched into the chamber headed by President Asa Bird Gardiner and Vice President Charles Warren Lippitt, the privileges of the floor. President Gardiner welcomed the General Society to Rhode Island and referred to their visit twenty-four years ago.

A feature of the drill given at the Naval Training Station this afternoon by the brigade of naval apprentices, after Vice President Lippitt had entertained the General Society with luncheon at his home, was the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" as the white uniformed body marched off the parade grounds. Later a drill by coast artillery companies at Fort Adams was enjoyed.

To-night the General Society delegates and their wives were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Dyer at their residence, Wayside, which was decorated with American and French flags. Mr. and Mrs. Dyer were assisted by Miss Laura Swan and Pembroke Jones. The Newport Mandolin Orchestra played and supper was served.

Twenty-four years ago the ballroom at the Newport Casino was used for the banquet of the General Society of the Cincinnati, and will again be so used to-morrow evening at the banquet to the General Society by the Rhode Island State Society.

The General Reception Committee of the Rhode Island State Society is composed of William Payne Sheffield, William Watts Sherman, Col. Edward Wilkinson Rogers, and Bishop Livingston. The committee having charge of the entertainment of the ladies consists of Oliver Hazard Perry, Robert Taylor Varnum, and Edward Aborn Green.

HOME FOR ROCKEFELLER, JR.

New House Planned to Occupy Site of John J. McCook's Residence.

Part of the additional property lately purchased by John D. Rockefeller adjoining his home in Fifty-fourth Street, west of Fifth Avenue, is to be used for a residence which Mr. Rockefeller will build for his son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr. The new house will occupy a frontage of fifty feet, taking in the plot at 10 West Fifty-fourth Street on which stands the Col. John J. McCook residence, bought last March by Mr. Rockefeller for about $225,000. This is a thirty foot plot, and twenty feet of the Rockefeller garden to the east will be included to round out the fifty foot frontage for the new house.

The McCook house, one of the handsomest dwellings in the block, will be torn down within two or three weeks, and it is expected that within a year John D. Rockefeller, Jr.'s, new home will be finished. Plans have been prepared by architect William Welles Bosworth. It will be of the American basement type, from six to seven stories in height and will cost about $250,000.

Mr. Rockefeller has taken title to the two dwellings at 7 and 9 West Fifty-third Street from Benjamin Stern, and it is stated that the house at 9 West Fifty-third, formerly occupied by George Vanderbilt, will be torn down to provide a garden for the Rockefeller, Jr., house. It is directly in the rear of the old McCook home at 10 West Fifty-fourth Street. Mr. Rockefeller some time ago bought the house at 5 West Fifty-third Street and gave it to his daughter, Mrs. E. Parmelee Prentice. Young Rockefeller's present home is at 13 West Fifty-fourth Street, a few doors west of the University Club

TO REBUILD PARK WEST DRIVE

Commissioner Stover Intends to Create a Durable Roadway.

Park Commissioner Stover is planning a complete reconstruction of the whole length of West Drive in Central Park from Fifty-ninth Street to 110th Street, a distance of a little more than two miles and a half. Commissioner Stover says Mayor Gaynor has been over the Drive and has approved of the method of improvement proposed. In addition, the Park Commissioner has received the assurance that an appropriation will be made for the work almost immediately.

The Park Commissioner purposes to dig up the west Drive from the bottom. It is now a road bed of gravel construction, very susceptible to washing by rains and the action of horses' hoofs and heavy automobiles. Consequently it costs a considerable sum of money each year to keep it in even fair repair. The gravel bed is to be done away with entirely, and a durable road bed will replace it. This will have broken stone and cement at the bottom, and built upon this foundation will be layers of small stones and a top layer consisting of pulverized stone.

By making an entirely new road Commissioner Stover will be able to get an issue of corporate stock for the work, whereas this could not be done if the road were to be repaired only. Not enough money will be available at present to reconstruct the East Drive also, but Commissioner Stover purposes to treat this at once, as he recently treated Riverside Drive, that is, with red clay, and a bituminous preparation, sprinkled on the clay and mixed with it. But next year the permanent improvement is to be extended to the East Drive, giving the Park two thoroughfares, easy to keep in perfect condition, on each side, and running the length of it.

Julie Opp in Coronation Masque.

Julie Opp, who is Mrs. William Faversham, is to take part in the coronation gala performance at His Majesty's Theatre, London, next Tuesday night, appearing as one of the twelve hours in Ben Jonson's masque, "The Vision of Delight." Miss Opp made her first London appearance in "Camille" with Sarah Bernhardt, and later was leading woman of George Alexander's company at the St. James's Theatre.

GRESSER'S FRIENDS TO FIGHT REMOVAL

CITY CLUB TRUSTEES CONFER

May Act to Support the Ordway Report—Objection the Protestants Raised to Chase Mellen's Counselship.

A commitee of fifteen friends of Borough President Lawrence Gresser of Queens held a conference in Flushing last night to discuss a plan to raise $5,000 by subscription with which to employ counsel and work for his retention in office in spite of the Ordway report recommending his removal. The committee's plan is to request Gov. Dix to fix a date some time next week for a public hearing, and, if possible, to have the entire case reopened and heard by the Governor personally.

While these friends of the Queens ex-Borough President were planning to assist him, the Trustees of the City Club in this borough were also in conference upon the Gresser matter. Their conclusion was not made public at the close of the meeting, but Secretary Binkerd stated that if the club decided to send a letter to the Governor indorsing the Ordway findings, the letter would be public, and would deal exhaustively with the subject, the club's Trustees having been giving special attention to the evidence.

The attitude of the City Club toward the Gresser case is of particular interest to the Queens taxpayers who carried the Gresser case to Gov. Dix because Chase Mellen, law partner of President Charles H. Strong of the club became special counsel for Mr. Gresser in the Ordway investigation after Secretary Binkerd had invited the protestants to file copies of their evidence with him, that the club might assist in forwarding the case.

In the investigation of the office of Borough President Ahern of Manhattan, President Strong of the City Club was associated with Mr. Spencer of the law firm of Ordway & Spencer as counsel for the protestants. In the Gresser case Mr. Strong apparently disagreed with his law partner as to the propriety of accepting a retainer from Mr. Gresser, and gave it out that his firm, as such, had nothing to do with the matter, Mr. Mellen being personally engaged.

A series of letters was made public yesterday regarding the issue between the City Club and the protestants, headed by Charles Pope Caldwell. On Aug. 22 Secretary Robert S. Binkerd of the club wrote to Mr. Caldwell:

> I tried on Friday to get you to take luncheon with me, but without success. Will you not call up my assistant, Mr. Howes, at the City Club and go over the material that you have with him, in order that he may intelligently take up the matter with the President of the club? I trust that you can take this up with Mr. Howes immediately.

In answer to this letter Mr. Caldwell called at the City Club, where he furnished a synopsis of the case against President Gresser. The club, however, did not take action in support of the protest.

On Sept. 26 a letter announcing his retention as counsel for Borough President Gresser was received from Mr. Mellen, in which he said:

> I have been retained to defend Mr. Gresser and I write to inquire when you contemplate moving for trial. I take this occasion to say that you will notice that I am a partner of Charles H. Strong, who is President of the City Club. The firm of Strong & Mellen was invited to undertake the defense by a committee of well-known citizens of Queens, one of the committee having long been a client of the firm. After careful consideration, however, Mr. Strong declined to permit the firm to accept the retainer and decided to have no connection whatever with the case. The defense will therefore be conducted by me individually, as Mr. Gresser's attorney.
> Mr. Strong has asked me to say to you that on consulting with the Secretary of the club he learned that the Secretary had, at your request, been over the charges and some of the evidence with you before the same were presented to the Governor. It also appears that the Secretary had, without going into the merits of the case, advised Mr. Strong in writing of this fact, but Mr. Strong had formed no opinion, nor had he gained any information about the case. While Mr. Strong is personally unbiased, nevertheless, in view of the club's activities in the case against Mr. Ahearn and Mr. Haffen, he has decided that it will be best for him to have no connection with the present case, in order that the club, under his Presidency, may be free to take any action in this or any similar matter that may hereafter seem proper.

This letter was carried by the protestants to Chairman John Brooks Leavitt of the Discipline Committee of the Bar Association. Subsequently Caldwell wrote to Mr. Mellen.

> The matter of the assistance to be rendered by the City Club was opened by Robert S. Binkerd, secretary thereof. You can therefore imagine my surprise upon the receipt of your letter, stating that you had been retained to defend Mr. Gresser, in which letter you clearly admit that Mr. Strong, your partner, very properly feels that neither he nor your firm could under the circumstances represent Mr. Gresser. To my mind I cannot distinguish between his and your position, for as I understand it, a partnership is not a legal entry, and particularly when I consider the fact that your partner, Mr. Strong, was associated with Mr. Spencer, the partner of Mr. Ordway, in the proceeding for the removal of Mr. Ahearn.
> The position which you take is all the more puzzling to me by reason of the fact that shortly before receiving your letter, I had a telephone conversation with Mr. Binkerd in which he stated that if the commission find as fact the matters which we charge, the City Club would do all in its power to have Mr. Gresser removed. If such action were taken, your partner, as President of the City Club, would certainly be called upon to act in opposition to the attitude which you, as counsel for Mr. Gresser, would be compelled to take.
>
> To this should be added the fact that when I spoke to you over the telephone after receiving your letter, I asked you for the names of the committee of well-known citizens, one of whom had long been a client of your firm, who had invited your firm to undertake the defense of Mr. Gresser, to which you replied that perhaps you could furnish me with their names later.
> I have shown your letter to Mr. John Brooks Leavitt, Chairman of the Committee on Discipline of the New York County Bar Association, and he has authorized me to say that from the reading of your letter he is very much surprised that you, whom he knows very well, had accepted the retainer. If your sense of propriety permits you to place your firm and the City Club in the unfavorable light which the position taken by you places them in, the taxpayers whom I represent have nothing further to say.

An effort was made during the taking of testimony by Commissioner Ordway to find out who employed Lawyer Mellen and was responsible for his fees. When James A. McDonald of the Fifty-ninth Street railroad was on the stand he testified that he was the client of the law firm of Strong & Mellen, who employed Mr. Mellen in the Gresser case. He said he did it on his own initiative and not as a result of a conference with any other person.

The protestants will now make a special effort at Albany for action on the Ordway report as rendered without the taking of further testimony.

Not to Save His Life Will Leavenguth Submit to Operation.

The refusal of Walter Leavenguth, the victim of the shooting at Livingston Tuesday, to allow the surgeons of the Orange Memorial Hospital to operate on him to extract the buckshot from his abdomen may cause his death.

J. Walter Force, the bridegroom who shot Leavenguth, and Hugh Porter are still in the County Jail awaiting the outcome of Leavenguth's injuries.

In Livingston the whole population has become hostile toward the family of Force. His relatives are ostracized, and some of the more angry residents are talking of "running them out" of town. The Force family has a number of wealthy relatives, and they have made their home in Livingston for many years.

COUPLE'S SMILES END SUIT.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 21.—The trial of the separation suit brought by Mrs. Florence Whitbeck against her husband, Harold C. Whitbeck, a wealthy bottler of Millerton, came to an abrupt end in the Supreme Court here to-day, when Justice Morschauser observed Mrs. Whitbeck and her husband exchanging smiles. The Court, with a merry twinkle, accused the couple, and though Mrs. Whitbeck, blushing, denied the charge, Justice Morschauser adjourned the case for three months, expressing the hope that the pair would be reconciled.

"From what I have observed in the courtroom, you are not very far apart," said the Judge. "Smiles have been passing back and forth between you two, and that indicates to me that it wouldn't take much to bring you together."

Mrs. Whitbeck declared that she had not smiled at her husband that afternoon, but the Judge said he could not be fooled, and that he was not the only one who had noticed the flirtation in the courtroom.

The Whitbecks, neither of whom is more than 25, were married four years ago. Mrs. Whitbeck charged her husband with cruelty and with threatening to kill her. His income, she says, is $20,000 a year.

Postmaster for 44 Years Dead.

HAUPPAUGE, L. I., June 21.—Wallace Donaldson, who had been Postmaster here since 1867, which is said to be a record in Government service, died early this morning at his home from heart disease. Mr. Donaldson was born in New York in 1837. As a young man he came to Hauppauge and ran a general store. Three Postmasters preceded Mr. Donaldson, and the stories of how he defeated aspirants for the office, as the time for appointments rolled around, form a part of the local history of the village. Mr. Donaldson was prominent in the Methodist Church.

Col. John McDonough.

Col. John McDonough, a veteran of the civil war, died yesterday at Stamford, Conn., after an illness of three years at the age of 79 years. He was among the volunteers who answered Lincoln's first call for thirty days' service at the outbreak of the civil war, and served through the war, fighting at the first battle of Bull Run and later with the Sixty-ninth Regiment of Volunteers, and rising from private to the rank of Adjutant. Later Mr. McDonough became Colonel of the Veteran Corps of the Sixty-ninth Regiment and Commander of the Gen. James Shields Post of the Grand Army of the Republic. His last regret was that he was unable to parade with his post on Memorial Day.

Millard P. Tisdel.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Millard P. Tisdel, one of the leading commercial experts of the United States, died at his home here to-day of heart disease. He was born at Madison, Ohio, sixty-seven years ago and served during the civil war with the Seventh Ohio Regiment. Mr. Tisdel occupied many positions of prominence. For his services as United States Commissioner to the Congo Free State President Cleveland nominated him as Minister to Ecuador, but his nomination was not confirmed. His commercial work in Central America did much toward promoting commerce between those countries and the United States. His latest achievement was the building of a link to the Pan-American Railway in Guatemala.

Obituary Notes.

CLARENCE A. KNIGHT, President of the Chicago & Oak Park Elevated Railroad, died early yesterday at a hospital in Chicago where he was operated on for appendicitis. Mr. Knight was general counsel for numerous corporations. He had been engaged in much of the important litigation affecting corporation and real estate interests that has been before the Federal and State courts in Chicago.

Mrs. HILDRETH H. SMITH, mother of Ex-Gov. Hoke Smith of Georgia, died in Atlanta yesterday, aged 76 years. Mrs. Smith was Miss Mary Brent Hoke of Lincolnton, N. C. She resided at one time at Chapel Hill, where her husband was a member of the Faculty of the University of North Carolina. Gen. R. F. Hoke of Raleigh, N. C., is her brother.

THATCHER THAYER THURSTON, associate editor of The Providence Tribune, died in Providence yesterday after a long illness. He was born in 1859 at Fall River, Mass. Mr. Thurston was a graduate of Amherst College.

HENRY U. PALMER, a member of one of the oldest families of Williamsburg and senior partner of the Palmer-Singer Automobile Company, died at the Eastern District Hospital in Williamsburg on Tuesday after an operation involving the removal of the right knee. Mr. Palmer was 48 years old and lived at 216 Clinton Street, Brooklyn. In his youth he was apprenticed at the cooperage trade, and went into business with his brother, Lowell H. Palmer in the Palmer Cooperage Company, which later became the Brooklyn Cooperage Company. He retired from this to enter the automobile business two years ago.

Major CHARLES SEMSEY, a veteran of the Crimean and civil wars, and for many years an interpreter of the Bureau of Immigration, died on Monday at his home, 404 East 141st Street. He was born in Hungary eighty-three years ago.

MARIA EMMA BALTAZZI, daughter of the late Xenophon Baltazzi of Westbury, L. I., died in Paris on Tuesday in her thirty-first year. Her father was at one time the acting Turkish Minister at Washington and during the Centennial Celebration at Philadelphia in 1876 he represented the Sultan of Turkey.

GEORGE A. SMITH, for thirty years a master plumber in business at 99 Pineapple Street, Brooklyn, died at his home, 229 Fulton Street, that borough, on Tuesday. He was active in Republican politics of the Second Assembly District for many years, and at one time was a candidate for the Assembly. Mr. Smith was 57 years old.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

It has been decided by the Board of United States General Appraisers that Christmas tree ornaments made entirely of tinsel or lame must stand duty at the rate of 15 cents a pound and 60 per cent. ad valorem as "tinsel toys." Butler Bros., the importers, set up the contention that the goods should be allowed to enter as "toys not specially provided for," at the rate of 35 per cent.

In overruling the claim of the importer Judge Fischer holds that as the provisions of the Act of 1909 read no differently than those of the Act of 1897, the rule is applicable whether the articles are or are not commercially dutiable as toys, providing they are articles "in chief value of tinsel wire, lame or lahn." The Collector's return is affirmed.

Photographs for the United States Registry Office were held dutiable at the appropriate rates for such merchandise by Judge Nay. Rudolph Lesch, who entered the merchandise for the Government alleged that the articles were imported for the United States and should therefore pay no duty. The protest was overruled.

Francis W. Bird, Appraiser of the Port made a ruling that hereafter Article 767 of the Customs Regulations will be followed in appraising textile samples. The order reads that textile samples which exceed the length or breadth specified in various letters of the Treasury Department are to be classified as heretofore.

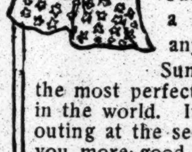
Hudson River by Daylight



If you have never seen the Hudson in June, go now. Take a Day Line steamer any morning but Sunday and enjoy the most perfect inland water trip in the world. It is better than an outing at the seashore. It will do you more good than medicines or tonics. It will teach you more history than school books.

DAY LINE STEAMERS, DAILY, except Sunday, leave Desbrosses St., 8:40 A. M.; W. 42d St., 9 A. M.; W. 129th St., 9:20 A. M., landing at Yonkers, West Point, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Kingston Point, Catskill, Hudson, and Albany. All through rail tickets between N. Y. and Albany accepted.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action and bearing date the 24th day of May, 1911, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the Exchange Salesroom, Nos. 14-16 Vesey Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 22d day of June, 1911, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Herbert A. Sherman, Auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land with the buildings and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Manhattan of the City of New York, in the County of New York, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the corner formed by the intersection of the northerly side of One Hundred and Second Street with the westerly side of Lexington Avenue; running thence northerly along the westerly side of Lexington Avenue one hundred (100) feet eleven (11) inches; thence westerly parallel with One Hundred and Second Street forty (40) feet; thence southerly parallel with Lexington Avenue one hundred (100) feet eleven (11) inches and part of the distance through a party wall to the northerly side of One Hundred and Second Street; thence easterly along said northerly side of One Hundred and Second Street forty (40) feet to the point or place of beginning.

The approximate amount of the lien or charge, to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold, is twelve thousand six hundred and ninety-four and 31-100 dollars, ($12,694.31,) with interest thereon from the 22d day of May, 1911, together with costs and allowance amounting to three hundred and ninety-five and 38-100 dollars, with interest from 24th day of May, 1911, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of taxes, assessments, and water rates, or other liens, which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money, or paid by the referee, is one hundred and eighty-four dollars and interest. Said premises will be sold subject to a prior mortgage of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) and accrued interest thereon at the rate of four and one-half per cent. (4½%) per annum from January 24, 1911.

LOUIS B. HASBROUCK, Referee.

LEGAL NOTICES.

SUPREME COURT, NEW YORK COUNTY.—In the matter of the application of DAVID LICHTENSTEIN & CO., a domestic corporation, for authority to change its name to GLANCKOPF FLOWER & FEATHER COMPANY.

To all whom it may concern:

Notice is hereby given that at a special term of the Supreme Court, Part I. thereof, to be held at the County Court House, in the City of New York, County of New York, on Monday, July 10th, 1911, at 10:30 o'clock A. M., or as soon thereafter as the petitioner can be heard, the David Lichtenstein & Co., a corporation duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of New York, will present a petition for the change of the name of the said corporation, so that it shall thereafter be designated Glanckopf Flower & Feather Company.

Dated New York, June 14th, 1911.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—High temperatures continued during Wednesday in the central valleys, with a high reading of 102 degrees at Pierre, S. D. It was also considerably warmer in the upper lake region, and cooler in the extreme Northwest. There were more showers in the South and the Rocky Mountain region, while over the remainder of the country the weather was fair.

Temperatures were moderate in the East and South.

Showers will continue Thursday and probably Friday in the South Atlantic and Gulf States. Elsewhere east of the Mississippi River fair weather will prevail Thursday and Friday. Temperatures will continue high over the central districts. It will be somewhat warmer in the East.

Winds along the New England Coast will be moderate west to northwest, becoming variable; Middle Atlantic Coast, light to moderate and variable; South Atlantic Coast, light to moderate, mostly south to southwest.

Steamships departing Thursday for European ports will have moderate west to northwest winds, with fair weather to the Grand Banks.

FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND FRIDAY.

Eastern New York—Fair, slightly warmer Thursday and Friday; moderate, variable winds, becoming east.

New Jersey—Fair Thursday and Friday; light to moderate, variable winds, becoming east.

MAP FOR AVIATORS SOON TO BE READY

AIDS IN NIGHT SAILING

Distinguishing Lights of Cities to be Charted—Germany Already Has Elaborate Maps.

The first official air map ever prepared in this country for the guidance of aviators is in process of being drawn and charted under the auspices of the Aero Club of America.

The drawings are being prepared by Augustus Post, who, with A. R. Hawley, won the Gordon Bennett long-distance balloon race last Autumn. The map will show all the air currents and air routes of this country most favorable to aeronauts. Landmarks, including not only lakes and mountains, but also the distinguishing night lights of the different American cities, will be explained in footnotes on sections of the map, just as buoys and lighthouses are explained in footnotes on ocean charts.

The map will also show the exact location of all recognized aerodromes or landing places where airships can come to earth safely. All the public hangars or sheds in which balloons or aeroplanes can be housed for the night will also be shown.

Every aerodrome or air-ship harbor in this country either has already or soon will have its own individual emblem or signal enabling aviators to identify it at a distance, just as the revolving or stationary signals of lighthouses enable ocean navigators to tell where they are.

The air buoys marking these air harbors will consist of spheres, cones, and balls of colored cloth, which will be anchored from sheds and float high in air. Some of these air buoys, as has already been done in different European countries, where there is much aviation, will be flown from balloons or kites and will be rearranged constantly to signal different messages to passing airmen. According to the Aero Club plans, airmen coming from Chicago to New York, after the map has been completed and the air buoys anchored throughout the country, will be enabled to steer the straightest and safest course even at night, and will also be able to tell where to put up their airships during darkness or storms.

Sectional maps, showing different air routes or different sections of the country, are also to be made, according to the Aero Club's present plans. These will be printed on long strips of parchment and fixed to rollers. The rollers, in turn, will be fixed in a permanent place in the airship, just as a ship's compass is. As the airman passes over each part of the country he will thus be enabled to identify it without moving in his seat, merely by unrolling the map. These sectional maps, according to Mr. Post yesterday, will represent areas about ten miles wide, thus making an allowance for the aviator being blown off his course.

Mr. Post yesterday described how Pierre Prier, the plucky French Army officer, who flew from London to Paris in the remarkable time of 3 hours and 56 minutes two months ago, fastened his air map to the fuselage of his machine, so that he could have it constantly before his eyes. This kept the map from being blown away and also saved Prier the inconvenience of having to fold and unfold the map in his cramped position in the aeroplane.

In making an air map for this country, the Aero Club, according to Mr. Post yesterday, is merely following the example which has already been set by the Aero Club de France. The latter organization, with the assistance of the French War Department, is preparing a very elaborate air map, which is to be used for the first time by the French military pilots in the manoeuvres this Summer.

All ordinary geographical land marks which airmen ought to know about will be put in. On the other hand, the air map will contain much information which geographical maps leave out and will leave out many facts which ordinary maps display prominently.

The heights of mountains will be put in according to Mr. Post, so that aviators may gauge the heights at which they are flying. People who travel on foot identify distant cities by the perpendicular shapes of their buildings. But to the airman who passes above them cities have no perpendicular dimension at all. They are perfectly flat and he can only identify them by their horizontal contours. On the Aero Club map these horizontal contours will be described. The shapes of lakes will also be marked, because they are good marks for high-flying airmen.

At night airmen can only tell where they are by the light of cities; and it is the plan of the Aero Club, according to Mr. Post, to compile elaborate data as to these lights. Every city has some building or street, according to Mr. Post, which is lighted differently from the buildings or streets of any other city, and this fact will be noted.

The air maps already prepared in Germany show the different lighthouses; and the Aero Club's new map is to show them, too. Germany has gone so far as to construct a series of "inland lighthouses" for the guidance of night flying airships. The air maps of Germany are elaborate and have as many as fifty different special signs or emblems. The cities and towns have official numbers on the German air maps, and the various European countries have official letters. Each hangar or air harbor in Germany flies a number and letter showing what city and country it is in, thus enabling the passing airman to fix his location. Anchorages, good and bad landing places, gas tanks, towers with their special lights and fog signals, wind breaks, well-lighted streets, lightships, light houses, and all public places, such as forts, arsenals, barracks, &c., also have different emblems on the German maps.

Maps for aeroplanists have to be much more detailed than maps for balloonists, according to Mr. Post, because an aeroplane makes more landings and flies closer to the ground. Aeroplanes also follow more definite courses.

In the preparation of the new air map, special flights across this country will probably have to be made, according to Mr. Post, since much of the work of air-map-making has to be done in air. In France recently, according to Mr. Post, the French Army has been training men to sketch maps in the air for use of troops on the ground in warfare. French army photographers have also been making aerial views, which give an entirely new idea of familiar strategic points.

Among the aerodromes already constructed which will be marked on the Aero Club's new map will be those of Mineola, Hempstead, Nassau Boulevard, on Long Island, Atlantic City, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington, St. Louis, Chicago, Kansas City, and Los Angeles. The aeroplane schools, where the Wrights and Curtiss have recently been instructing pupils to fly will also be marked. Next year is expected to be the greatest for cross-country flying which this country has yet had, and the new map is being made in anticipation of it.

The number of the world's licensed aviators is nearly one thousand now, Mr. Post said yesterday, and the demand for accurate maps, showing the best transcontinental air routes, is growing rapidly.

Mr. Post, who has been appointed Chairman of the Aero Club's Map Committee, has already prepared a small map showing the principal aerodromes, hangars, cross-country routes, exhibition meets, and proposed flights, up to the beginning of this year.

Gets Bear on a Fish Hook.

SHERIDAN, Wyo., June 21.—While James W. Withrow, City Clerk of Sheridan, was fishing in the Big Horn Mountains yesterday he let his line slip around a boulder, and the hook was swallowed by a big grizzly bear, which was also fishing. Withrow jerked on the line, and promptly the bear made its appearance. Angered by the pain of the hook in its mouth, the bear started toward Withrow, who sprang up the bank of the stream and escaped.

DEFENDS MUFFLER CUT-OUT.

Autoist Employs It When Starting on Compression to Prevent Muffler Explosion.

A defense of the much abused muffler cut-out, the instrument responsible for much of the noise of automobiles in operation, was advanced yesterday by a Manhattan motorist, who declared that the device, generally looked upon by quiet-loving laymen as a sort of automobile appendix, only fit to be removed, could be made to serve a most useful purpose entirely apart from the use put to it by unthinking chauffeurs who like to dash about the streets acclaimed by the full noise of their engine's exhaust.

"At the same time," declared the auto man, "I am in full accord with those who believe that it should be made unlawful to drive an automobile through the streets with the cut-out open. I hope and trust, however, that motorists will take a firm and successful stand against the growing inclination on the part of the lay public to urge legislation abolishing the cut-out entirely, so that a muffler cannot be opened.

"It is perfectly true that the opening of the muffler cut-out procures for an autoist only the very slightest increase of power, and as an agent for this purpose it is undoubtedly true that it could well be abolished. The muffler cut-out serves another purpose, however, which is not known generally, even among motorists. Those who have knowledge of it appreciate it, because thereby they avoid all danger of a back fire when cranking their cars.

"Every one who has ever driven an automobile and almost every one who hasn't knows that serious accidents have resulted from a back fire while a car is being cranked. Many a man has had his arm or wrist broken by having the cranking handle suddenly sent spinning in the opposite direction to that in which he is trying to turn it, while there are records of more than one case where the man who was cranking has slipped and fallen in the way of the whirling handle.

"It is the muffler cut-out which affords a way of insuring one's self against such accidents. Every one knows that there can be no back fire of a gasoline engine when the spark is turned off, and almost every motorist has learned how to crank his car with the spark shut off until he has compressed charges of gas into all his cylinders, after which the switching on of the spark is usually sufficient to start his engine running, as motorists call it, 'on compression.'

"Just one thing has militated against this method becoming general in use. This is that as the charges of gas are compressed in the cylinders some of this gas is emitted with each turn of the crank handle into the muffler, through the exhaust valves, which open and shut in each cylinder with each turn of the crank shaft. This gas remains in the muffler with the frequent result that when the spark is applied there is not only an explosion in the cylinders, which starts the engines turning over, but also a secondary explosion of the gas in the muffler, ignited by the flashing exhaust from the exploding cylinders.

"This explosion in the muffler frequently destroys the latter part, blowing it as clean as a whistle with the result that the car, if it be driven at all, must be operated exactly as if the cut-out were open, with all the noise of the exhaust audible in the street.

"There is where the cut-out comes into play. If it be opened before the preliminary cranking is begun, then whatever gas escapes through the exhausts finds a clear way into the open air. None, or little at best, can accumulate in the muffler, and no explosion can follow there, the turning on of the spark. Thus a car can be cranked with the spark safety shut off, all danger of backfiring thus being avoided, while at the same time the motorist runs no danger of injuring his car by blowing out his muffler.

"I am as ready as anyone else to legislate against unnecessary use of the muffler, but I hope that it will never be abolished since its legitimate use adds to the safety of motoring."

WABASH PLAN WORKED OUT.

Accountants are going over the details of a reorganization plan which has been agreed upon by the Wabash Railroad and the Wabash-Pittsburg committee and an early announcement of the terms is expected.

To provide for the reorganization of the Wheeling & Lake Erie and the Wabash-Pittsburg Terminal Railway, the Wabash Company will give up all of its claims against the Terminal Railway, $14,000,000 Pittsburg Terminal Railroad and Coal Company stock and $3,800,000 consolidated mortgage bonds of that company. In return, the Wabash is to receive $1,000,000 adjustment 5 per cent. bonds and $3,200,000 5 per cent. preferred stock to be issued by the reorganized and consolidated Wheeling and Terminal properties. Litigation against the Wabash is to be dropped.

It was estimated yesterday that the Terminal first mortgage bonds will have a value of 64½. The seconds, after a deduction of 25 per cent. for the assessment, would have a value of 6¼ under the plan. To make the plan effective it will be necessary to raise $20,000,000 by assessments on the Terminal second mortgage bonds and Wheeling stock, and the sale of first mortgage bonds. The proceeds will be used to pay off $8,000,000 Wheeling & Lake Erie notes, receivers' certificates and other obligations, and to provide for improvements and betterments.

It was reported yesterday that holders of Wheeling & Lake Erie first consolidated mortgage 4s would oppose acceptance of the reorganization plan. Bankers who have been at work on the reorganization were not inclined to credit this report, since these bonds remain undisturbed.

BLISS DIVIDEND PASSED.

Strike at Brooklyn Works Has Cut Earnings—Strikers' Places Unfilled.

As a result of the strike which has been on at the Brooklyn works of the E. W. Bliss Company since May 1, the company has passed the quarterly dividend on its common stock, which for a number of years has paid 10 per cent. annually. The company manufactures a number of steel specialties, including torpedoes and shells, and is capitalized at $3,000,000, of which there are $1,250,000 common and $1,250,000 preferred stock outstanding.

The regular 2 per cent. quarterly dividend on the preferred stock has been declared payable July 1, to stockholders of record June 22. In a circular to stockholders, the explanation is made that since the International Brotherhood of Machinists called out the men, only about one-third of the vacancies have been filled. The Directors have indorsed the action of the officers in refusing the strikers' demands, and have ordered the continuance of an open shop.

HOLIDAY BEFORE FOURTH.

Produce Exchange Will Close and Stock Exchange May on Petition.

As the Fourth of July falls on Tuesday this year, many brokers will be away from Saturday to Wednesday. No action in regard to closing on Monday has been taken yet by the New York Stock Exchange. If a petition is presented by the members it will be acted upon at next Wednesday's meeting.

The Produce Exchange will be closed from Saturday noon to Wednesday morning. The Cotton Exchange will be open Monday to receive the Government report, which comes at noon, and July 3 is also a tender day for July notices. No action on the extra holiday has been taken by the Chicago Board of Trade.

STEEL TRADE BETTER, SAYS JUDGE GARY

CUT IN WIRE PRODUCTS

Judge Elbert H. Gary, Chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, sailed for his Summer trip to Europe yesterday on the Lusitania, and before his departure talked of the situation in the steel trade, stating that this month up to the present showed a subsantial improvement in new business received over the figures for May. The tonnage of new orders is, however, about $10,000 tons a day below the average during March, the best month so far this year. Judge Gary may not return until September.

Coincident with his departure was the announcement through trade channels of a cut of $2 a ton in wire and wire products, putting the price back to where it was in January before an advance in this class of goods was made, which put an end temporarily to rumors of impending price cuts and marked the beginning of an improvement in business which continued through the first quarter of the year. The reduction in plain wire and wire nails and rods was looked upon in the trade as the natural result of the reductions in bar products and other lines made several weeks ago after the initiative was taken by the Republic Iron and Steel Company.

In response to a question as to the condition of the steel trade as he found it on the eve of his departure, Judge Gary said:

"There has been a slow, steady improvement, and orders for this month up to the present time are about 28,000 to 30,000 tons per day. Last month they were about 23,000 or 24,000 tons. Our collections are satisfactory. Specifications are better than they have been for many months, and our mills are operating at about 68 per cent. of their capacity. Of course, there is, including export business, which is running at the rate of about 2,000,000 tons per annum, a very large increase. Crop reports on the average are good.

"There will be delegates to the convention in Brussels from all the steel producing countries in the world. The object of the convention is simply for the purposes of exchanging views with reference to the economical, ethical, and sociological questions in which manufacturers are interested. It is believed the acquaintanceship and friendly personal contact may result in the disposition to co-operate as far as it is proper. I have hoped there might be formed an international iron and steel association upon the lines of the American Iron and Steel Institute, but, of course, we shall have to ascertain the wishes of the foreign manufacturers in this regard. It is not probable that we can do more at this meeting than interchange opinions and appoint a committee to consider and report at some future time."

"It has been said in the foreign papers that one of the objects of the convention is to maintain prices," was suggested by one of his questioners.

Judge Gary's favorable comment on the trade situation is borne out by the leading trade journals, whose advance sheets for to-day's issues were made public yesterday.

The Iron Age says:

> An improvement in demand is quite unusual in June, and hence this year's developments are highly gratifying. The volume of business is increasing, being larger in nearly every branch of the iron trade, including pig iron.
> An indication of the improved condition of the steel trade is shown in the starting up of the steel plant and rail mill of the Tennessee Coal, Iron, and Railroad Company at Ensley, Ala., last Monday. The plant resumes operations with sufficient orders booked to assure operations until Sept. 1, before which time other work will undoubtedly be secured. Next week the Carnegie Steel Company's rail mill at Youngstown, Ohio, will start up after an idleness of several months, and will roll open-hearth rails for export.

The Iron Trade Review comments on "moderate improvement in pig iron and finished material, which it says is "indicated by reports from nearly all centres." It says of the cut of $2 a ton in wire products: "This reduction is in harmony with lower quotations on other products and buyers have been waiting for it."

OFFER TO CANCEL SALES.

A great deal of interest was aroused in Wall Street yesterday by cables telling of an offer made by the Banque de Paris et du Pays Bas to cancel contracts for stock of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, which were executed Tuesday. This institution was instrumental in listing "Telephone" on the French Parquet. The offer was made, the dispatches stated, because of the new issue of approximately $50,000,000 of stock by the company. The shares listed in Paris total 300,000.

Brokers here were at a loss to understand why the announcement of the new stock issue should affect the French trades, although the news of the action of the company's Directors did not come until after the Bourse had closed, because of the difference in time between Paris and New York. The trading in New York on Tuesday, which was, of course, after the Bourse had closed, resulted in a net loss of 3⅝ points, although the new stock issue carried with it rights to present holders to subscribe to new stock at par at the rate of one new share for each five of old stock. These rights sold on the Curb yesterday at 7, and the stock made a fractional gain.

Maurice Leon of 60 Wall Street, the attorney who represented the French interests in the listing of the shares, said yesterday that he had not been advised that any of the brokers on the Bourse had taken advantage of the offer to cancel the contracts made before the announcement of the new stock issue. He said that in Paris, as in New York, contracts were irrevocable unless canceled by the consent of the makers, and he called attention to the statement in the dispatch that the bank had merely made the offer to cancel. This had been done, in his belief, merely to leave no ground for complaint.

METAL MARKET REPORTS.

On the Metal Exchange yesterday trading was quiet, with the tone irregular. Copper was a shade off for all deliveries to September. Tin was up ⅝c in the bid, but ¾c lower in the asking price. Spelter was firm, but unchanged; 200,000 pounds of St. Louis spelter, July delivery were sold at 5.60c.

The closing bid and asked prices follow:

Stand. Copper—	Bid.	Asked.	Bid.	Asked.

CHICAGO LISTS SWIFT STOCK.

CHICAGO, June 21.—The Governing Board of the Chicago Stock Exchange, acting upon the application made by officers of Swift & Co., to-day authorized the transfer of $75,000,000 share capital of that corporation from the unlisted to the listed department of the Exchange. The shares of the packing concern were recently listed on the Boston Exchange, and the certificates of stock have been changed so that they now are "good delivery" in both markets.

Formerly the stock certificates issued by Swift & Co. in Chicago were not deliverable in Boston, and vice versa, so that the regular listing on both Exchanges is agreeable to brokers and others, the old method having caused considerably delay in the transfer of stock between the two cities.

RAILROAD WANTS TO EXTEND.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, June 21.—The Washington, Potomac & Chesapeake Railway Company to-day filed with the Public Service Commission a petition for authority to increase its capital stock from $500,000 to $2,000,000, and its bond indebtedness to a like amount. The company states in its petition that it proposes to extend its line from Brandywine, in Prince George's County, to Benning, in the District of Columbia, and from Mechanicsville to Cedar Point, on Chesapeake Bay, and Point Lookout. The estimated cost of construction will be in excess of $2,000,000.

The company, of which Henry G. Watson of Philadelphia is President, is said to have made plans to build its line through to deep water. It is understood that the immediate objective points of the promoters are Washington, at one end, and Drum Point Harbor at the other.

THE EUROPEAN MARKETS.

Americans Lower in London—Weaker Tone in Paris and Berlin.

LONDON, June 21.—Money and discount rates were quiet to-day.

Trading was quiet on the Stock Exchange. The session was practically finished at 3 o'clock to allow members to participate in the coronation celebration. The shipping strike weakened home rails and consols declined on realizing, but prices closed above the low level. Foreign securities were steady.

American securities opened quiet and a fraction higher. Prices improved for a time, but realizing caused a setback before noon. Later unfavorable crop news and Wall Street offerings caused further slight losses, and the market closed easy.

The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 2¼ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for three months' bills is 2¼ per cent.

Bullion amounting to £168,000 was taken into the Bank of England on balance to-day.

The Stock Exchange will be closed to-morrow and Friday. The weekly statement of the Bank of England will be issued on Saturday instead of to-morrow.

Gold premiums are quoted at Madrid 8.15; at Lisbon 9.

FOREIGN TRADE OPPORTUNITIES.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The Consular and Trade Report will note the following trade opportunities. Further information regarding these may be obtained by addressing the Bureau of Manufactures, care of the Department of Commerce and Labor, Washington, D. C., giving the number of item referred to:

6,909. ELECTRIC MACHINES AND HEATING APPARATUS.—One of the commercial agents of the Department of Commerce and Labor reports that an Italian civil and electrical mining engineer having high professional and financial standing is prepared to represent American manufacturers of electric machines, also steam and hot water heating apparatus.

6,910. TENDER FOR STEEL BRIDGES.—Vice Consul General Carl C. Hansen of Bangkok, Siam, has forwarded copies of specifications and form of tender for the supply of six steel bridges for the Royal Siamese Railways, Southern Line. Tenders should be addressed to H. Gittins, Controlling Engineer, Royal State Railways, Southern Line, Bangkok, Siam, and must be delivered on or before Sept. 1, 1911.

6,911. AGENCY FOR INSURANCE COMPANIES.—A resident in the Levant informs an American Consular officer that he desires to secure the representation in that region of an American marine insurance company. He states that there is an excellent opportunity for business, especially in the insurance of cargo freight for the United States.

6,912 QUARTERED OAK FOR MAKING FURNITURE.—A dealer in American goods in a foreign country informs an American Consular officer that he would like to correspond with American firms handling quartered oak serviceable for making furniture. The person in question is also interested in the possibilities of selling American window frames, doors, &c. Correspondence may be in English.

6,913. OIL STOVES.—A report from an American Consular officer in the Near East states that a business man in his district has expressed a desire to sell blue-flame oil stoves, especially those with one burner only, and would like to hear from American manufacturers as to terms and conditions.

6,914. DRAWN WIRE FOR MAKING NAILS.—An American Consular officer in Turkey reports that a firm of engineers in his district desires to be placed in touch with American manufacturers of drawn wire to be used for the purpose of making wire nails.

6,915. AGENCY FOR AMERICAN GOODS IN ASIA MINOR.—A report from one of the commercial agents of the Department of Commerce and Labor states that a strong and responsible commission house in Asia Minor now representing European manufactured products desires to handle American manufactures, especially cotton cloths and yarns, underwear for men and women, and light-weight woolens. It is also prepared to handle farm implements and machinery, office and household furniture, builders' hardware, and dressed lumber.

6,916. AMERICAN PRODUCTS FOR ITALY.—A business man in Italy, speaking English, informs a commercial agent of the Department of Commerce and Labor that he has a large acquaintance with business men and methods of Southern Italy and desires to represent American manufacturers of products suitable to the trade of that section. He suggests that a ready market could be found for household and business hardware, boots and shoes, rubber tires, and washing machines.

6,917. BILLIARD SUPPLIES.—A foreign merchant informs an American Consulate that he desires catalogues of billiard supplies, such as tables, cues, balls, &c. This man has been ordering his goods from Germany, but is willing to do business with houses in the United States if he can get good articles at a competing price. He especially wants billiard balls of real ivory. Manufacturers are requested to send catalogues to the Consul, also in French if possible. It will be useless to refer this man to general agencies in Europe, as he desires to deal direct with American firms.

COMMODITY MARKETS.

WHEAT, after some irregularity, closed in New York at a small advance, Chicago was ¼ to ½c higher, while Minneapolis was nearly 2 cents up on September and December wheat. The pronounced strength in the Northwest was the result of continued and very serious reports regarding the Spring wheat crop in South Dakota, some portions of Southwestern Minnesota, and a few counties in North Dakota. The reports regarding South Dakota are decidedly serious. The report of The Northwestern Miller was that South Dakota would have not more than half of last year's crop of 46,000,000 bushels, which would be a damage of over 50 per cent. from the June 1 promise. A crop expert traveling for a prominent Eastern house wired late that South Dakota would not have over half of last year's outturn; this same expert sent reports from Nebraska that that State would have one of the smallest crops in the last ten years. The reports from the Central West, where harvest is in progress, indicate that yields will be rather disappointing, and that the results are likely to be below expectations. Sentiment continues bullish on the market, and bulls are pointing to last year, when the market advanced about 25c per bushel, starting from the low point June 12, on the damage which then was very largely in North Dakota, that State turning out only 36,000,000 bushels last year. This year on June 1 North Dakota was estimated at 127,000,000 bushels. The market was firm late, with closing prices near the best. No export sales were reported, but about 150,000 bushels of No. 2 red were sold, part 96¼c in elevator, domestic, and 100,000 bushels, cash, insurance, and freight, New York, ½c under July, shipment July 20. No. 2 red was quoted 96¾c, free on board; No. 1 Northern, $1.05½; No. 1 Manitoba, $1.03½.

CORN.—Trading was active and prices very strong, closing at the best, at 1 to 1½c net advance. The advance was largely due to the continued hot, dry weather through the West, and to the reports of widening extent of territory covered by the damage conditions. The reports of excessive heat and of deteriorating conditions are increasing in number. Prices are naturally influenced by the very pronounced strength and rapid advance in oats. Advices so far indicate that the damage to corn is less than to other crops, but apprehension is acute, and there is fear of very serious deterioration, unless the weather becomes favorable within a short time. Cash corn was strong, with No. 2 quoted at 63¼c, free on board.

OATS.—The market was greatly excited, showing great strength, closing at the best of the day, at 1⅝ to 1⅞c net gain. Reports of serious damage in Iowa, Nebraska, and South Dakota, in addition to the serious conditions reported from other sections, overcame all bearish opposition, and prices advanced with a rush. Commission house buying was very heavy all the session. The situation is very acute, and fear of serious shortage is pronounced. Cash oats were strong, with standards 47½c; No. 2 white, 48c, and No. 3 white, 47c.

PROVISIONS.—The market was fairly active and stronger, prices advancing late, influenced by the pronounced advance in feeding grain. Live hogs were strong, with Western markets generally 5 to 15c up. Western receipts were 109,000.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The market appears to be resting on a more solid basis, but it is still the general opinion that the steadiness at present results mainly from an absence of pressure. Lard was firmer, and corn was strong, but an offsetting feature was the decided weakness in cotton, reflecting generally favorable conditions at the South. Undoubtedly, there is more liquidation to come in the near positions, but it is a debatable question as to the magnitude of the outstanding short interest, and as to the willingness which will be shown by refiners in taking care of early tenders. COTTON.

The cotton market was weak, with final prices at the low the day, and on the Curb still lower quotations were established, with New Orleans down approximately 5 to 9 points after the New York close. The opening was irregular, but generally at slight gains, prices sagging on more optimistic reports regarding the crop situation. The opinion was freely expressed that the rains had materially benefited the crop, and, as the moisture has generally come since the report of Miss Giles and the Crop Reporting Corporation, it was thought that the Government report will show an improvement in condition, and that the crop, which will be reported on as of the end of this month, will show maintained, if not improved appearance. The weakness late was on private reports of rains in Texas; the forecast called for probable showers in portions of Texas. A great deal was made of the report of rainfall in Texas, which has been below the average. A compilation showing the Texas precipitation indicated on a twenty-three-year average that the June precipitation should be 3.43 inches, which is far more than has been reported at any point. The bulls were inclined to believe that the rains and bearish news had resulted in creating a large speculative short interest in the market, and that such short interest would be run in, if there was any change in the crop and weather news. The detailed weather reports showed excellent conditions in eastern and also in central sections. As there has been complaint of absence of rain in the southern portion of Georgia, these rains were very beneficial. Very little interest was shown in the spot situation, although recently it was asserted that fully 15,000 bales were sold from the local stock. There was some evening up in the afternoon on account of the Liverpool holidays, where the market will be closed for the balance of the week on account of the coronation.

The opening was steady, unchanged, to 2 points higher in response to steady cables from Brazil and Europe. Havre came unchanged early, but lost ¼f, while Hamburg closed net unchanged to ¼ pfennig lower. Rio was 25 and Santos 50 reis higher, and offers from Santos were said to be unchanged to 5 points higher. Spot coffee, 12½c for Rio No. 7.

PROGRESS IN STEEL TRADE

Business in Most Lines Increasing—Germany Bidding Here for Over the End of the Month Loans.

Really gratifying news was supplied yesterday regarding the steel trade, the course of which has been a matter of special interest since the price revisions which were made toward the close of May. An aftermath of that revision appeared yesterday in the announcement of a reduction of $2 a ton in wire products which offset the advances in those products made last January and again in March, and established closer equilibrium with the prices of other products recently reduced. The encouraging features of the day's steel news were contained in the statement made by Judge Gary before his departure for Europe to attend the world conference of steel men at Brussels that the Steel Corporation is now operating at 68 per cent. of capacity, a gain of nearly 5 per cent. since the announcement of the price reductions, and the report by The Iron Age in its weekly review that the volume of business is increasing in nearly every branch of the iron trade, including pig iron. Bearing in mind that this is the season at which business frequently shows some contraction this increased activity in the steel trade reveals very clearly that the favorable result of the recent price reductions is already making itself felt.

There was no more disposition yesterday than on Tuesday to accept the damage reports from the Spring wheat territory except with considerable reserve. The reports were not materially different in character yesterday, though additional private advices again told of very heavy damage in South Dakota. The conditions surrounding the Spring wheat crop up to a very recent date were, according to all accounts, very satisfactory, and it is difficult to believe that as much harm has come to the wheat crop in South Dakota as these private advices have been predicting. The grain markets closed yesterday a small fraction above Tuesday's prices, but the extent of the recent speculation in wheat militates against the acceptance of the course of prices in this market as any satisfactory indication of the actual crop prospects. So far as trading on the Stock Exchange yesterday is concerned it may practically be said that business was at a standstill with only enough pressure upon prices to cause fractional declines in a number of stocks partly offset by gains in other issues. The condition of the stock market showed very clearly that the disposition regarding the current crop talk is to wait for more conclusive information regarding the extent of the decline which has taken place in the very excellent crop promise contained in the last Government report.

An interesting feature of the day's events in the money market were the bids made here by Germany for loans over the end of June, when the semiannual settlements will take place. Bids as high as 5 per cent. for thirty-day loans and as high as 5½ per cent. for loans running from June 30 to July 8 were cabled to our bankers, who have already made some advances in Berlin and are likely to profit further by this opportunity to obtain a considerably higher interest rate than is offered in this market. One factor contributing to the high rates now being offered in Germany for loans over the end of the month is that the banks have recently put new regulations into effect regarding advances during the closing days of each quarter.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

STUDEBAKER ISSUES RISE

Preferred Up 1¼ Points on Active Trading and Common Gains 1 Point—Telephone & Telegraph Up.

Outside of the activity in Panama 3s and the new stock rights in American Telephone and Telegraph shares, the Curb market was a dull affair yesterday and price movements were narrow. The Studebaker common and preferred issues were an exception, the latter advancing from 105¼ to 106¼ on sales of 650 shares. This is a gain of ⅝ over Tuesday's close. The common, after selling off from the opening at 68⅜ to 67¾, closed at 68½, after sales of 728, which was 1 point above Tuesday's last price. The Panama 3s reported transactions of $1,250,000 at 102⅝ and 102¾, the close being at the higher figure, even with the opening level. A. T. & T. rights sold 6,500 shares, between 6½ and 7, closing at the high price, which was ¼ above the opening and ⅜ above Tuesday's close.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Although the volume of business on the Consolidated Exchange was limited the market was a broad one, forty-nine different issues being represented by sales, with the total for the day 24,600 shares. Speculation was again checked by crop damage reports from the Northwestern Spring wheat territory. At the same time prices generally held remarkably steady in the face of the advance in the grain market.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Interborough Financing.

The possibility of the Interborough's accepting the award of subways made by the McAneny Committee has reawakened interest in the financial plan which it partly developed last December. This calls for a new $150,000,000 mortgage. Of the proceeds $75,000,000 would be used for new subway construction, $32,000,000 for elevated roads and third tracking, and $35,000,000 to retire the first mortgage 5 per cent. bonds. One of the news agencies announced yesterday that part of the $68,000,000 of Inter-Met collateral 4½ per cent. bonds were to be retired with the money raised by the sale of the new bonds. The 4½s sold yesterday at 77⅝, their low point for the year. For a bond which is shortly to be retired at par, the market displayed strange indifference toward the issue. The $30,522,000 of first mortgage 5s which it is proposed to retire are callable at 105 on any interest date. They closed yesterday at 104¼. On the present credit of the Interborough, the bonds would sell on a better basis if it were not for the retirement provision.

Baltimore & Ohio reports for May gross revenues of $7,518,000, a decrease of $260,000 from May, 1910. Like most other roads, the Baltimore is trying to make up for a smaller volume of business by reducing expenses. In May the operating costs were cut $677,000, so that the month's net earnings, instead of showing a loss on account of the smaller business done, enjoyed an increase of $417,000. This is a better exhibit than was being made a few months ago. For the eleven months to date, the Baltimore & Ohio's gross earnings have run within $130,000 of those of the previous year, but operating expenses for the whole period have been considerably heavier, with the result that the eleven months' net earnings were only $23,117,000, as compared with $25,019,000 for 1910, a decrease of $1,902,000. As the road is being operated now, June will bring another decrease in expenses, so that the total decrease in net earnings for the year is expected to be less than that. Based on the results of last June, the Baltimore & Ohio appears likely to earn total net for this year of about $25,830,000, a loss of approximately a million and a quarter from last year. This would provide for the dividends, with about $3,000,000 to spare.

Private Crop Advices.

The private crop advices coming to hand these days are for the most part sent from those sections where more or less damage to the crops has been reported. As soon as reports spread that things were looking bad for the Spring wheat crop in a section of South Dakota, the telegraph wires from the West began to bring news that crop experts were gathering in that particular section. If crop experts were busy in other parts of that State or in other States where the railroad and other general sources of crop information report highly satisfactory conditions, they refrained from communicating their observations to the centres of speculation in wheat and other grains. There is never a year, of course, no matter how good the crop conditions, in which some damage is not done to the crops in some section. The experience of the last few days would seem to indicate that it is those sections which almost invariably receive the largest share of attention from private crop experts in the service of those conducting speculative trading in commodities.

The proposed stock issue of approximately $50,000,000 by the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, which will bring its capitalization up to about $395,000,000, puts it in rank with the United States Steel Corporation, the Pennsylvania Railroad, the New York Central, and the Union Pacific as one of the country's greatest aggregations of capital. In 1885 the company's capital was $38,229,200. Ten years later it had grown only to $57,462,700. In the next five years the capitalization made a jump to $130,000,000, and by 1905 it had grown to $238,531,100. At the end of last year the capitalization was $344,645,430, and the funded debts $224,791,696, the latter item comparing with $93,079,500 five years previously. Without taking account of the obligations of subsidiaries, these enormous totals can only be compared with the Steel Corporation's $550,000,000 of stock and $400,000,000 of bonded obligations, the Pennsylvania Railroad's $600,000,000 of stock and $218,000,000 of bonds, the Union Pacific's $316,000,000 stock capitalization and funded debt of $297,000,000, and the New York Central's $223,000,000 stock and $271,000,000 bonded debt.

Rise in City Bank Shares.

On the Stock Exchange yesterday sales of 186 shares of the stock of the National City Bank put the price up 16½ points, to 445. On the previous day there had been sales of 215 shares with a gain of ½ point. Since June 1, the stock has advanced about 40 points. Yesterday's rise was accompanied by a revival of an old story of a prospective increase in capitalization with an accompanying distribution to stockholders.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

Stephen S. Palmer, President of the New Jersey Zinc Company, and J. S. Talmadge have been elected Directors of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, making the membership fourteen. One of the vacancies filled was that of the late Frank Work.

STOCKS OUT OF TOWN

MARKET'S TONE BETTER

United Railway Issues Score Gains in Baltimore with New Note Issue for $2,500,000.

A better tone was observable in yesterday's trading on out-of-town Exchanges. United Railways issues were strong and active in Baltimore. United Railways shares advanced ⅜. United Railways incomes and the 4s gained 1 point, and the funding 5s were ½ better. The only explanation for the sudden activity was the application of the company to the Utilities Commission to issue $2,500,000 three-year 5 per cent. notes to take up maturing obligations next Fall. This will remove one underlying lien and the action will obviate the additional issue of 4 per cent. general mortgage bonds.

The volume of business in the Boston market was comparatively small again yesterday. There were no price changes of importance. The undertone was a little heavy and some fractional losses were recorded, but there was no concerted selling and the market closed steady at some recovery.

Some irregularity was displayed by trading on the Chicago Stock Exchange, with the volume of business moderate. Most conspicuous among the advances was that in North Western Elevated preferred, which sold for the first time since the merger syndicate called for deposits. To-day's price at 66 was 3 points in advance of the last sale, made several weeks ago. Other shares which showed gains were Illinois Brick, Street's, both American Can issues, and McCrum-Howell. Among those which sold off were Pneumatic Tool, United Boxboard, South Side Elevated common, People's Gas and Sears Roebuck common.

Another quiet session was in evidence Wednesday in Philadelphia, and price changes were slight. There was some selling by commission houses representing liquidation by tired holders, who were becoming apprehensive of effects of crop damage reports and who thought they would find an opportunity to take their stocks back at a somewhat lower level. Heaviness in Steel, was, perhaps, the market's worst feature. It was generally believed that the short interest in this stock was large, but traders argued that a big short interest is not always an adequate reason for adopting a bull position. Nevertheless the price steadied around midday and held throughout the afternoon.

Yesterday's transactions on the various out-of-town Exchanges, as reported in THE NEW YORK TIMES, were as follows:

NO ERIE SALE.

Mr. Underwood Says His Montreal Trip Was Not on Business at All.

A visit to Montreal made by President F. D. Underwood of the Erie this week was responsible for stories yesterday to the effect that attempts were being made to sell the Erie to the Canadian Pacific, or at least to make traffic alliances which would give the Canadian road a line from Chicago to New York. The Canadian Pacific has a direct route to Chicago via the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie and the Wisconsin Central.

According to Mr. Underwood himself, who has many friends in Montreal as the result of his long association with the "Soo" Line, his visit to that city was purely social.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Mrs. Frederic Bronson Buys Park Avenue Corner at 91st Street for New Home—Loft Deal in Sixteenth Street —Liberty Tower Financial Troubles Adjusted —Sunnybrook Farm in Trade.

The announcement yesterday that Mrs. Frederic Bronson has bought a large plot on the northeast corner of Park Avenue and Ninety-first Street on which she is to erect two magnificent private residences, one for her own occupancy, easily made Park Avenue the centre of interest in the realty market. Other noteworthy features, however, were the sale of a good-sized plot in Sixteenth Street for the immediate erection of a twelve-story loft and the satisfactory arrangement of the financial difficulties which have hung over the big Liberty Tower office structure, at Liberty and Nassau Streets, for so long a time, thereby staving off the foreclosure sale of the property.

Mrs. Bronson's purchase of a large upper Park Avenue corner is in keeping with the demand shown so conspicuously within the last three to four years for high-class property for apartments and private homes on the avenue, all the way from Sixtieth Street north. It is, however, several blocks above the section recently so well utilized and is an indication that the high ground of the Carnegie Hill district is to be improved in the near future in a manner similar to the Lenox Hill blocks in the vicinity of Seventieth Street.

Mrs. Bronson has purchased through Pease & Elliman five old brownstone front residences on the corner mentioned, being 77 East Ninety-first Street, 20 by 67, sold by Mrs. S. Myers; 79 East Ninety-first Street, 18.6 by 67, sold by Mrs. William Reichman; 81 East Ninety-first Street, 18.6 by 67, sold by Miss Mary H. Maynard; 83 East Ninety-first Street, 20 by 67, sold by James W. McCulloch, and 1,142 Park Avenue, 17.3 by 77, sold for a client of the brokers. These five parcels make a plot 84.3 on Park Avenue by 77 feet on Ninety-first Street, and the two new residences, which will be of the highest type, will be constructed at once.

Mrs. Franklin Bartlett recently purchased a large plot on Ninety-first Street, between Madison and Park Avenues, on which she will erect a dwelling for her own occupancy; John Trevor purchased in the same street, between Fifth and Madison Avenues, and has completed a handsome dwelling. With the Carnegie, Hammond, Sloane, and Townsend Burden residences they form a nucleus for a high-grade colony of fine houses.

The Carnegie Hill section, therefore, bids fair to rival as a select residential community the Lenox Hill district, where are the fine Brewster homes, Senator Root's late residence recently sold, Percy R. Pyne's new house at Sixty-eighth Street, while the block front formerly occupied by the Union Theological Seminary is to be improved with dwellings for Arthur Curtiss James and George Blumenthal. Oakleigh Thorne is building on the northeast corner of Seventy-third Street, and Reginald De Koven recently filed plans for a big house near the northeast corner of Eighty-fifth Street.

On the opposite side of the avenue from the Bronson purchase Pease & Elliman also sold for Dr. James V. S. Woolley to a client the three-story dwelling at 1,145 Park Avenue, on plot 16 by 70.

Loft Deal in 16th Street.

The loft zone deal included the property at 43 to 47 West Sixteenth Street, occupied by three old four-story dwellings, on plot 65 by 92. It was sold by Edward S. Foley of Furey & Co. for Hugh E. O'Reilly to the Hasco Building Company, of which Lorin A. Scott is President. The property is 155 feet east of Sixth Avenue and opposite the Church of St. Francis Xavier. Mr. O'Reilly has owned the centre house, 45, for over fifty years, and he bought 43 from the Astor estate a year ago. The plot has been held at $195,000.

Early in July the new owner will tear down the buildings and erect a high-class twelve-story loft from plans by Walter Haefeli to cost $225,000. It will be equipped with the latest modern improvements, including two electric passenger elevators and a freight elevator and a sprinkler system. A large Catholic publishing house is negotiating for a long lease on the entire building when completed.

Liberty Tower Financed.

A satisfactory financial rearrangement has taken the Liberty Tower Building, erected a year ago on the northwest corner of Liberty and Nassau Streets, out of the auction market, the sale having been advertised for July 5 in foreclosure by Joseph P. Day to satisfy the second mortgage claims of $400,000 held by Harold Godwin, one of the heirs of the Bryant estate, which sold the site to the builders, the Grey Construction Company and other Western capitalists. Gage E. Tarbell of the Garden City Company has raised the funds to liquidate this mortgage with taxes and other outstanding obligations, but the new interests which enter the Nassau Liberty Building Company were not divulged.

In the financial arrangement a new mortgage of $1,600,000 has been made by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for five years at 5½ per cent., liquidating the prior mortgage of $1,300,000 held by the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, while an additional mortgage of $500,000 is also taken by the latter company due Oct. 1, 1915, and bearing 6 per cent. interest. Early in the year Pease & Elliman were made the renting agents of the building, and since that time the income from tenants has been increased from about $80,000 to nearly $200,000 a year.

The five-story colored tenement house, 66 West 133d Street, on a lot 25 by 100, and a tract of land at Floral Park, L. I., has been traded for Sunnybrook Farm at Tappan, N. Y., owned by Charles Weiland. Sunnybrook Farm consists of about eleven acres, and is considered one of the finest of its size in Rockland County.

The trade, which involves about $100,000, was negotiated by Clarence E. Hutchinson, who acted for Agnes McLean of Brooklyn.

Important West 61st St. Lease.

The Locomobile Company of America has leased from Charles B. Barkley for a term of twenty-one years, with the privilege of renewal, 16 to 22 West Sixty-first Street, four five-story buildings, each on lot 20 by 100.5, 81.6 feet west of Broadway.

The buildings now on the site are to be razed and a seven-story building erected for the sole occupancy of the lessee. The property adjoins on the east the Jermyn apartment house, at the southwest corner of Broadway.

Brooklyn.

John H. Gelbart has sold for Miss Liscum of Pacific Beach, Cal., the property at 533 Quincy Street, a three-story and basement brownstone house, between Sumner and Lewis Avenues. The property was bought by Mary A. Shaw, who will occupy it as a residence.

Buys at Far Rockaway.

The Lewis H. May Company has sold for Lee S. Bair his property on Bayview Avenue, Far Rockaway, consisting of ten lots, house, and garage, to S. Weiner for investment.

Arverne Sales.

The Somerville Realty Company has sold at Arverne to A. L. Stapler a plot 40 by 100, on Amstel Boulevard, near Clarence Avenue; to A. Stoope and Oscar Speer a plot 40 by 100 on Amstel Boulevard, near Vernam Avenue, and at Inwood a plot of five lots at the northwest corner of Bayswater Boulevard and Chestnut Road to L. C. Olwell.

Newark Sales.

The Board of Education of the town of Kearny bought from John Watts Kearny of Washington a plot fronting 300 feet on Belgrove Drive and 450 feet on Woodland Avenue, to Highland Avenue. The price paid is reported to be $25,000.

Moses Mendel has sold for Horace P. Cook to Mrs. Henrietta Meyer the Lyndhurst apartments, 1,090 and 1,092 Broad Street, Newark. The building is four stories, with a frontage of 65 feet on Broad Street and 120 feet on South Street. The price paid is reported as $120,000.

Recent Buyers.

Thomas J. McLaughlin is the purchaser of the dwelling 276 West Seventy-third Street, sold recently by M. L. & A. E. Simpson. Mr. McLaughlin owns 274, adjoining.

Edward A. Schmidt of Philadelphia is the purchaser of 50 to 56 John Street, sold recently by Charles B. Van Valen. Frank H. Quinby, architect, is drawing plans for the improvement of the property.

Notes.

Assessments arising from the paving of Ocean Avenue, between Avenue H and Avenue I, Brooklyn, have been confirmed, and Controller Prendergast has given notice to property owners that the assessments are payable by Aug. 15, after which date those which are unpaid will be subject to a charge of interest.

At a special meeting of the Governors of the Real Estate Board of Brokers of the City of New York, the rapid transit report of Borough President McAneny was approved.

At Last! A Fireproof House at Less Than a Wooden One

We are the first to secure the use of a new method of building construction which enables us to offer you a practically imperishable, absolutely fireproof home for less than you would heretofore have paid for a highly inflammable, easily combustible, rapidly deteriorating wooden house.

Houses any design, any size, any price.

It is much easier to get a home there than in the city, and everyone who is anxious to be well, live long and be happy would better live there.

DO YOU REALLY WANT A HOME IN THE COUNTRY?

If you do wish a home in the country and don't get one, and right away, it is your fault, not ours. It only costs a cent and a minute to learn what we have and can do. Mail us a postal bearing your name and address. We will mail you the information. Read it at your leisure. Then come and see us, or write us to write or see you—if you wish us to do so. Otherwise we won't.

LONG ISLAND—FOR SALE OR TO LET

The Tuxedo of Long Island

Your quest for a place "just out a bit," where you would build and live, is not so hopeless as you perhaps believe. You have not seen OAKLAND—the ideal setting for a Homestead—the Tuxedo of Long Island. When you do see it—you will say, "This is just the place I have been looking for."

affords quiet, enjoyable country life within the city limits. It gives you a homesite nestled among sturdy old trees. It gives you a little country estate and the life of a country gentleman—outdoor sports, golf, tennis, boating, etc., and gentlefolk for neighbors. For OAKLAND'S restrictions are most exacting.

OAKLAND is decidedly different from other properties. It is not a barren tract of land way out in Nowhereville. It is not divided into a checkerboard layout of skimpy lots bristling with rows of wilting saplings planted along sunbaked roads.

OAKLAND was the fine old estate of Effingham Lawrence—a country gentleman who used his wealth and cultured taste to beautify its two hundred and thirty rolling acres and pretty lakes. Now you will find it a beautiful Residential Park, shadowed with grand old trees that have a glad-we're-here look, and run with cool, wide roads and quiet paths that search out nature's prettiest pictures.

A landscape architect has divided OAKLAND into small country estates from one-fourth to one acre, according to the demands of the landscape. The plots are priced from $3,000 up and are sold on reasonable terms.

18 Minutes from Herald Square

OAKLAND is situated at Bayside, L. I., Borough of Queens, New York City—a cool, comfortable 18 minutes' trip from Herald Square, on the new Penna. R. R. It has an elevation of 200 feet and commands a fine view of the Sound. All city improvements, including sewers, water, gas and electricity.

Write or phone for literature, map and price list and appointment to visit the property as our guest.

Mount Pocono,
Delaware Water Gap,
Stroudsburg, Cresco

Spend your vacation in this delightful region. The elevation is from 1,000 to 2,000 feet and the change to clear, cool mountain air is an irresistible tonic. There are NO mosquitoes or malaria. The thermometer registers on an average about 10 degrees lower than New York City. There are plenty of good hotels and quiet boarding places at moderate prices.

If you decide to go now, remember, the rates for rooms in June are lower than at other seasons. The Lackawanna Railroad reaches all these resorts in through trains from New York, so you are sure of a fast, clean, comfortable service.

REFEREES' NOTICES.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action and bearing date the 24th day of May, 1911, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the Exchange Salesroom, Nos. 14-16 Vesey Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 22d day of June, 1911, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Herbert A. Sherman, Auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Manhattan, City, County, and State of New York, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point on the westerly side of Lexington Avenue, distant 100 feet 11 inches northerly from the corner formed by the intersection of the said westerly side of Lexington Avenue and the northerly side of 102d Street; running thence northerly along said westerly side of Lexington Avenue 44 feet 11 inches; thence westerly parallel with said northerly side of 102d Street 100 feet; thence southerly parallel with said westerly side of Lexington Avenue 44 feet 11 inches to the centre line of the block; thence easterly along said centre line of the block and again parallel with said northerly side of 102d Street 100 feet to said westerly side of Lexington Avenue, at the point or place of beginning. Being part of the same premises conveyed to C. N. & S. A. Construction Company, by Reid L. Carr, referee, by deed dated July 30th, 1909, recorded July 31st, 1909, Liber 150, Section 6, P. 90.

The approximate amount of the lien or charge, to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold, is eight thousand four hundred and thirty-six and 18-100 dollars, ($8,436.18,) with interest thereon from the 22d day of May, 1911, together with costs and allowance amounting to four hundred and thirty-six and 23-100 dollars, with interest from 24th day of May, 1911, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of taxes, assessments, and water rates, or other liens, which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money, or paid by the referee, is one hundred and ninety-six dollars and interest. Said premises will be sold subject to a prior mortgage of forty thousand dollars ($40,000) and accrued interest thereon at the rate of five per cent. (5%) per annum from March 1, 1911.

Dated New York, June 1st, 1911.
LOUIS B. HASBROUCK, Referee.

CELEBRATE CLEAN-UP OF GOWANUS CANAL

Gaynor at Luncheon Says He Did the Best Possible for the City in Subways.

PREDICTS CITY OWNERSHIP

In gala attire, all South Brooklyn took a holiday yesterday to celebrate its long-looked-for emancipation from the evil smells given forth by the murky waters of Gowanus Canal. The day marked the opening of the tunnel which the municipality has built at a cost of nearly $1,000,000 to flush and cleanse the much-used waterway. Mayor Gaynor and other city officials took part in the celebration. The Mayor spoke at a luncheon at the Bush Terminal, saying the city was to be congratulated at the acceptance of the McAneny subway report.

The ceremonies consisted of formally placing the pumping plant in operation, a parade of decorated craft through the canal and along the bay front, an inspection of the Fourth Avenue subway work, and a big procession of business vehicles through the principal streets of the district. Factories, coal pockets, docks, and bridges along the canal and most of the business houses and dwellings in South Brooklyn were decorated with flags and bunting in honor of the occasion, and great crowds watched the parade of boats and that of wagons and trucks.

Just before noon the celebration began at the flushing plant at Douglass Street and the head of the canal. Mayor Gaynor was to have been the first to turn on the power which operates the pumps, but he and Borough President Steers were late in reaching the scene, having been delayed by the Board of Estimate meeting. Commissioner of Public Works Lewis H. Pounds of Brooklyn switched on the current which set the plant in motion.

When the Mayor arrived the pumps were stopped, that they might be started again by the city's chief executive. After some speechmaking the Committee of Arrangements and their guests boarded the decorated barges and tugs for the trip down the canal.

Water Pure as Lilies.

Mayor Gaynor did not take the water trip. As he was stepping into his automobile Miss Jeanne T. Haviland, the nine-year-old daughter of J. W. Haviland, commodore of the parading fleet, as "Miss Gowanus," presented Mr. Gaynor with a bunch of white lilies. As the boats passed down the waterway Miss Haviland threw white lilies in the canal as an earnest of the purity of its waters that is to be.

The guests on the boats inspected the site for the new Eighth Ward market, and then proceeded along shore to the Bush Terminal, where some time was spent in an inspection of the docks, piers, and warehouses. President Irving T. Bush of the Bush Company gave a luncheon in one of the buildings of the plant, at which the principal speech was made by the Mayor. He said:

I understand that many of those present are members of the South Brooklyn Board of Trade. I want to make my acknowledgments to that body of men. You have been helpful to the city, not only in my time, but before that. Now and then we receive communications from you, but they are never snarly ones. What I hear from you is always in the way of suggestions to my work. You yourselves are workers, unlike others who sit back at long range and hurl their protests like the Hearst rooster. It is a most commendable spirit in this community.

In Manhattan, when people mention the city, they mean the Island of Manhattan, and especially that small part around City Hall and Newspaper Row. When they mention parks they mean Central Park, although bordering on your section here is a much finer park than Central Park. There are two others in Queens, and the Bronx has more acres devoted to parks than all the other boroughs combined. Yet they talk of the city and mean only the length of their nose in Manhattan.

Some of the wise writers that are disseminating news in the city of New York stated that the city had no dock long enough to dock the new steamship Olympic. They ought to come here and look at South Brooklyn. Here there are two city-owned piers and seven in private ownership long enough for the Olympic. Mr. Tomkins can tell you something about that. When the newspapers tell you that, they mean that there are no docks in Manhattan big enough.

Good Piers for Big Liners.

If the Olympic had docked here this morning it would have landed its passengers as near the centre of the city as they are landed in any European port of any size. We must get over the notion that we must land passengers close to hotels and theatres or some other demoralizing influences so that they will be within walking distance of them. They can land here and take a cab and reach their hotel in half an hour. In the near future they will be able to walk a few blocks and take a subway which will land them in any part of the city they want to go. They can take street cars if they do not want to go too fast.

You have been expecting to see the time when you can get to any part of the city, and that is almost about to be realized. We have to-day adopted the subway scheme which has been put together during the past six months. You have not got quite all that you expected, but, working in your interests, we have done all we could. You will be carried over all parts of Manhattan. We are sorry to say that when you get into the Borough of Queens you will be taxed another fare, and the same when you go to the seashore. But as Seth Low said this morning in the meeting when we adopted the report: "The time will come when that will not be so." And when the city will take over the whole system, and one fare will prevail from end to end. There is no reason why it should not.

Yet we have done the best we could, and my associates are entitled to the greatest credit for their work; for, though they sometimes said things about me, I know that they were sincerely working in the best interests of the people, and that they honestly thought I was wrong. Not only is the report a good one, but you ought to be thankful to get it.

If I had known the difficulties of dealing with private corporations when we started out, I would have advocated municipal operations forthwith. The people, however, were not prepared for municipal ownership of their street railways, although their management of health departments, streets, schools, &c., show that they could operate subways. But that all comes later.

The matter of purifying Gowanus Canal has grown slowly, although there has been deep interest in the matter since it first came up. An extension to Wallabout was first proposed as being ideal, using the tides here and at Hell Gate. In the meantime buildings had been erected, and the interlying property improved, and yet it was still possible. At one time the property owners wanted the canal closed up. "Close the dirty thing up!" they cried.

Gowanus Not Unhealthful.

What would we be here without it? The Gowanus Canal is one of the greatest assets in the City of New York. Efforts to purify it have been frustrated by the city government in permitting sewers to be emptied into it. I counted sixteen of the sewer holes opening into the canal near its head to-day, and I was told that there were sixteen more down the line. I used to walk around the canal when I was Judge; I did not only start to walk when I became Mayor, you know. I would often board vessels in the canal to see what was going on in the world. Even Gowanus is some part of the rest of the world.

Now the scheme has been put through, and the little mermaid or Queen of Gowanus has presented me with lilies, indicating that the hitherto corrupt waters will now be as pure as that flower. I hope that it is to be so. Some have said that Gowanus is unhealthy, but I never heard of anyone dying from the smell. Bridgekeeper McGee, who has been there twenty-six years, told me to-day that Gowanus was the healthiest place in the world, and some of the dockmasters think that the fresh water will bring typhoid.

You have now the waters of Gowanus purified. Some time it will connect with the bay or the East River, so that the tide will be utilized—a thing that should have been done long ago. It is now one of the best commercial places in the city. Commissioner Tomkins would have difficulties without Gowanus. Where would he store the coal, sand, and oil?

The site is historic ground, for it was here that the Battle of Long Island was fought, and where the most strenuous part of that engagement was contested. Great praise must be extended to Mr. Higgins and others for their endeavors to have the city buy the property where stood the old stone house, and erect thereon a fitting monument. The battle was one of the most historic in the Revolution.

What a difference there is to-day, with the massive docks, the magnificent warehouses, with the civic intelligence not surpassed, so that it even manifests itself on election day. I say that, although I know all of you did not vote for me.

After the luncheon the members of the party were taken in automobiles to Fourth Avenue, where they inspected part of the construction work of the Fourth Avenue subway.

The day's programme closed with a parade of wagons and trucks of business houses and manufacturing plants in South Brooklyn, in Third, Fifth, and Seventh Avenues. The parade was reviewed by city officials and others from a stand erected by the committee.

The construction of the flushing tunnel, which was opened yesterday, was authorized by the Board of Estimate in March, 1905. The tube is 6,282 feet in length and 12 feet in diameter. It is operated by electricity, and it is calculated than when in operation it will change the water in the canal once in eight hours. The tunnel extends from Douglass Street and the canal under Butler, Hoyt, and to Degraw Streets, to the East River. It is expected that the flushing plant will free the canal of its filth and odors, of which South Brooklyn has for years complained.

NEED $10,000 FOR JULY 4.

At a meeting of the committee which is arranging for a quiet celebration of the Fourth of July, Herman Ridder, the President, announced yesterday that at least $10,000 more would be needed to carry out the project as originally planned.

"In addition to the $50,000 appropriated by the Aldermen, $8,800 has been contributed," said Mr. Ridder, "but this is really a very small amount for the magnitude of the celebrations that are being undertaken. Of the Aldermanic fund, $31,000 will be spent for fireworks and $5,000 for athletics. Besides this, there must be provided funds for more than fifty patriotic celebrations in the morning, where there will be bands, singing, and speeches.

In the afternoon there are many events, such as children's parades and band concerts, while at night there are to be band concerts all over the city.

Some of these have been provided for by the Park Commissioners, but others will have to be paid for out of the Fourth of July funds. The parade of nations, which will be held at the City Hall, promises to be a noteworthy affair. There will be Indians in native costume, besides representatives of practically every nationality resident in New York, all in their native costumes. There are to be patriotic celebrations for the different nationalities in many parts of the city.

"Even if the committee raised $100,000 it would provide only two cents a head for the entertainments scheduled for New York's enormous population. If we had $10,000 more the success of every entertainment would be assured. I hope that the citizens of New York who have not yet contributed to the fund will do so at once.

Isaac N. Seligman, the Treasurer, announced that these contributions had been received yesterday: Miss Helen Gould, $200; Alfred G. Vanderbilt, $100; Nathaniel Whitman, the Plaza, $100; Abraham & Straus, Brooklyn, $100; Robert W. de Forest, $100; Robert Goelet, $100; John D. Bell, $25; the American News Company, $25; J. M. Deane, $25; J. S. Bache & Co., $20; Gilbert Colgate, $10; John H. Prall, Elmhurst, $5; Dr. C. Legiardi Jaura, $5, and the Rev. William B. Tower, $2.

TALK OF TELEPHONE OPPOSITION HERE

RIGHTS ALL OVER THE STATE

Obviates Necessity of Getting City Franchise, Which Would Be Difficult —Armour Said to be Back of Scheme.

Telephone competition in this city may be attempted by a Western syndicate if negotiations now pending for the purchase of 80 per cent. of the stock of the American District Telegraph Company of Brooklyn are completed before October. It was learned yesterday that Tunis J. Powell, President, and Henry W. Kilbourne, Secretary, of the Brooklyn Company were offered $80,000 for the 4,000 shares of the stock of the company, and were asked to obtain options on the stock at 80 per cent. of the par value, or $20 a share. Options on four-fifths of the company's shares have been obtained.

Although the American District Telegraph Company of Brooklyn has confined its business to messenger, patrol, and burglar alarm service, its charter gives it the right to enter the telegraph and telephone field. This charter was obtained many years ago, and gives the company the right to string wires anywhere in the State of New York. It is through the purchase of the Brooklyn company's stock that the syndicate hopes to get a franchise for a telephone system in this city, which other companies have tried to get from the Board of Estimate and failed.

The Western interests, it was said, realized that it would be difficult to get a telephone franchise from the city, and Mr. Kilbourne at first refused to enter into any negotiations for the sale of his company's stock. Both he and Mr. Powell were later authorized by the Directors to get options from the shareholders.

Mr. Kilbourne said this yesterday regarding the proposed sale:

"The man who negotiated with us has established more than fifty telephone companies in the West, in South America, and in the West Indies. We decided that it would be best for us to sell out. We have 4,000 shares of stock outstanding at a par value of $25, representing $100,000, and we have been offered 80 per cent., or $80,000, for our interests."

Mr. Kilbourne gave out copies of a statement sent to the stockholders of the company signed by Mr. Powell and himself, which he said explained why a majority of the stockholders have consented to sell. The statement follows:

To the Stockholders of the American District Telegraph Company of Brooklyn:

For the past ten years the difficulties of earning adequate dividends on our stock have greatly increased, owing to the competition of the telephone company and the introduction of burglar insurance, and we have fears that eventually we might be driven from the field by the larger company, as we were about the only independent company left in the country; so when we were approached with a request that we obtain options on the stock at 80 per cent. of the par value ($20 per share) it seemed to be for the best interests of our stockholders that the deal be put through, if possible. At a meeting of our Directors last Tuesday, it was recommended that Messrs. Powell and Kilbourne be authorized to state in soliciting options of the company's stock at 80 per cent. of the par value, that they have the approval of the Directors of the company, provided every stockholder shall have the same opportunity to avail himself of the offer. Inclosed please find an option blank, and if it meets with your approval kindly sign it and return it to us. Any further information which may be desired we will gladly furnish. Yours sincerely,

TUNIS J. POWELL,
HENRY W. KILBOURNE.

Mr. Kilbourne would not give out any information as to who the negotiators for the Western interests are, but in another quarter one of them was said to be associated with J. Ogden Armour. Mr. Armour is the principal factor of the Chicago company which recently started an automatic telephone service in that city.

The Brooklyn company was organized in March, 1872. Besides Mr. Powell and Mr. Kilbourne, on the Board of Directors there are Clement Lockitt, Stephen Valentine, Clarence S. Dunning, Edward Lockitt, Walter Lockitt, William M. Van Anden, and George P. Foote.

PARK FOUNTAIN ON AND OFF.

Thompson Warning Stover Not to Waste the City's Water.

Commissioner Thompson of the Water Department was notified yesterday morning that some one had turned on the water in the fountain in City Hall Park for the first time this season. Being anxious to conserve the water supply, the Commissioner called up Park Commissioner Stover and demanded that the water be turned off immediately. Angry words, it was said, passed between the Commissioners. Four hours later the water was turned off.

The arrest of a man for impersonating an Inspector of the Water Department caused Commissioner Thompson to issue yesterday a warning to housekeepers not to admit to their premises without careful investigation persons claiming to represent the department, especially while the special water waste Inspectors are working in the city.

"Each Inspector," said the Commissioner, "carries a regulation badge which bears his number. The special Inspectors are not in uniform, but they are provided with badges which they are required to wear conspicuously on the front of their coats. A regular Inspector, in uniform, is with every squad of ten or twelve special Inspectors, and if a householder has any doubt as to the genuineness of any man's identity all she need do is to have him summon the regular Inspector."

MRS. THOMA'S SUIT FAILS.

Katherine V. Thoma cannot collect from the Irving Savings Bank $10,000 deposited there by William Rogers, who was attended by Mrs. Thoma during his last illness. Rogers was a well-known Long Branch miser.

Justice Lehman, in denying Mrs. Thoma's application for an order directing the bank to pay to her the money on an alleged assignment, finds that for forty years Rogers spent nothing for board, lodging, or clothing. During that period, he finds that Rogers lived in barns or over Mrs. Thoma's bakeshop, and that during his illness he was taken into the Thoma home and cared for. Rogers's miserliness is assigned by Justice Lehman as his reason for doubting that he made an absolute assignment of the money to Mrs. Thoma. He says:

"The sum is one which a generous millionaire might have hesitated to bestow in return for similar services."

CLEVELAND TOWER PLANS.

Executive Committee Authorized to Begin Construction at Princeton.

The Board of Trustees of the Cleveland Monument Association met in Senator John F. Dryden's office in Newark yesterday and adopted resolutions empowering the Executive Committee to proceed with the work of construction of the Memorial Tower from such funds now in the hands of the association, or with such additional funds as may be guaranteed to the association by responsible persons.

There were present John F. Dryden, A. R. Kuser, W. C. Heppenheimer, D. S. Voorhees, S. Davis Warfield, William J. Magie, H. D. Winton, Dean A. F. West, James Smith, Jr., C. E. Breckenridge, R. V. Lindabury, and E. C. Benedict.

The Treasurer made an official statement showing there was now on deposit to the credit of the association to date the sum of $107,175.43.

The resolutions empowering the Executive Committee to build contained the following provision of interest to Princeton University:

As the said tower is to be erected on the grounds of Princeton University, the Executive Committee or the sub-committee thereof having charge of such erection shall confer and act in conjunction with the committee appointed by the Trustees of Princeton University to represent it in the matter. No further modification shall be made in the said plans, nor shall any contract or contracts for erection of the said tower be entered into without the approval of the Trustees of Princeton University, or a committee thereof appointed for that purpose. The completion and acceptance of the said tower shall also be subject to the approval of the Trustees of said university or their committee in charge.

The Executive Committee shall also have authority upon the completion of the said tower to arrange with the Trustees of Princeton University or otherwise for its dedication and permanent maintenance and to make any contract necessary for that purpose.

The Executive Committee is authorized to make any modifications in the plans which they may deem advisable.

While Commander Miss Booth, the Salvation Army officers, and Salvation Army lads and lassies, led by the National Staff Band, sang "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" the little steamer and missionary boat Jerry McAuley, the first ship in the Salvation Army's new navy, was loosed from her moorings at the Battery yesterday afternoon and gayly sailed away to her first port, Perth Amboy.

The little ship, which is to carry Gospel news to the sailors in the vessels and ports along the Atlantic Coast, was presented to the army by Bradford Lee Gilbert, the architect, and his wife.

The boat, which was designed and built by Mr. Gilbert, and has already been doing similar work under the name of the Sky Pilot, will be the first of a small fleet of steamers doing similar work. Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert, the latter the widow of Jerry McAuley, were present yesterday at the exercises connected with the dedication of the boat. These took place in the band stand in Battery Park, where there were speeches and music. Adjt. Mrs. Whittemore of the Salvation Army, who is the wife of Sidney Whittemore, the banker, made the presentation of the deed of the boat, which will be operated by popular subscription. Mrs. Whittemore made the first gift of $100 for this object.

The ship, which is a gay little craft, painted white and inscribed with texts, is about as large as a tug and carries a crew of five. They were all, with the exception of the cook, who was not in evidence yesterday, dressed in white sailor suits, including Mrs. Major Erikson, who is the purser and also one of the soloists. Mrs. Erikson has been a singing member of the army since she was a little girl and was lifted on a drum that her voice might be heard. The other officers are Major Erikson, Captain; Envoy Newby, first officer; Ole Halvorsen, second officer.

The little vessel made a pretty showing as she sailed out of the dock near the Dock Department Building, with the red, blue, and yellow flag of the Salvation Army flying at the bow and a big United States flag at the stern.

Thirty-one years ago, said Col. McIntyre, who made the dedicatory prayer yesterday, the first members of the Salvation Army came to this country. Commissioner Railston and seven women, in the Australia's steerage, landed at Castle Garden, and there they held their first army service in about the place where the Salvation Army's first naval service was held yesterday. Commissioner Railston and one of the seven women are still working for the army. It was said privately yesterday that the second boat for the new navy may come from Pittsburg in about three weeks. The National Salvation Army has one boat in Scandinavia, a lifeboat, whose officers, when not engaged in saving lives, cast nets for souls. There was a large crowd gathered at the band stand and also at the landing where the boat cast off.

STRIKING CREWS GO BACK.

Return to Their Duties When the Trouble Is Brought to an End.

The strike of the coastwise seamen against the Morgan Line was officially declared off in the small hours of yesterday morning at a meeting of the strikers in Seamen's Hall, 400 West Street, and the old crew of the Antilles, which was due to sail for New Orleans shortly before noon, was instructed to report for signing the articles. When the crew reached the dock, at Pier 49, the Antilles was manned by strikebreakers, who were put on board the day before, and the regular crew refused to sign until the strikebreakers were discharged.

General Manager C. W. Jungen was at the pier, and, after a brief conference with a representative of a strikebreaking agency which had been supplying men before the strike was settled, the strikebreakers signed off before a United States Commissioner and were paid for the time they had been engaged. Before the regular crew went aboard a meeting of the union, lasting about ten minutes, was held at Seamen's Hall, which is nearly opposite the pier. On account of these interruptions the Antilles sailed about twenty minutes late.

The agreement reached on Tuesday night for the Morgan, Mallory, Clyde, Savannah, and Old Dominion Lines was verbal, referred to by H. P. Griffen, the strike leader, as a "gentlemen's agreement." While the open shop still continues on the lines in the engaging of men, union men will get the preference.

The settlement of the strike came in time to prevent a sympathetic strike of the Harbor Boatmen's Union, which would have delayed the towing of the new White Star liner Olympic to her pier, the towboat crews being part of the Harbor Boatmen's Union. For the same reason the departure of the Lusitania from this port would have been delayed if the members of this union had struck.

A meeting of the Atlantic Seamen's Union was held last night at Seamen's Hall to take action in the case of the Ward, Porto Rico, and other smaller lines which have not replied to the demands. The seamen of these lines insist upon some kind of a concession, and the meeting was a noisy one. It was decided to give these lines until to-morrow to reply, failing in which a general strike of their men will be declared.

SUIT OVER BROKEN PROMISE.

Land Company Failed to Build a Clubhouse, So Buyer Asks Release.

Whether real estate concerns may be compelled to live up to promises made in their advertising literature is the subject of a test suit begun yesterday by Adolph Feldblum against the Laurelton Land Company before Justice Jaycox, in the Queens County Supreme Court, Long Island City.

Feldblum sues to have set aside a contract to buy several lots at a value of $7,000 and to have refunded to him $113 which he has paid on the installment plan, on the ground that the Laurelton company has failed to erect a club house and make other improvements alleged to have been set forth in the company's prospectus at the time Feldblum bought the lots.

Arguments were heard by Justice Jaycox on the question as to whether the case should be tried before a jury or be decided in Special Term. Justice Jaycox will render a decision later.

VOYAGE OF THE MONTEREY.

There is a difference of opinion as to the conduct toward the passengers of the Captain, officers, and crew of the Ward liner Monterey, during the voyage from Vera Cruz to this city, ending last Monday. Although some of the passengers said that they had not been courteously treated, most of them have signed a statement that from their observation Capt. Smith and the officers of the Monterey during the voyage were "in every instance courteous, kind, and attentive to their duty." The statement says that the faultfinders were few in number and were of the class known as "constitutional kickers."

WOMAN SLAYER ACQUITTED.

Mrs. Pearsall, Who Killed Her Stepfather, Set Free by the Jury.

A sympathetic crowd of spectators, which packed Supreme Court, Part V., Brooklyn, yesterday, and followed with interest the trial of Mrs. Elizabeth Pearsal, 22 years old, on an indictment charging her with manslaughter in the first degree for stabbing to death her stepfather, Michael Reid, applauded when the jury brought in a verdict last night of "not guilty." Justice Garretson, before whom the trial was held, rapped several times for order before quiet was restored.

As the foreman announced the verdict, Mrs. Pearsall, who had been in a highly emotional condition during the trial, stood up and faced the jury. She appeared dazed at first. Then she seemed to realize that the jury had acquitted her. She took one step forward as if to thank the members and then collapsed in the arms of her mother, in whose defense she attacked her stepfather. The young woman was carried out of the courtroom to the corridor where restoratives were applied.

Reid was killed by Mrs. Pearsall at his home, 1,320 Prospect Place, on April 22. According to the testimony, Mrs. Reid, the young woman's mother, had prepared the parlor so that her eighteen-year-old daughter Anna might receive company that night. She lighted the gas, and then Reid put the lights out. Mrs. Reid lighted them again, and this led to a quarrel. Reid finally attacked his wife, and Mrs. Pearsall rushed from the dining room with a bread knife and stabbed him.
